Nancy Wynne Talks of the Luncheon Which Women in Overseas Legion Will Give Tuesday at the Bellevue-Stratford—Emergency Aid Tea Sunday Night

A RE you going to the Juncheon next backer of the Juncheon? Well, the result of you were a women's overseas legion you wouldn't ask; you would just naturally know. And you would go, because these luncheons are interesting because these luncheons are interesting affairs to say the lenst. And you don't have to be a legion yourself to go. If you just know a legioner or legioness and she asks you, you can go to the and she asks you, you can go to the luncheon and you can even pay for luncheon and luncheon l because these luncheous are interesting affairs to say the least. And you don't have to be a legion yourself to go. If you just know a legioner or legioness and she asks you, you can go to the luncheou and you can even pay for yourself, at least so I hear. A glance over the list of members really makes you feel proud to know them, and so many of them, too, for there were a great many of our Philadelphia girls who saw service with the A. E. F. or the French military, or whatever branch of the allied armles they happened to be in.

whose names I do not remember as I write.

However, we were talking about said buncheon, were we not? We were not, but we are going to. Well, Miss Anne but we are going to well at the luncheon day before and will talk at the luncheon of Mrs. Charles Platt, Jr., of 1930 South Rittenhouse square, which will be solemnized at noon tomorrow at the home of the development of occupational therapy as a result of the war. Miss O'Reilly was in charge of a reconstruction unit in a hospital in southern the number of the bride's father in Savannah. Mrs. Geyeith before her recent wedding was Miss Ceily W. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Paul O'Neill. of Mrs. O'Neill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bertram Lippincott, of 1712 Spruce street, at the opera on Tuesday evening the process of the opera.

Dr. and Mrs. George Fales Baker, of Old Oak, Rosemont, and the Bellevue-Stratford, will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eugene Smith at dinner on I Tuesday evening, and later in their box at the opera.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Brinton and their adaysher, Miss Elizabeth Brinton, of sign spruce street, will entertain at a box party at the Mask and Wig persecution.

club was formed a little less than a year ago, with about twenty-five women present, and has now more than one hundred and twenty-five members, and is every day receiving applications from other women who served overseas, too. They have a clubroom in the Emergency Aid on Rittenhouse square, and every Saturday afternoon serve tea and hold open house for members and prospective ones, as well.

ALKING of the rooms at the Emer-I gency Aid reminds me I noticed a typographical error in the column last night, wherein it spoke of a studio tea at the Emergency Aid on Saturday night. Later it said Sunday, but in case you did not read that paragraph case you did not read that paragraph through. I want to say that it is on Sunday night, and Miss Sarah Lowrie is in charge. And I hear that Captain Vladimir Perfiliess is helping, and that Mrs. Seymour de Witt Ludlum will sing eighteenth century songs, and Elizabeth Lowrie Dorr. Indian songs. Mr. Melziner is to give character sketches of instructors at the Academy of the Fine Arts and Arthur Kirson. of the Fine Arts, and Arthur Kitson will play. Mrs. George Fales Baker, Mrs. Harrison Caner, Mrs. George Lorimer and Mrs. Hamilton Colket will receive the guests.

DATHER was sitting in his smoking room when he heard what seemed to be a controversy between Ted and his mother, as they came up the stairs. And he heard just enough to glean that the answer Ted gave his mother was best. "Ted," called he, "no rudeness to your mother." "But," said Ted, sticking his head into the room, "she was wrong." "Tut, tut, don't let me hear anything like that in regard to mother," said father. Ted looked at him.

Now, as a matter of fact, his mother
