

ENVOY SAYS JAPAN SEEKS U. S. AMITY

Differences Between Two Nations Easily Adjusted, Baron Shidehara Declares

RECRIMINATIONS USELESS

By the Associated Press
Cleveland, O., May 3.—Differences between the United States and Japan "will be adjusted, but their exteriors does not justify apprehension of a possible future," Baron Shidehara, the Japanese ambassador, declared today in an address before the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

"Is there any question between us," he asked, "which cannot be settled at once by the ordinary process of friendly discussion? Is there any question between us which can be settled only by the ordinary process of friendly discussion? Is there any question between us which can be settled only by the ordinary process of friendly discussion? Is there any question between us which can be settled only by the ordinary process of friendly discussion?"

Declaring that the stability of every human institution depends upon the maintenance of harmony and good understanding between Japan and the United States, Baron Shidehara said a grave responsibility rested upon the United States and Japan.

will equally tend to hamper their national process of assimilation. Neither of such obstacles should be permitted to exist, if assimilation is to be encouraged. And, after all, there are only 125,000 Japanese in the whole mainland of the United States.

Japanese Assimilable
Referring to the statement that the Japanese were not assimilable, the ambassador said that when given the opportunity and privilege the Japanese were capable of "intellectual and aptitudinal assimilations which are compatible with good citizenship, dignified manhood and loyal service to the community in which they reside."

"But does it seem quite fair," he asked, "to condemn men for keeping alive the old allegiances so long as they are denied the privilege of forming new ones? Every man must have a country and loyalty to that country is one of the supreme virtues."

AUTO THIEVES SENTENCED

Saul DeWitt eight years and Steven Williams six years in the Eastern Penitentiary; Lucian Acker two years (in) and William Nauwerine one year (in) among the victims was Lawrence H. Rupp, former Democratic State Chairman, who recently got DeWitt out of jail in another scrape. He showed his gratitude by sending Mr. Rupp's sedan.

MEXICO FREES AMERICANS

Two Alleged Supporters of General Murguía Released
Mexico City, May 3.—(By A. P.)—Martin and Jesus Trejo, American citizens, who were arrested last week in Nuevo Laredo as agents of Francisco Murguía, have been released, it is said, in advice to the Mexican war office. Officials found in their possession passports which would permit them to go as far as Tampico.

General Murguía has been secreting himself in a mountain camp near El Honda, state of Coahuila, but he has deserted this place and is declared to be fleeing toward the Texas frontier, closely pursued by federal forces. Jose Murguía, his brother, was arrested, with three other Mexicans, near Nuevo Laredo yesterday, and they informed officials that General Murguía had given up all thoughts of a revolution.

An official statement issued here asserts Mexico is now free from revolutionary activity, with the exception of a minor uprising in the state of Zacatecas.

COOLIDGE'S RECORD OPEN

Bay State Probers Told His Attitude Is Stated in Messages
Washington, May 3.—(By A. P.)—Vice President Coolidge today sent a letter to the Massachusetts legislative committee investigating charges of irregularities during the 1918-1919 season which is to be made public tomorrow at Boston. The committee was understood to have been referred to Mr. Coolidge's messages and public utterances on legislation while governor for any information as to his attitude at the time on questions it has under discussion.

The letter is understood to say that Mr. Coolidge, while lieutenant governor in 1918, took no part in legislative affairs and that his conference as governor with legislative leaders supplemented merely his public acts.

BLAME SOVIET FOR FRICTION

Finnish Government Puts Responsibility for Frontier Trouble on Russia
Copenhagen, May 3.—(By A. P.)—Finland's reply to a recent note from George Chitchev, foreign minister of the Russian Soviet Government, relative to alleged violations of the frontier between the two countries, has placed responsibility for any violations of the boundary on the Bolsheviks.

M. Chitchev's note was of an aggressive character and declared Finland had for a long time violated her treaty with Soviet Russia. He asked whether Finland intended to adhere to the terms of the treaty, and, in effect, upheld violations of the frontier by the Bolsheviks in the districts of Repolo and Porajärvi. These districts had been guaranteed autonomy in the Russo-Finnish peace treaty.

The Finnish answer concludes by saying that on the day that the Soviet Government desires to keep the treaty, it accepts responsibility for the attacks on the Finnish frontier guards and prevents incursions of armed gangs into the Finnish legation in Moscow, a recognition between Finland and Russia commences.

How one sales manager stirred up bigger business—

The board of directors had a habit of asking Ralston into the executive meetings.

It was fine for Ralston as long as the factory was over-sold. But when business began to ease up, the directors began to get just a trifle inquisitive. Several times they called for information that Ralston could not supply.

Nothing very much was said at the time, but Ralston did a heap of thinking. "Doggone it!" he ejaculated, "there must be a sales record somewhere that will give me the facts I ought to have."

The rest of the story reads like a novel. Perhaps you have already heard it.

How Ralston bought an L. B. Sales record! How he handled his men better because he knew exactly, from then on, what they were doing! How he got the best out of each territory! How the sales chart crept steadily upward!

Every business—no matter how small or large—can become a bigger business through the use of the L. B. Sales record.

"Confessions of a Water-Patient"

Under the above title, in the year 1845, Lord Bauliver-Lytton the famous author, wrote of the way in which his health had been improved by water.

Said Bauliver-Lytton: "We ransack the ends of the earth for drugs and minerals—we extract our poisons from the deadliest poisons—but around us and about us, Nature, the great mother proffers the Higanan fount, unsealed and accessible to all. Wherever the stream glides pure, wherever the spring sparkles fresh, there, for the vast proportion of the maladies which Art produces, Nature yields the benign healing."
