Have Right to Spend Money
Earned in War, Club
Head Says

CONFERENCE IS HELD HERE

"Don't blame the working girl who bought a fur coat out of the money she made at war wages," Miss Florence Dibert said today at the conference of the Junior section of the eastern district of the Junior Federation of Pennsylvania Women, of which she is president. The conference was held at the League of the Y. M. C. A., 1222 Locust street.

"The girls who are blamed for extravagance worked hard for the money they made," she said. "If they want to be a little bit extravagant in spending it, who is to blame them? Some of them do not want practical things, but then some of us don't want practical things, either."

"Avoid extreme fashions and discourage silly fads," was the advice given the members of the junior section by another speaker, Mrs. Winifred S. MacHenry, former state chairman of the organization.

Other speakers at the conference were Mrs. Arthur W. Hood, chairman of the eastern district, Mrs. Henry S. Barker, of Lansdowne, state chairman, president.

JOHN F. DUGAN
NEW MAGISTRATE NAMED

John F. Dugan Appointed by Governor to Succeed William J. Harris

John F. Dugan, real estate assessor, has been appointed a magistrate to succeed the late Magistrate William J. Harris, of the West Philadelphia district.

His appointment was made by Governor Sproul and confirmed by the Senate in Harrisburg last night.

Mr. Dugan, whose home is at 133 South Thirty-third street, is a lieutenant of Senator Edward W. Patton, in the Twenty-seventh ward. His nomination is said to have been made by the senator personally, and is considered a move of political expediency.

Mr. Dugan has been active politically for the last twenty-six years and was at one time a member of Select Council. He has also held a number of other offices under the city government.

GIRLS NAB THEFT SUSPECT

Opera House Ushers Capture Man in Dressing Room

A man was found hiding in the women's dressing room of the Metropolitan Opera House, Broad and Poplar streets, last night, by three girl ushers.

The ushers screamed when they discovered the intruder, who ran from the room after grabbing a handbag belonging to May Evin, the chief usher, according to testimony today before Magistrate Carney in the Twentieth and Buttonwood streets station, who held him to the grand jury.

The man, who said he was Joseph Diaz, Diamond street near Broad, was chased by the girls. In his effort to escape he darted back into the dressing room. The ushers locked the door and summoned John S. Zerby, the opera house watchman, who arrested the man. Zerby was the only witness this morning. The ushers did not appear. In the handling said to have been taken by Diaz, police found two cents, four car tickets and a beauty outfit.

AGED COUPLE PENNILESS

Picked Up by Patrolman at Market Street Ferries

An aged couple, the husband a Civil War veteran and the wife on the verge of illness, were found by police wandering penniless and homeless at Market street ferries last night and were sent to the Philadelphia General Hospital.

They are William A. Dixon, inmate of the Old Soldiers' Home, Washington, and his wife, Lotta Dixon. Their ages are seventy and sixty-eight, respectively. The wife has been living recently at Railway, N. J., and after the visit from her husband had ended and he was about to return to his home in Washington, she refused to be separated from him longer.

They started on the trip back to the capital together, but their funds brought them only as far as this city. They were found by a patrolman of the Fourth and Race streets station at 10:30 o'clock last night. The old couple was sent to the city hospital and then will be sent to Washington.

TOLL ROAD CONTINUED

Plans to Free Gloucester-Woodbury Pike Halted by State Officials

The State Highway Department of New Jersey will not take over the Gloucester-Woodbury turnpike at midnight, as was contemplated, according to word received today by officials of the turnpike company from the attorney general at Trenton.

According to the communication, the attorney general has not completed his investigation of the ownership of the pike. It was also stated that money is not available to make the first payment on the $20,000 amount as the price.

There was general disappointment at the announcement, as it is now believed the turnpike may not be taken over for a month. Signs bearing the legend, "No Toll Collected," were at the terminals of the pike in readiness to be erected.

HELD FOR SHOOTING

Camden Man Says Quarrel Followed Loss of His Job

Michael Eraccoliere, of 626 Vine street, Camden, was arrested by Detective Tronzo, of Camden, today, charged with shooting William Temple, of Woodlyn, on April 4 last. Eraccoliere had been missing since the shooting.

Tronzo said the shooting was the result of a quarrel because Eraccoliere lost his job. Temple was Eraccoliere's employer in an oilcloth works at Seventh street and Kaighn avenue, Camden. Temple was wounded in the arm.

Confounded Comparisons

For years folks have struggled to explain to other folks "the wonderful power of advertising."

Comparisons with electricity, Niagara Falls and trans-Atlantic flights are frequent, and certainly the explanations would seem to add mystery to the power.

Perhaps the difficulty of definition lies in the fact that advertising is so simple and so neutral.

For example, if Du Pont offered a million Cadillacs at the price of a Ford, "the power of advertising" this fact would probably be said to be stupendous. But, if with the same identical advertising expenditure, a million Fords were offered at the price of a Cadillac, that particular application of "the power of advertising" would certainly be termed an advertising failure.

The two campaigns could be as alike as two peas and yet the results diametrically opposite.

Advertising is a message addressed to many persons about goods, ideas or service.

Do not confound the message and the method of its transmission.

The only "power of advertising" is the power of the message it transmits.

Advertising space in the Butterick publications is for sale through accredited advertising agencies.
