The Case for the Small Grand Piano

OST people, in choosing M a piano, would undoubtedly select a grand were it not for certain objections that seem to them insuperable.

One of these objections is space. They do not know that a small grand piano in the corner of a room need occupy no more space than an upright in the same position. We can give them a paper pattern to demonstrate this fact.

These small grand pianos are especially made for small living quarters where space must be considerd. Many of them are less than five feet

"Yes, I would prefer a grand piano, but not unless I could have the full-size grand," is another objection, on the part of those who believe that the tonal quality and richness of the large grand are sacrificed to size in the small grand. This is far from true. An orchestra of 60 pieces is no less a good orchestra than one of 90 pieces. In certain space conditions the smaller orchestra would be far more effective and pleasing. For the same reason, a room in which the small grand piano sounds well would not give the large grand its proper scope at all.

The third objection in many people's minds is price. They do not know that

Small Grand Pianos May Be Purchased for $695 and $750

Such a Splendid Choice of Furniture for All Rooms at Savings of 30 to 40 Per Cent.

It is a time of extraordinary opportunity in furniture. Almost everywhere you turn on these floors you find unusual things. We don't believe we have ever had so many exceptional lots of furniture at this particular season. This is the result of remarkable and advantageous

Spring purchases, some of them of unusual magnitude. We secured no less than $400,000 worth of very fine dining-room and bedroom furniture to sell at 30 and 40 per cent below the latest low market prices.

We are selling it plentifully and we still have plenty to sell, as new shipments keep coming along constantly.

Two other purchases brought us a collection of lowpriced bedroom furniture of a very reliable kind to sell at savings of 30 per cent; also a group of upholstered living-room or library furniture of the best inexpensive class at a similar advantage in price.

All of this furniture is unquestionably good for this furniture store to sell. The lower-priced lots are sound, serviceable, goodlooking and desirable.

The finer goods are unsurpassed in excellence of woods, workmanship and design.
