GREAT SPORTS CAST, BUT WE'LL NEED IT

Uncle Sam Has Leaders in Many Athletic Endeavors, But the Foreign Competition This Year Will Put America Under Strain

By GRANTLAND RICE

Uncle Sam's Phalanx
Greatly outnumbered in the athletic arena, Uncle Sam has a number of leaders in many athletic endeavors. The foreign competition this year will put America under strain.

Stays have bolstered up each nation. But in facing future slams, kindly give consideration to this cast of Uncle Sam's—

Tennis—Tilden, Johnston, Williams, Golf—Evans, Guinet, Jones—Hutchinson, Hagen, Havers, Women's Golf—Alexa Stirling, Women's Tennis—Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. Wightman, Miss Zinderstein, Polo—Despres, Milburn, Boxing—Jack Dempsey.

National Fortune
It is an epoch of international competition, when sport is at its highest point and when rivalry is keenest. It is a time when the world is united in the pursuit of athletic excellence.

It has been his national fortune to have the finest talent available at the biggest moment that he has ever known. Never before in any proudest hour of his history has he had so many stars for so many different fields.

Imagine a tennis combination that has both a Tilden and a Johnston—a golf combination that knows an Evans, a Guinet and a Jones, plus an Alexa Stirling.

A Milburn for polo—and with a star European boxing champion coming over, a Jack Dempsey to meet him.

Affairs do not always break as gently as this. It might be said in 1914 that we had a Milburn for polo—a McLaughlin and a Williams for tennis—an Evans, a Guinet and a Travers for golf—yet we were blustered on all three sides.

But both our golfers and our tennis players are now stronger, while the polo situation swings in abeyance, with the final result in doubt.

Just as well
It is just as well that we happened to be all dressed up with talent, for there are a number of places to go—and no soft rivalry to meet.

France, for example, has a Carpenter and a Lougan.

Great Britain has a Cecil Leitch, a
