

FOUR AUTO BANDITS BEAT AND ROB MAN

Victim Found on Sidewalk at Indiana Avenue and B Street by Milkman

TWO OF QUARTET YOUTHS

Four automobile bandits attacked Robert Morton, of 129 East Myrtle street, shortly before 4 o'clock this morning, and after beating him almost into insensibility, stole his gold watch, $70 in cash, and a ring.

Was On Way Home

Morton was on his way home when the robbers interrupted his progress. He saw an automobile coming slowly after him on Indiana avenue and no lights were out. Two youths in it were singing and Morton commented it was a party of youths returning home after a lark.

"You're up against it," said Morton, "and you might as well take your medicine."

Feeling that a shot would arouse the neighbors, one of the men struck Morton on the head with a blackjack. Another robber told him with another blow.

Two of Robbers Young

Morton told the police that two of the robbers were not more than eighteen years old. They were better dressed than the other two and wore apparently new suits.

The wheels of the automobile which they occupied were slightly covered with mud. The car was dusty and looked as though it might have come a considerable distance.

Police believe the bandits are members of a gang who operate between Philadelphia and New York and who are responsible for several hold-ups between here and Trenton during the last few weeks.

VIOLETTE SELFRIDGE Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Selfridge, formerly of Chicago, who was married to Vicomte Jacques de Sibour, son of Comte de Sibour, of Chateau du Sollier, France, this afternoon

MISS SELFRIDGE A BRIDE

Daughter of Former Chicagoan Weds French Nobleman in London

London, April 4.—(By A. P.)—Miss Violette Selfridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Selfridge, was married this afternoon in Bromston Oratory to Vicomte Jacques de Sibour, son of Comte de Sibour, of Chateau du Sollier, France. Father, Bernard Vaughan officiated.

The bride's father gave his daughter away, and her brother, H. Gordon Selfridge, Jr., acted as best man. The bride wore a gown of white satin with an embroidered tulle of white tulle, trimmed with lace that once belonged to Marie Antoinette, the gift of the bridegroom's father. The train of the gown was composed of old family lace.

The bride received nearly 1000 presents, including a wonderful display of jewelry. Rodman Wunnicker, of Philadelphia, sent a diamond-and-sapphire brooch; the Comte de Sibour gave a diamond-and-emerald brooch and a diamond-and-sapphire bracelet; and Sir Ernest Cassel, the financier, a crystal-and-sapphire brooch.

PRINCETON GETS BIG LEGACY FROM PYNE

Philanthropist Bequeaths Lands, Buildings and Stocks to University

GIFTS TO WIFE AND SONS

By the Associated Press

Trenton, May 4.—Chancellor Walker, in the prerogative court today, admitted to probate the will of Moses Taylor Pyne, wealthy philanthropist and financier of New York and Princeton. Mr. Pyne named his widow, Mrs. Margaretta S. Pyne, and his sons, Percy R., 24, and M. Taylor, Jr., as executors. The amount of Mr. Pyne's estate is not stated in his will. The will is dated May 20, 1917. The will bequeaths $50,000 to William I. Stearns, of Staten Island, a friend of Mr. Pyne.

Trustees of Princeton University are given certain lands lying to the south of Nassau and Stockton streets, in Princeton, together with buildings and improvements. Mr. Pyne also gave to Princeton all his shares of the capital stock of the Prospect Co., a New Jersey corporation, which is owner of a tract of land known as Broadmead, in Princeton.

Mr. Pyne was bequeathed his Princeton home, Drumthwaite, during his life, together with all surrounding land of the estate, and also the Pyne home at 283 Madison avenue, New York.

A codicil bequeathed $10,000 to A. Eugene Pattison, of Ridgewood, who had been in Mr. Pyne's employ for many years. After Mrs. Pyne's death the property was to be divided between the two sons. The residue, both real and personal, is bequeathed to the two sons, subject to payment to Mrs. Pyne one-half of the net income arising from the estate.

MAN, 71, DIES IN HOME

George French Had Been in Salvation Army's Care for Ten Years

George French, seventy-one years old, who lived at the Salvation Army Industrial Home, 224 Parrish street, died suddenly last night. The man had attended an entertainment and afterwards complained of feeling sick. A physician was summoned, but French died a short time later.

French had been living at the home for the last nine months, having been an assistant to Major Allan Neill, who took him in charge ten years ago, when French's wife died in Springfield, Mass. An effort is being made to locate them.

BENSON SCHOOL PUPILS LEARN HOW TO RUN A CITY

Have Their Own Government and Put Lessons in Civics to Practical and Useful Tests

All unknown to the Mayor and city directors Philadelphia has in its midst a group working out plans of self-government entirely separate from the city government.

Its name, Onisowat, is queer enough in itself to cause investigation—if you didn't know that its members belonged to the eighth grade of the Benson School, Twenty-seventh and Wharton streets.

"Suppose the whole class were shipwrecked on a desert island and you had to set up your own village, and government, what would you do?" That question, asked by Miss Lily Ross in her civics class, caused the whole thing.

The boys and girls—forty-five of them—grew so interested in the theoretical government they decided to make it practical. So they formed an organization called Onisowat (from onward is our watchword).

Instead of a mayor, they have a president. Benjamin Belchick has that office. Peter Stankunas is vice president; Clifford Nichols, secretary; Albert Bauer, treasurer; Thomas McCall, director of the department of public works; Margaret Hecker, director of the department of social welfare; Anna Peterson, director of the department of public safety.

Girls are considered most efficient officials in this developing government. Anna Peterson's department was the first to be developed. This week a safety patrol was organized, including a chief and twelve patrolmen. Their duties are to protect the Benson School children from harm in every way possible.

The patrolmen help the small children. Of course, this department of public safety includes prevention of fire and certain members are designated for special positions during the school fire drills.

The department of public works will take care of sanitation in the school and neighborhood. Thomas McCall has his committee so they will report conditions that need improvement.

Under social welfare, Margaret Hecker and her committees have charge of education and recreation and also take care of the library.

These eighth grade boys and girls hold their meetings in the class room as part of their work in civics, conduct their own meetings and bring up discussions of the civic needs of their school and community.

It is training them along practical lines and they are really learning civics, said Francis B. Hans, principal of Benson School. Through this organization we hope to make leaders of the children.

This sale also includes the greater portion of our regular stocks.

What does this mean to YOU?

It means 538 Bedroom suits and single pieces at one-third and one-half less than elsewhere.

It means 645 Dining-Room suits and single pieces at one-third and one-half less than today's prices.

It means 592 Living-Room suits and single pieces at one-third and one-half less than present market value.

It means that the selling will be heavy from the start and that early purchasers will have the advantage of selection.

Every suit and every piece will bear the original tag, showing the low present market price. The pieces that are reduced will be marked with a bold 1/3 or 1/2.

You simply subtract the 1/3 or 1/2 from the original price shown on the tag. This gives you the reduced sale price.

This is positively the greatest homefurnishing opportunity ever offered in Philadelphia. Prices never will be so low again. The market is beginning to stiffen. The big trade sales next August will not be able to match these values. Now is your time. You will be sorry if you don't take advantage of it.
