

COUNCIL WILL PASS ON DANCE METHODS

Director Tustin Will Submit Ordinance at Meeting of Body Tomorrow

URGES WOMEN INSPECTORS

Director Tustin is working on an ordinance which he will have introduced at tomorrow's meeting of City Council providing for the appointment of four women inspectors, who will regulate the issuance of dance permits.

A feature of the plan will be the virtual blacklisting of "ultra-lazy" orchestras and leaders.

The director proposes to require that all applications for dance licenses be made five days in advance of the time set for the dance. This is to give opportunity for the inspectors to investigate the character of the applicants for licenses and look into the sort of crowd likely to gather.

Another proposal which is being considered, said the director, is to require fire-repairable signs for an application for a permit.

Under an act of 1919 regulating dancing the Mayor is given power to inspect and regulate dance halls, and may call on any of the city departments to carry out his wishes.

No Sunday Dances

In making Director Tustin's report and the regulations public the Mayor issued a statement. He said: "There is one thing to which the Mayor desires to call attention and that is the apparent violation of the law with respect to the closing hour."

Music Blamed

Director Tustin in his report said that at the conferences he has had with the dancing teachers and others all parties recommended that proper dancing should be encouraged.

The unsoppressed music which is present is used in many hotels, dance halls and clubs encourages movements which were never intended and the manner in which dances are carried on in many places of amusement is entirely in the line of the law.

WOMEN "INVESTIGATORS" TO GET JURY DUTY DATA

Attorneys Approve Innovation to Let Fair Sex Ask Questions on Age, Politics and Color

With the attainment of the ballot, innumerable new jobs have opened for women.

One in particular, in fact, the newest one, is showing to attorneys and all others concerned that "intuition"—that dog-eared word peculiarly adopted to women, is really of worth.

This newest of jobs is the process of investigating women called for jury duty. Nothing new about looking up the political affiliations of men in the past, when they have been summoned, but with the granting of the vote, the "old order changed" and men officers were found to be incompetent when seeking information about a prospective woman juror.

Women complained about uninformative men appearing at their homes and asking, bluntly, a lot of personal questions. "How old are you? Married or single? Republican or Democrat? White or black?" Such futile questions that brought no results.

Results? You ask. Yes, indeed, the information is vitally important. Attorneys and their heads together and decided that perhaps women had better interrogate women. So that is the way it started.

SCORES WAR DEMAGOGUES

Rev. Dr. Norwood Subscribes to General Dawes' Ideas

A prayer, not as blasphemous, but as strong, was used by the Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, pastor of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, Overbrook, in an address at the Union League last night.

The occasion was the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the First Regiment Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, which in future will be known as the 103d Regiment of Engineers.

"God bless the English and make them just and considerate; God bless the Irish and make them reasonable, but curse the American demagogue who is seeking to stir up strife among the people of this nation to break the continuity of Anglo-Saxon brotherhood."

"These gentlemen, were the words of General Dawes, I not only subscribe wholeheartedly to them, but I add: That is my prayer."

NEW CHURCH HOUSE HAS MANY ASSETS

Episcopalians Pleased With New Headquarters at 202 South Nineteenth Street

The executives of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania are in their new headquarters, 202 South Nineteenth street, and are already enjoying advantages that it offers over the old Church House at Twelfth and Walnut streets, where they were housed for more than a quarter of a century.

The first floor will contain the executive offices and clubroom. The fine old mahogany book shelves that lined the walls of the front room, formerly the library, have been moved to what was the dining room, now to be the Diocesan Library.

The second floor is given over to the two bishops' offices and to the educational department. At present the third floor is being shared by the women of the church and the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The garage in the rear of the house is being utilized as a supply bureau by the women who were formerly housed in the Inasmuch Mission. There the cloth is stored and there the women work to make garments for the needy.

WANT OLD CHURCH SAVED

Citizens Ask Mayor to Keep Bridge From St. George's Site

Preservation of historic St. George's Methodist Episcopal Church, Fourth street below Vine, was urged in a memorial referred by Mayor Moore today to the Delaware river bridge commission.

The memorial was sent to the Mayor by the Methodist preachers' meeting, and pointed out that the old edifice might be disturbed by plans for the Delaware river bridge approaches.

POLICE OPEN FIRE IN TAXICAB CHASE

Pedestrians Dodge Bullet Bombardment as Patrolman Pursues Alleged Thieves

Three men, who, police say, stole a taxicab at Twentieth and Christian streets at 8:30 o'clock last night, were captured after a chase by automobile and foot during which patrolmen fired several shots.

The automobile chase ended when the alleged thieves crashed into a trolley car at Twentieth and Catharine streets. Uninjured, the men abandoned the wrecked taxi and fled up an alley. Two were arrested as they fled over fences and a third was caught an hour later.

They are Frank Hagerty and James Devolin, Christian street near Twentieth, and Hugh Dougherty, Mifflin street near Twenty-first.

According to the police, John Rabin, 2810 South Tenth street, a driver for the Quaker City Cab Co., left his taxi in front of a drugstore at Twentieth and Christian streets. Leaving the drug store a few minutes later after using a telephone, he discovered the taxi missing.

He went to the Twentieth and Fitzwater streets station and reported the theft. As he was leaving the station house with Patrolman Johnson and Young, he saw his taxi being driven north on Twentieth street at a fifty-mile rate.

"There they go!" he shouted. The two patrolmen commanded an automobile, and with Rabin at the wheel, started after the alleged thieves.

Drawing within range the patrolmen opened fire, which was returned. Hundreds of persons fled for shelter as the spectacular gun fight and chase continued up Twentieth street.

At Catharine street a trolley car shot out in the path of the swaying taxicab. There was a crash and the occupants, unhurt, abandoned the wreck-age and darted up an alley.

There they separated and dodged over fences with the patrolmen continuing their fire. Hagerty and Devolin were caught after a short chase. Dougherty later at Twentieth and After streets. Magistrate Jonsen held them today in $500 bail each for a further hearing April 24, charged with larceny of the taxicab and resisting arrest.
