

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks of the Pony Show Held in Wynne-wood Yesterday—She Sees Various Smart Gowns at the Affair—Two New Babies Come to Town

IT WAS great fun out at the Pony Show yesterday, though it was really hot too hotly to be perfectly comfortable. It's evident that capes are still in style, even more so than heretofore. They were everywhere to be seen yesterday, in dark serges, in lighter jerseys, in white wools, in every kind of material and color. And from the top of the material that reached the bottom of the skirt.

The white capes were the smartest, to my thinking, though perhaps it is only my whim, for so much dark material in that I saw the white frocks and shoes and capes were especially pleasing to my eye. Mrs. Ned Krumbhaar, who wears Helen Dixon, you know, was wearing a perfectly stunning white knitted jacket with a white fur collar and a red and white sash effect, you know, and a red and white skirt, and a brown hat trimmed with tiny green flowers. She looked very smart, and a brown hat trimmed with tiny green flowers. She looked very smart, and a brown hat trimmed with tiny green flowers.

Did you hear that the Theodore Wiedersmetts had a son? He was born on Monday and, I hear, a very fine young gentleman. Mrs. Wiedersmetts was Eleanor Chandler, you remember. She is a great golf player and has been one of the amateur champions of the game. The Wiedersmetts are living at 2117 De Lancy street, which they renovated last year at the time of their marriage. I have not heard positively, but I understand the baby is to be named Theodore, Jr.

ANOTHER small gentleman who made his bow among his fellow beings on Monday is the little son born to Mr. and Mrs. T. Crocker, Jr., of Philadelphia. Mrs. Crocker is Rose Johnson, a daughter of the late Mr. R. Winder Johnson, of this city, and a niece of the Russell Johnsons of Chestnut Hill. She was married in Chestnut Hill a little more than a year ago, and I remember what a lovely bride she made.

Isn't it wonderful what children we really are and how we flock to the circus in the thousands when it comes each spring? I never saw so many people flock to me when I was not looking at the Polar bears or lions I was bowing to some one I saw passing by or coming in or out. The little Heckling and Edwina looked wonderful in a long dark blue cape made with a collar of Agnola fur and a small dark blue straw hat.

Isn't it wonderful to hear the children's comments to make. We were sitting there eating peanuts and marshmallows and waiting for the parade to come to the corner and pass us, and when the lions and tigers and bears and elephants were about to come in suddenly a new voice in the background spoke up, and what do you think it said? "In a word, housewife tone, 'I wonder how they got the ceiling of the tent so dirty.'" NANCY WYNNE.

Mitchell. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin crepe and georgette, embroidered in crystal beads, with a court train. Her veil was the one worn by her mother and the orange blossoms had been worn by her great-grandmother. She carried a shower bouquet of white anemones, sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. C. Howard Leatham, Jr., of West Chester, cousin of the bride, attended as matron of honor. She wore a gown of orchid georgette, trimmed with maroon lace. The bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Haug Hunter, of Lancaster, and Miss Jeanette M. Bittenbender, of Haddonfield, who wore respectively in peach and Nile green georgette and maroon lace. The bride's attendants wore large bouquets of roses and anemones. Mr. Donald Bittenbender, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The ushers included Mr. William J. Phipps, Mr. George Rowbotham, Mr. Charles H. Hicks and Mr. Howard C. Leatham, Jr. A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.
