

MODERATES AHEAD AT ITALIAN POLLS

Constitutionalists Expect Working Majority in Chamber Despite Socialist Victories

FASCISTI MAINTAINS ORDER

Rome, May 16.—Reports of Socialist successes at Turin, Florence and Bologna in the parliamentary elections held yesterday have been received here, but Constitutionalists of this city went to bed last night firm in their belief that their party would hold a comfortable working majority in the next Chamber of Deputies.

Their belief appeared to be based on fragmentary and unofficial figures from districts in Rome, Naples, Palermo and other cities in the southern part of the peninsula.

Intense excitement reigned in many cities of the country yesterday, owing to the bitter feeling existing between the Socialists and Communists and the Fascist, or extreme Nationalist. There were quite serious riots in several Tuscan and Piedmontese cities.

1000 Anarchists Vote

Figures on results were lacking early today but it was announced that but 42 per cent of the electorate had voted in Rome, 55 per cent in Venice, 72 per cent in Florence, 49 per cent in Bologna and 50 per cent in Turin.

At Pisa about 1000 votes were cast by the anarchists, who usually abstain from voting. They cast their ballots this time in an effort to offset the Fascist vote.

In Naples the killing of one Communist was reported.

Socialist Votes Fewer

The great fight was between the Constitutionalists and Socialists. At Milan the Socialists returned seventeen members, as compared with ten representatives of all other parties. At Turin the Socialists elected eleven, the Constitutionalists five, the Catholics, or Popular Party, three. At Florence the Socialists, eight; Constitutionalists, three; Catholics, three.

The Socialist vote, which was noticeably decreased almost everywhere, was even smaller where Communist candidates were on the ticket.

The Fascist, or Extreme Nationalist, armed with clubs and other weapons, maintained order in the most turbulent districts.

BRIDE FOUND MURDERED

Young Woman's Husband Missing, Police Say

Florence, Ala., May 16.—(By A. P.)—The mutilated body of Mrs. Myrtle Williams Seay, a bride, twenty years old, was found by a searching party last night on a lonely hillside at Stewart Springs, near here. F. W. Seay, the husband, with whom she left the home of her father last night, is missing, according to the police.

The woman's head had been crushed with a stone and an attempt had been made to burn the body, the police said. Mrs. Seay was the daughter of A. A. Williams, at present attending a Red Cross convention at Atlantic City.

JAZZ WINS QUEEN MARY

Hereafter Ragtime Will Be the Vogue at Buckingham Palace

London, May 16.—Even Queen Mary has succumbed to the blandishments of jazz. American fox trots, two steps, hesitations and various other "modern" dances, with their accompaniment of blaring cacophony, will replace quadrille, waltz and other forms of terpsichorean art of bygone days which heretofore have been the rule at Buckingham Palace.

A pianist and two violinists of the King's band are entertaining new royal converts to ragtime under the "old" of the boss of the Buckingham jazz band. The music, or noise, is receiving the commendation of Queen Mary for the first time. Previously she refused firmly to allow these modern steps displayed in the palace.

The innovation is due to the Princess Mary and the Prince of Wales, who coaxed their mother to permit them to try fox trots at an impromptu party given by the Prince.

The Queen at this party had her first view of those latest dance wrinkles. She promptly decided that there is nothing objectionable in them.

Descriptions

"A Beethoven string-quartet is truly, as some one has said, a scraping of horses' tails on cats' bowels and may be exhaustively described in such terms; but the application of this description in no way precludes the simultaneous applicability of an entirely different description."

RUGS, in order to wear well, should be given the utmost care. Your better Oriental rug especially should be well cared for by putting them away for the summer, as it collects a certain amount of grit and sand which if left in a rug will cause it to wear unsatisfactorily and you will think that you have bought a rug of inferior quality; whereas, if it were properly cleaned clean, without any work or rubbing on the part of the operator, but also by drying them ready for the line does away with the use of the wringer. It is the wringer which is apt to damage dainty clothing and so often breaks buttons and bends other fastenings so that they are useless. This clever device as well as many other labor-saving contrivances for the housewife may be found at the store of J. Franklin Miller, 1612 Chestnut St.

THE month of marriages is rapidly approaching and most of us are looking for a gift which will please the June Bride. There is probably no wedding gift which will be more appreciated than silver, for it is the most lasting and therefore of permanent value. Did you know that all the silver sold by the house of Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company is scientifically constructed of a certain weight that will not easily dent or mar? Then too, they are always glad to keep a list of the bride's gifts, so that she may receive no duplicates. The marvelous collection of silver exhibited by this company gives you a wonderful opportunity for selection. The silver brooches, centerpieces and tea sets are magnificent in design and ornamentation as well as the smaller and less expensive pieces.

KNICKERBOCKERS are becoming more and more popular for general wear. No longer are they seen exclusively on the golf links or at the country club. Soon, I believe, it will not be an uncommon thing for the well-dressed man to wear them to his place of business. College and university men, especially, have found them practical and comfortable and the demand is ever increasing. MacDonald & Campbell, 1334-1336 Chestnut Street, have a very attractive assortment of knickerbocker suits in the durable sport materials—tweeds, homespun, chevots and imported fabrics—which are appropriate for all-round wear. These suits are very good looking. The knickerbockers are proportioned and the New Model Coat, made without pleats, which is being featured, gives a very smart appearance.

Police Hold Wounded Man
A man who said he was Barney Lee, heroin, twenty-six years old, Woodbine, N. J., was found near Fifteenth and Locust streets early today with a gunshot wound of the shoulder. He has been detained while police are investigating.

And then one day he woke up—

He had purchased the last lot of cards for his card records at what seemed like a very low price. Being human, he rather prided himself on finding a bargain.

Until—

One day he noticed that his clerk couldn't get through with the day's work. He asked—"Why?"

"I'm working just as hard," she said earnestly, "but I can't handle that last lot of cards very fast. They are uneven and they vary so in size that they aren't easily fingered. They are different weights, too, and stick together—so I lose time."

That was all there was to the conversation. But this man-who-thought-he-had-a-bargain did some thinking—and concluded that what he had "saved" in price had cost him ten times as much in wasted minutes.

The moral of the story is this:—Buy good cards—the cards best suited to your own particular purpose.

L. B. Cards are made up in many forms and carried in stock for all classes of business:—cards for sales records, stock records, purchase records, card ledgers, insurance records, credit records, quotation records, follow-up records, etc.

Subscribers are using the dial on forty-seven thousand Keystone telephones today

The "cut-over" from the old manually operated to the new Automatic Telephone System took place on Saturday, May 14, at 10 P. M.

Today, on more than forty-seven thousand telephones in Philadelphia, Keystone users are DIALING their numbers instead of ASKING for them as they did prior to ten o'clock on Saturday night.

Many of these users, no doubt, are finding the new way of calling strange. Many perhaps are forgetting that all Keystone telephone numbers were necessarily changed on Saturday night when the "cut-over" was made and are neglecting to consult the new telephone directory in which the changed numbers appear. It is quite possible, too, that habit has caused some Keystone users to "jiggle" the receiver hook, a practice that was not objectionable on the old system, but which results in a disconnection on the new.

But, while this complete reversion of the method of using the telephone may be causing confusion to a few, EVERY ONE has probably noticed this pleasing fact—that the average time required to reach your party is only thirteen seconds!

We suggest that all Keystone users read carefully the instructions for using the automatic telephone printed on page two of the new directory.

Have you given Mr. Blake, Race 06, YOUR order for a Keystone Automatic Telephone?
