"As brilliant an array of notable journalists and publicists as any single newspaper has ever brought together"

These are but twelve of several hundred members of the editorial staff of the Public Ledger. The large amount of regular salaries necessary to maintain such a staff is justified by the results, which are:

That the Public Ledger has a circulation of more than 240,000 a day which cannot be lured away by all the ingenuity of rival circulation managers. The strongest circulation makes the strongest advertising medium.
