

CONCURRENT VARIETIES HARVEY SPEECH

London Newspaper Foes of League Applaud—Friends Not Disheartened

BERLIN PRESS ENCOURAGED

By the Associated Press. London, May 21.—Two very cordial editorials were included in newspaper comment today on the address made by George Harvey, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, on Thursday night. They were published in the Morning Post, which never favors the League of Nations, and the Daily Telegraph.

The Post said Prime Minister Lloyd George's assertion that the "future well-being of the world depends mainly upon Anglo-American friendship and cooperation" was true, and it continued: "This being so, the League of Nations cannot, as we have been told repeatedly, be the only and unique guarantee of the future peace of the world."

Referring to Anglo-American relations, the paper declared that nothing in recent years more thoroughly dissipated misunderstanding than President Harding's memorable statement of American policy which Mr. Harvey referred to in his speech.

"The British public," the newspaper added, "may well wish the policy of the British Government to be definite and simple as that of America."

The Daily Telegraph's comment, which was largely a personal appreciation of Ambassador Harvey, congratulated it as "high time to give the quietus to the idea that the United States may yet be beguiled into the League."

The Daily News, continuing its championship of the League of Nations, remarks that the English League of Nations Union had just obtained a membership of 100,000 in the United Kingdom, and it is "high time to give the quietus to the idea that the United States may yet be beguiled into the League."

Assuming that the United States will keep out of the League during the term of President Harding, the newspaper said this would be a matter of "grave regret, but it will mean, at the worst, that the League will not be able to do anything in the United States, as it has done hitherto."

The News made the point that the whole of America was not ignoring the League, saying that Canada, which is a valuable part in its operations, as was virtually all of Latin America except Mexico.

"So long as the nations now members of the League stand loyally by it," the newspaper concluded, "we can afford to wait until the United States is of another mind."

Berlin, May 21.—(By A. P.)—Ambassador Harvey's speech and Premier Lloyd George's statement in the Vossische Zeitung to observe that the Anglo-French entente cordiale never existed, such appreciation before the war as that now benefits the Anglo-American understanding.

The exchange of sentiments in London, the newspaper believes, will mark a long step in the direction of well-considering the world if they are productive of a solution of the Upper Silesian problem, which not only will recognize Germany's interests, but will be judicial, ethical and ethnological in nature, but which will rationally deal with the issue as constituting an obvious prepossession for the economic restoration of Europe.

The Teutonic Reichshaus believes Ambassador Harvey's "highly official" utterances concerning the League of Nations permit the conclusion that Mr. Harvey's mission to the United States was a definite failure.

Corvairs believes the United States was saved from the League through the return English politics has taken since Germany accepted the ultimatum.

"The speech with which Mr. Lloyd George welcomed the new Ambassador is also significant in this connection," it says, "and Germany can only welcome him if the United States succeeds in influencing English politics in the direction of accomplishing a League of Nations to peaceful and liberal conditions throughout the world."

The newspaper feels itself called on to remind the United States of its moral obligations toward Europe. These, it adds, are primarily an outgrowth of the American point of responsibility for the military and diplomatic outcome of the war, "which probably interested nobody on the other side as wholly satisfactory for after entering a war which was to end imperialism, the United States is forced to force it upon Europe in the clutches of imperialistic violence which is not emanating from crushed Germany, but, on the contrary, from among the very elements which try to strangle the League of Nations, put into the saddle."

Former Carranza Official Shot at Entrance of His Home

Mexico City, May 21.—(By A. P.)—General Maximiliano Kloss, an Austrian, who was at the head of the military bureau of the Carranza Government here during the Carranza Administration, was shot and killed at the entrance of his home here last night. When Obregon became President, he named General Kloss as Mexican Consul General in Berlin. The latter was recalled three months ago for special duty in the War Office.

TARIFF EMERGENCY PROVISION SOUGHT

Resolution Making Permanent Schedules Effective at Once Before House

By the Associated Press. Washington, May 21.—The House Ways and Means Committee reported today a joint resolution under which new schedules in the permanent Tariff Bill would be made effective immediately upon introduction of that measure, if the committee held that an emergency for such a step existed.

The resolution, introduced by Representative Longworth, Ohio, was submitted to the House.

The action of the committee was by a strict party vote, all Democrats present opposing it. Representative Garner, Tex., a member of the committee, announced he would reserve all points of order, indicating a Democratic fight against its passage.

Republican members said privately that efforts would be made to rush it through, probably next week.

Representative Young, North Dakota, chairman of the sub-committee on Emergency Tariff legislation, announced that he had voted against the resolution and would oppose it in the House.

It is an attempt to delegate legislative authority which is prohibited under the Constitution," Mr. Young said. "It is an enactment which gives the Ways and Means committee power to fix duties and to alter them at will, and to put into operation for at least five months and possibly longer."

SHIP BLAZE INVESTIGATED

Damage to Panhandle State Confined to Boiler and Engine Room

New York, May 21.—Damage to the Shipping Board's passenger steamship Pennsylvania State, which was beached to prevent destruction by fire, was mainly confined to the engine and boiler room. Firemen worked all night before getting the blaze under control.

An investigation as to the cause of the fire was begun yesterday by Commander R. D. Gatewood, of the Shipping Board. The ship was to sail for Europe with a full list of passengers next Tuesday.

The United States Mail Steamship Co., which operated the Pennsylvania State, has attempted to obtain a substitute vessel.

LOAD OF ALCOHOL STOLEN

Truck Driver Says He and His Helpers Were Bound to a Pole

Pottsville, Pa., May 21.—The State police are investigating a story told here by Charles Abington, of South Perry street, Philadelphia, who says that he lost his three-ton truck, $75 in cash and twenty drums of denatured alcohol valued at $20,000, as the result of a hold-up on the pike between here and Reading early yesterday morning. Abington and his truck helpers were taken down to Sanatoga and were bound to a telephone pole and gagged. They worked for hours trying to get loose and then they aroused residents of Sanatoga with their cries for help.

Dr. Scattergood Insists Miss Garrett Was Not Drowned

Dr. Joseph Scattergood, of West Chester, who performed the first autopsy on the body of Miss Anna M. Garrett, whose body was found in Brandywine Creek, reiterated his assertion that death was due to suffocation and not drowning.

This statement was made in reply to criticism of Coroner Charles H. Drewes, of Delaware County, who declared that Dr. Fred Hunkeler, of Collingdale, found water in the woman's lungs. This, Drewes said, was positive proof of drowning.

No further investigation is being made of the woman's death.

WEEKS SEES PERIL IN KRUPPS DEVICES

Congress May Act on Protection From Patents on Military Equipment

'INSIDIOUS' MOVE REVEALED

Washington, May 21.—Investigation of patents and applications for patents recently filed in this country by German citizens and assigned to Frederick Krupp, German munitions maker, reveals, said a statement authorized yesterday by Secretary of War Weeks, "rather striking circumstances, in view of the conditions which Germany is supposed to observe as to disarmament and the manufacture of war materials under her treaty obligations."

"Of the 228 patents and applications for patents assigned to Krupp, twenty-six were for radio apparatus and control devices, eighteen to electric control apparatus, nine to fuses and projectiles, six to gas engines, seventeen to guns and other apparatus, three to processes for the production of metals, ten to naval fire-control devices, three to projectiles and devices for hand-launching and fourteen to railroad artillery."

A large number of patents relating to airplanes and their accessories; chemical and radio apparatus and other equipment, had been assigned to other German companies besides Krupp, the statement added.

Weeks said considerable progress has been made looking to the introduction of corrective measures in Congress for the protection of those American interests in which the War Department is especially interested against the recurrence of "this insidious patent activity by Germany."

GIRLS, HERE'S A CHANCE

Philadelphia Man Wants Camden Police Chief to Find Him Wife, Too

Chief of Police Greener, of Camden, interested in matrimony, is advertising in the Camden Evening Star, which he sought eight Camden girls for as many lonesome Texas cowboys, received a letter today from Harry Rolt, general delivery, Philadelphia, in which Rolt says that if there are any girls left after the cowboys have been lassoed, he would like to have one.

Rolt isn't of much account with a girl, but he is a wizard with a saw and hammer, plane or T-square. Here's what he has to say:

"Dear Sir: Responding to the young girls who are seeking cowboy husbands, I wonder if there is one who would like a carpenter right here in Philadelphia. I am just as lonesome as the cowboys are, or the girls who are waiting for them. I am thirty-five years old. It is an awful time to find a girl who can cook and make a good wife.

"Sail in cowboys first, and if there is any girl left, let me know."

A committee of Philadelphia women, headed by Mrs. Percy M. Chandler, has started a contributory campaign here to further the Lee Memorial Fund, which would preserve an adequate memorial to General Robert E. Lee at the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., where the soldier and educator spent the last years of his life.

General Lee's tomb, visited by more than a thousand people a month, is in a building which is in a state of disrepair. The eastern part of the building will be left unchanged, but the western part of the building will be enlarged and furnished with a suitable tower.

George A. Ward, who was gassed in the Argonne-Meuse drive in October 1918, while fighting with the Twenty-sixth Division, died at his home, 630 Stokes Avenue, Colingwood, Pa., last night.

Mr. Ward had been under constant medical treatment since his discharge from the service two years ago. The gas had affected his lungs, causing tuberculosis.

SALUS TO WATCH PROBE

State Senator is Already Issuing Ahead-of-Time Replies

Although the police department investigation ordered by Mayor Moore to begin Monday, was instituted primarily as a result of charges made by State Senator Salus, a further hearing of the Fourth Ward, Salus is not over-enthusiastic at the prospect of the probe.

Police, although declaring he would attend the inquiry sessions of the Civil Service Board, Salus hastened to add he did not anticipate much would be brought to light in regard to the flourishing vice and gambling.

"The gamblers have been told to stand under cover for a while until this blow over," he asserted.

WAR VETERAN BILL VETOED

Preference Act is Unconstitutional, Governor Sproul Asserts

Harrisburg, May 21.—Veto by the Governor of another bill to give preference to veterans in civil appointments on the ground of unconstitutionality was announced yesterday. The Governor said he was forced to that action because decisions on the bill by the higher courts appeared to be conclusive. He held it would set aside competitive rules and wrote:

"It is eminently fitting for us to further in every way the interests of those who sacrificed their comfort, often their health and vigor and risked their lives for our defense, but we cannot allow our gratitude to them or our most patriotic impulse to encourage us to disregard the constitutional limitations imposed upon us."

The Governor also vetoed the bill for issuance of dog licenses by clerks of courts instead of county treasurers.

LOSE TRACK OF BANDITS

Men Who Robbed Canfield Bank Escape Pursuers After Gun Battle

Youngstown, O., May 21.—(By A. P.)—County and city officers last night had lost track of two bandits, who yesterday held up a train at the Farmers' National Bank at Canfield, near here.

With but less than $10 secured at the bank, the robbers were forced to abandon their escape. One of the robbers was shot and injured.

When the men entered the bank and ordered the teller to hold up his hands, the teller swept what money was on the counter to the floor as he dropped behind a desk. A third employee was ordered into the vault as the robbers gathered loose change from the counter.

A watchman in the rear fired several shots as the pair ran from the building to an automobile and sped away, firing at citizens who gave chase.

RAILROAD TAX INCREASED

Pierson Amendment Adds $500,000 to New Jersey's Treasury

Trenton, May 21.—Substitution of a new assessment on railroad property as filed by the State Board of Taxes and approved by the State Controller yesterday under the provisions of the Pierson act net the State an increase of approximately $500,000 as compared with the assessment filed in November under the then existing statute.

For the current year the railroads were originally assessed at $12,617,000, and the increase will be $13,117,000 under the Pierson amendment. The increase of $498,439 is distributed between the various railroad systems as follows: Pennsylvania, $146,083; Central Railroad of New Jersey, $72,333; Philadelphia and Reading Railway, $29,587; Erie, $47,759; Lackawanna, $18,108; Susquehanna, $15,364; Lehigh Valley, $28,200; New York Central, $22,906; and unclassified railroads, $26,631.

Of the increase, the State will receive $2,000,000 and the balance will be distributed to the municipalities for local purposes.

LOYAL PAL NABBED

Man, Wanted in Theft, Came to Visit Arrested Friend

Loyalty to a "pal" who had been arrested for alleged complicity in the hold-up of a building and loan association, drew Howard Smith, Fifteenth and Jefferson streets, into the net of the police today. Now he and Edward Regan, Sixteenth and Wallace streets, are under $2500 bail for a further hearing Monday, as a result of evidence given by Detective Cook before Magistrate Carson, at Central Station.

Regan was picked up on desertion, after his picture had been identified by two of the members of the group robbed of $2500 at Susquehanna avenue and Himesock street, Tuesday night. Regan gave his picture for a further hearing at City Hall to see him. Smith looked like another picture in the police's possession, and he, also, was arrested and held. None of the money has been recovered.

SKIPPER IS HELD ON BOOZE CHARGE

Two Atlantic Men Accused in Liquor Smuggling Plot Along Coast

PHILADELPHIAN IS SOUGHT

Atlantic City, May 21.—Federal enforcement agents appeared before U. S. Commissioner Hiram Steelman here Saturday to press charges against Captain Harry Goukler, Inlet skipper, and Norwood Johnson, charged with complicity in a wholesale liquor smuggling plot along the Atlantic seaboard. They were arrested two weeks ago at the time of the seizure of $80,000 worth of liquor.

Captain Goukler was in command of the auxiliary sloop Edward Burke, when customs officers and coastguards boarded the craft at his moorings in the Inlet harbor a fortnight ago and confiscated fifty-one bottles of Scotch whisky. He was charged in the warrant with "smuggling and having in his possession and transporting Scotch whisky."

Entering a plea of not guilty through former Judge Joseph Thompson, Goukler took exception to the charge.

"Where do you get that stuff about smuggling and transporting?" he asked. "I'm unable to enlighten you on that point," replied the Court in fixing bail at $5000 for the September term of Federal Court.

Johnson, who shares an apartment above a boothhouse on Barrett avenue, with Goukler, the building in which enforcement agents seized 4800 bottles of wines and liquors and 51 cases of rum a short time after the raid on the sloop, was charged with having the liquor in his possession.

Johnson also pleaded not guilty, but was held in $5000 bail, Chris Smith, an Atlantic City retail liquor dealer's association, entered bond for them.

Samples of the liquor seized in the raid were shown in court. Officials said that the prosecutions yesterday were the start of the general clean-up along the coast. It has developed that customs officers first received their "tips" on the whisky running through coast guards station here. It appears that two of the crew of the boat used to bring the liquor north quartered. They talked about the "system" of dry blockade running and their wives heard of it and reported it to the coast guards.

At 2 o'clock on that morning, under the provisions of the ordinance, all clocks will be set ahead one hour. On the last Sunday in September at the same morning hour the clocks will be moved back one hour.

Arrangements will be made in the near future by Richard Weglein, president of Council, to get into touch with the municipal authorities of all cities in the Middle Atlantic and New England States with the view of organizing a co-operative movement to go before Congress and urge enactment of a national daylight-saving law for next year's summer season.

BOY KILLED BY TROLLEY

Playmates Witness Fatal Accident in West Philadelphia

While crossing at Sixty-third street and Elmwood avenue yesterday, eight-year-old Justice Whitson, 4321 Grass avenue, was crushed to death under the wheels of an Elmwood avenue trolley. Playmates of the boy who witnessed the accident stood by horror-stricken as police picked up the car and took out the body.

The child was on his way home from the Morton Public School at Sixty-third street and Elmwood avenue with a skull cap that his teacher had presented to him for a high class average.

He attempted to cross at the crowded corner and failed to see the car until it was too late. D. McGrath, 2650 Earl street, the motorman, applied his brakes, but was unable to stop the car in time. McGrath was arrested.

Mr. Lane, who is twenty-two years old, despite the physical handicap, was adjudged winner of the medal over two other contestants, Israel Vichin, sixteen years old, of 2028 North Twenty-first street, and Miss Marcelia North.

The award carries with it the honor of appearing as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra at one of the regular concerts when Leopold Stokowski, director of the medal, conducts.

Mayor Moore signed the daylight-saving ordinance yesterday. That action represents the final step which will enable the extra hour of daylight to begin on Sunday, June 5.

At 2 o'clock on that morning, under the provisions of the ordinance, all clocks will be set ahead one hour. On the last Sunday in September at the same morning hour the clocks will be moved back one hour.

U.P. TEACHER ANGRY AT SLACKER CHARGE

Walter Woody Calls Placing of Name on List a "Very Serious Blunder"

SERVED 2 YEARS OVERSEAS

Walter Thomas Woody, University of Pennsylvania professor, who was overseas two years with the Y. M. C. A., expressed indignation today at the blunder of the War Department in placing his name among a list of alleged slackers published in New York.

"I think it is a very serious blunder, this thing of placing me, who did their best, in a defensive position, wherein they have either to recite the service they rendered or be classified as a slacker," said Mr. Woody at his home in Lansdowne.

"No doubt among the list of 172,000 so-called slackers there are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of men with war records just as clear as mine. The issuance of the list is an injustice."

Mr. Woody is professor in the history of education course at the University and is thirty years old. He was an honor student at Columbia University, and a member of the Society of Friends. He was granted exemption because of his religious beliefs. He nevertheless halted his studies and went overseas, serving two years in Russia and France.

His record shows he ministered to upward of 50,000 Allied troops, that he had charge of the distribution of supplies for the Y. M. C. A. in the Russian campaign and that he was finally arrested, shortly after the revolution, detained for a time in a Soviet prison and later released when it was proved he was a relief worker and not a propagandist.

He was later placed in charge of 15,000 men at a prison camp near Toul, France.

He was honorably discharged in the summer of 1919.

"The last time I had any dealings with the draft board," declared Mr. Woody, "was when I appeared before it in the summer of 1917, after being placed in the exempt class. I received permission to enter the foreign non-combatant service with the Y. M. C. A."

A jury before Judge Kates, in Camden yesterday, awarded a verdict of $1500 to Frank Catrosone, 1513 M. E. Eppan avenue, whose three-year-old daughter was killed by a Camden trolley a year ago.
