THE GARRETT MYSTERY

WHEN the body of a young man was found in the water near the foot of the city hall, the police were at first puzzled to find out who he was. It was not until the body was taken to the morgue and the name 'Garrett' was found on his pocket that the mystery was solved.

ART AT PENN

WHILE the art world in Philadelphia is still recovering from the shock of the death of the late John G. Johnson, the Pennsylvania State Art Association is holding its annual convention in Harrisburg.

COME BACK, OLD TIMES!

THE old-fashioned style of architecture is being revived in many of the new buildings being erected in Philadelphia, and the city is once again becoming a more attractive place.

SOMETHING BESIDES POLITICS

THE city of Philadelphia is not only a center of political activity, but it is also a center of cultural and educational activity, with many fine schools and universities.

MR. HARDING TAKES THE ROAD TO DURABLE PEACE

His Rejection of the Isolation Abstracts Reveals a Realistic Grasp of the Essentials of Statesmanship
REJECTION of the isolation abstracts by Mr. Harding is a clear indication of his realistic grasp of the essentials of statesmanship.

HOUSE SHORTAGE AND BUSINESS

THE efforts of Mr. Harding to bring the business and labor communities together will, if successful, do more than open the way for starting building operations.

COAL

THE general public is being reminded that the coal supply is still adequate, and that there is no need for panic buying.

CHEMICAL DISARMAMENT?

THE possibility of chemical disarmament is being discussed by the League of Nations, and it is hoped that a treaty will be signed soon.

MORE OF MR. EDISON

THE late Mr. Edison's work in the field of electricity and invention is being commemorated by the city of Philadelphia.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT

Just a Little of the History of the Presbyterian Hospital, Its Old Glories and Its Present Needs
BY SARAH D. LOWRIE
I SMILED to myself—as the Scotch say—as a woman called me up the other day and asked me if she could tell me something about the Presbyterian Hospital.

THE WELCOME SUNSHINE

Participation in the World Affairs
The world is a better place because of the participation of all nations in its affairs.

SHORT CUTS

Perhaps there is a Doorn somewhere for Kaiser Stinnes.
May a pin on a boy's fishing line be described as being on pin-sure bait?
The average idea in city streets may expect opposition from the umbrella maker.
Former Auditor General Snyder has demonstrated that it costs money to spend money.
The new sifter in the Supreme Court turns the irony of fate into the civilized.
Senator Penrose is forced to show his hand the chances are that his fingers will be crossed.
The local Negro who appeared in court and denied that he was dead spoke of some authority.
Mother celebrated Mother's Day by getting the dinner ready and washing the dishes as usual.
France is of the opinion that the only thing Germany will give up is that which is taken from her.
Small boys will unanimously endorse the opinion of Mr. Edison that primed schools are repulsive.
Meynard Keynes having endorsed the demands of the Allies, the Germans cannot do otherwise than accept them.
When Germany accepts the terms, we will continue to understand the League and wait for something else to turn up.
Lady Astor says there are men in a picture who pay only lip service to women. She refers, presumably, to those who kiss and run away.
What is it that will ever please a girl never, never ask us?
That's right. You got it in one guess! "This nothing but the circus?"
William J. Bryan is going to enter Washington firm to specialize in international law. He will continue, presumably, to earn his living on the Chautauque circuit.
A Chicago bigamist says he proposed to his two wives while dining, being invited by the maids and rhythm. "Oh, well, he'll suffer up, may be. There's rhythm but little music in the lockstep."
When two such divergent philosophers as Mr. Edison and H. G. Wells unite in the declaration that what the schools need is fewer do-and-dos and more moving pictures, Boards of Education just as well get busy with the films.
A Harrisburg chicken with four legs (according to a dispatch) has no trouble getting along while calm, but just as soon as it grows excited two of the legs try to go one way and two try to go the other. So it just strenuously goes nowhere. It falls existing. Wonder if some satirist is not trying to describe some previous sessions of the Legislature?
Chicago has a curfew law requiring all children under sixteen to be off the streets after 10 p. m., but the chief of police says it is useless to try to enforce it. With the short dresses worn, he says, it is impossible to tell whether a woman is sixteen or not. Perhaps the Chicago city council will do better with an ordinance determining the length of skirts to be worn by women and girls.
The president of the New York Advertising Club, discussing mortality in national affairs, said 2 per cent of the people of the United States were hand-to-mouth, 18 per cent express cars, mostly supplied, and 80 per cent express trains, which he said were supplied by all successful entrepreneurs, the first and last being the most successful themselves. And there are.
