

BRITISH WARSHIP. H. M. S. Calcutta, which is anchored in the harbor on a visit to Philadelphia for its officers and crew to take part in today's Empire Day exercises. Ledger Photo Service.

SAILOR-VISITOR. Lieutenant Commander Herbert Pott, executive officer of H. M. S. Calcutta, who is taking part in Empire Day celebration today. Ledger Photo Service.

AT THE PRIZE WINDOW. The lad taking a chance is Arthur Wayne Clark. Ledger Photo Service.

SELLING PEANUTS. The pretty merchant is Elsa Koenig Nitzsche. Ledger Photo Service.

MRS. J. FREDERICK THOMAS. She was in charge of the gypsy camp. Ledger Photo Service.

WOODBURY SCHOOLS HOLD MAY DAY. The New Jersey children treated their parents to a great program yesterday morning. Grace Budd, the flower girl, crowned the queen, Rebecca Hannold, of Swedesboro; Miss Mary Lamson was snapped as she directed hundreds of children in drills. Ledger Photo Service.

MRS. JEREMIAH MILBROOK, of New York City, after a morning ride on her favorite horse at Hot Springs, Virginia. Central News Photo.

HURDLING IN BEAUTIFUL STYLE. In the recent May Blossom hurdle race at Lingfield, England, Responsible, with F. B. Rees up, and Glowanna, with G. Duller as rider, were caught by the camera. Wide World Photo.

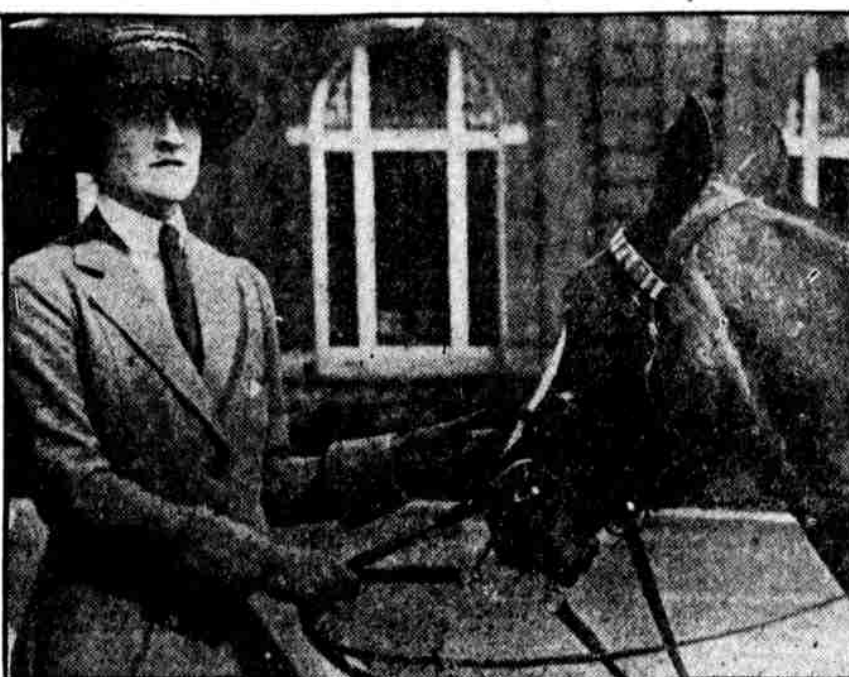

"SNOW BABY" AND HER TWO SONS. Mrs. Edward Stafford is a daughter of the late Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the explorer. She was born in the Far North. Central News Photo.

DR. CHEESMAN HERRICK, president of Girard College, which observed Founders' Day yesterday. Ledger Photo Service.

MISS JULIA WILLIAMSON discusses the Library League in an interview on the Editorial Page. Ledger Photo Service.

MRS. JEREMIAH MILBROOK, of New York City, after a morning ride on her favorite horse at Hot Springs, Virginia. Central News Photo.

IN MIXED DOUBLES. At the Philadelphia Country Club yesterday afternoon, Miss Phyllis H. Walth (left) and her partner were defeated. Miss Molly D. Thayer, at the right, is practicing for her match. Ledger Photo Service.

MISS MOLLY D. THAYER, at the right, is practicing for her match. Ledger Photo Service.

COFFEE DRINKERS. They were part of the huge modern health crusade staged by the Burlington County Schools at the Mount Holly Fair grounds yesterday afternoon. Ledger Photo Service.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

MISS HELEN FLYNN (left), 1720 South Twentieth street, stamping trademark labels on boxes at the rate of 1800 a day at the Eagle Shirt Co., Sixteenth and Reed streets. Miss Lillian McDermott, 1509 Morris street, is packing shirts in boxes. Ledger Photo Service.

CARROLL DAY. She's been appearing at many West Philadelphia charitable affairs in a dancing role. Ledger Photo Service.

AT FIFTEENTH AND WALNUT STREETS. Reserve Patrolman John Kraus, of 1836 North Newkirk street, has been in the police department for sixteen years. Ledger Photo Service.

"KING GOOD HEALTH WINS." That was the name of a health pageant staged by the schools of Burlington County at the Mount Holly Fair grounds in New Jersey yesterday. At the left is Grace Stanistreet as Rag Baby. The health fairy is Louise Kelley. Ledger Photo Service.

THE health fairy is Louise Kelley. Ledger Photo Service.