

AGAIN FOR SID HATFIELD

Assault on Superintendent of Coal Company During Recent Disorders Charged

QUIET IN MINGO DISTRICT

By the Associated Press
Williamson, W. Va., May 24.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sid Hatfield, former chief of police of Mingo County, charged with assaulting P. Smith, superintendent of the Stone Mountain Coal Co., several days ago. The warrant is alleged to have been issued when Mat-man was under fire from the mountains during the first week of the recent disorders. Smith was brought to Williamson, where he has since remained. An armed party of men sent out from Williamson late last night and early today along the Upper Tug River Valley reported that no one was to be seen in the mining country. Thomas West, local counsel for the Hatfield Mine unable to find any proof that would result in the release of A. D. Lavender, an organizer arrested yesterday charged with carrying a pistol. Lavender, it was stated, had a State pistol license, but this regulation was nullified by Governor Morison's proclamation of martial law. There has been much discussion as to whether the Mine Workers of America living in tent colonies along the Tug River could be continued under the Government's control. The international financial agent of the union, said there would be no interference with the relief program.

Washington, May 24.—(By A. P.)—Investigation of disturbances in Mingo County, is proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Johnson, of California.

Shall We Buy Winter Coal Now, or Wait?

Continued from Page One
There have been undertaken from time to time. These investigations, as in the case of the Calder committee inquiry by the United States Senate, have brought forth testimony concerning the trade which has been firmly implanted in the mind of the public, and reflected in the newspapers, a fixed belief in the justice of this combination of price and trade. It has been no secret that the anthracite interests have continued for years to send lobbyists to Harrisburg and Washington to find or defeat every proposed investigation. It has sent its own friends as members of legislative bodies prepared to fight any inquiry into its methods, prices, profits and conditions of labor and production. In one instance at least, in recent years, an elaborately staged probe before the most whitewash or camouflage. The operators, their sales agencies or their agents in one instance alone collected millions of dollars from the public under the guise of a coal tax of which the vast bulk was retained by them or some of them. The operators declare that the retailer kept the money. "Here! Somebody got it. When it comes to 'passing the buck' a coal man possesses equal skill with a railroad official. It was the most gigantic case of obtaining money under false pretense that the State has ever seen. In no single instance has there been an offer from the source, to share with the consumer any tax or increase of miners' wages. It is an axiom that the public always pursues the bill." The additional aggravation is that not only is the legitimate wage advance added to the price of coal, but it is doubled trebled by the time it reaches the consumer. One of the largest operators, a man of wide experience, in the course of this inquiry bluntly asked the question: "Tell me why it is that the newspapers persistently refer to anthracite producers as coal barons, pirates and profiteers? Why are we singled out and denigrated? Why are not producers of gasoline, that supply $500,000,000 worth of automobiles with high-priced gasoline, so denounced?" I endeavored to point out that he was wrong in his assumptions. No man possibly had ever been denounced more bitterly than Mr. Rockefeller and Standard Oil or Mr. Armour and his meat packers, or the shoe manufacturers of New England. These products come from producing areas all over the United States. Anthracite has a limited area in Pennsylvania, owned and operated by a few corporations, firms and individuals. It is a daily necessity. It means life or death, comfort or misery in a million households, hospitals and public institutions. The largest ground for the consumer's antagonism, perhaps, has been the arbitrary fixing of prices, the illegal combination of railroad and coal corporations and the dense mantle of secrecy which covers every movement of the anthracite trade as it has been developed. Furthermore, for nearly two decades the Government has tried to break these combinations under the Sherman Anti-trust Law. At every step the Government's legal representatives have been fought back and taton, by the interested railroad and coal interests. Every evasion, subterfuge, technical and scheming device that the cleverest minds could conceive, have been used by the coal corporations and their railroad allies in their attacks upon the Government to prevent its enforcement of the law. And the Government represents the people. It is for the above reasons that the public and conscientious newspapers and other publications and writers representing the public have been forced to regard the anthracite operator as a monopolist without bowels of compassion or fear of the law. This is not, let it be fairly said, the attitude of certain industrial interests or certain manufacturers and industrial managers. This attitude perhaps is one of indifference. The wheels and spindles of their mills and factories are turned by a power generated by bituminous coal. If not then by the low-priced "cheap sizes" of anthracite, which are coming into more and more into competition with the price of bituminous mines. It is, however, the view of the accounting wardens and treasurers of all parishes who purchase hundreds of tons of coal for churches and for distribution to the poor of the community; of the treasurers of charitable organizations, of public officials who buy thousands of tons for schoolhouses, of hospital stewards of every-day business men and of the average citizen. The view of the roomer in the side streets of great cities or the denizens of the back alleys who must buy by the bucketful at the rate of $4 a ton can not be conjectured. But there is another side to this anthracite question. It is the side of the operator. It has never been given.

ASSEMBLY ELECTS NEW STATED CLERK

The Rev. Louis S. Mudge, of Harrisburg, Chosen by Presbyterians

ELKTON PARSON UNDER FIRE

By the Associated Press
Winona Lake, Ind., May 24.—The Rev. Louis Seymour Mudge, of Harrisburg, Pa., was elected stated clerk of the Presbytery of the United States of America at the 133d General Assembly here today. He will take office April 1, 1922.

Bobby Jones Wins Two Matches Today

Continued from Page One
A win in two on the fourth hole, leaving Tolley 1 up at that point. In playing the fifth hole, Guilford pulled his tee shot into the green, but made a good recovery, while Tolley played an indifferent second shot and flubbed his third badly. As a result Guilford squared the match by winning the hole, 6 to 6.

James Hamlet Match

In the Jones-Hamlet match, the American took matters rather easily in the early stages and was 1 down at the sixth. Jones was bunkered at the seventh, which was halved in 48, and he gave up the second for an approximate 7, having been twice bunkered, taken four to reach the green and miss the hole. The fourth was squared at the third, the fourth was halved, and Jones lost the fifth.

Outmet in Great Battle

Charles Hodgson, of Balldon, Outmet's opponent, is one of Yorkshire's best golfers. Both players opened well, halving the first hole in five. Hodgson took control with his putter at the second and lost in 5 to 4. The third was halved in four. Then Hodgson, following a splendid chip shot, won the fourth hole. Outmet took the fourth, Outmet took three putts at the fifth. Hodgson was short from the tee, but had a splendid run up and snatched a half with a 4.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

Mme. Curie Too Tired to Be College Guest

Program of Events for Mme. Curie Today

4-6 P. M.—Garden party, for which over one thousand invitations have been sent out, in honor of Madame Curie, given by Miss M. Carey Thomas and the members of the Philadelphia Marie Curie Radium Fund Committee at Miss Thomas' house, the Denmore, Bryn Mawr. The members of the Philadelphia committee will assist in receiving.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

U. S. Doesn't Fear London-Tokio Pact

Continued from Page One
China, and to yield to us on the question of Yap.

By keeping out of this question of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and by refusing to treat the Yap issue as one between Japan and this country solely, but rather one between this country and all its Allies in the late war, Mr. Hughes avoids laying embarrassing questions like the California land policy on the table for discussion between his Government and the Mikado.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

U. S. Doesn't Fear London-Tokio Pact

Continued from Page One
China, and to yield to us on the question of Yap.

By keeping out of this question of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and by refusing to treat the Yap issue as one between Japan and this country solely, but rather one between this country and all its Allies in the late war, Mr. Hughes avoids laying embarrassing questions like the California land policy on the table for discussion between his Government and the Mikado.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

U. S. Doesn't Fear London-Tokio Pact

Continued from Page One
China, and to yield to us on the question of Yap.

By keeping out of this question of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and by refusing to treat the Yap issue as one between Japan and this country solely, but rather one between this country and all its Allies in the late war, Mr. Hughes avoids laying embarrassing questions like the California land policy on the table for discussion between his Government and the Mikado.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

U. S. Doesn't Fear London-Tokio Pact

Continued from Page One
China, and to yield to us on the question of Yap.

By keeping out of this question of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and by refusing to treat the Yap issue as one between Japan and this country solely, but rather one between this country and all its Allies in the late war, Mr. Hughes avoids laying embarrassing questions like the California land policy on the table for discussion between his Government and the Mikado.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

U. S. Doesn't Fear London-Tokio Pact

Continued from Page One
China, and to yield to us on the question of Yap.

By keeping out of this question of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and by refusing to treat the Yap issue as one between Japan and this country solely, but rather one between this country and all its Allies in the late war, Mr. Hughes avoids laying embarrassing questions like the California land policy on the table for discussion between his Government and the Mikado.

Disregards Doctor's Advice

Due to illness, Mme. Curie reached this city late and her coming at all was contrary to the advice of her physician. The assembly room of the College of Physicians was packed with men and women, including many noted physicians and surgeons, long before 9 o'clock. As Mme. Curie slowly entered on the arm of her elder daughter, Mrs. Irene, the audience spontaneously arose and stood while she made her way to the platform.

Dr. Thomas Responds

"I want to thank Mme. Curie for taking us into her mother's land," she continued. "My fondest wish would be that a Bryn Mawr girl who had been just two weeks in France could make as able an address in French as you have just given in English."

Elkton Marrying Parson Under Fire

Whether a Presbyterian pastor can conduct a Gretna Green center and come to be in good and regular standing, will be decided in a report to be made by the Assembly's Judicial Commission today or tomorrow.

Bricks Fly Fast as Ulster Votes

Continued from Page One
There were plenty of police and military there to protect them. Counting of the votes will begin tomorrow morning. It is possible the Belfast results will be known tomorrow night, but the others will not be in for several days. There are fifty-three polling divisions, with 288 polling stations in Belfast alone. Each of the two Irish Parliaments has fifty-two seats.

Measures to Preserve Order

The government took elaborate precautions to prevent fighting between the political factions. All licensed public houses were closed, and all fairs and markets arranged for today were postponed. Electioneering, which had been enthusiastic from the very beginning of the campaign, reached a culminating point yesterday when Sir James Craig, Premier-designate for Ulster, urged members of the Unionist party to "fly the Union Jack." As a result of his appeal virtually every Unionist house in Belfast displayed the British flag. Green sidewalks and lamp-posts are brilliant with the British colors.

Second Round

J. J. Wright, Boston, beat P. F. Hanon, Crownborough, 2 up, 1 to play. Robert Blair, Glasgow, beat J. R. McCallum, Glasgow, 3 up, 1 to play. C. Hodgson, Balldon, beat Francis Kerr, Boston, 1 hole. Harold H. Hilton, former British champion, beat T. A. Torrance, Sandy Lodge, 2 up, 1 to play. P. Hunt, Texas, beat J. L. Holmes, Hands worth, 1 hole. Charles (Cicely) Evans, Chicago, beat H. Matthews, Worthing, 1 hole. W. J. Jones, Birmingham, defeated T. R. Wyles, Royal West Norfolk, 4 up, 3 to play.

Third Round

Bobby Jones beat Robert Harris, 6 up, 2 to play.

BLAUENER'S
833-35 MARKET STREET

A Most Unusual Purchase Makes Possible a SUMMER DRESS SALE

Wherein All Materials Were Imported

Tomorrow $15 Second Floor
Wednesday

To read that these dresses are of the loveliest cottons, made charmingly in the latest of styles and trimmed as only the best makers know how — and then to come in here and find them even more fascinating than you supposed frocks of cotton could be — well, we are counting on your buying several — a season's supply, in fact.

The more you appreciate daintiness and quality, the happier you're going to be to find the price so little!

Some of the materials:
Imported Voiles
Ginghams
Linsens
Organdies
Dotted Swisses

Some of the colors:
Delicate Pinks
Rare Blues
Dainty Orchid
Delightful Maize
Restful Gray

And Lovely Combinations.

Blauener's Second Floor

PURE FRESH PAINT Believe Me

Kuehne Paint

If you prefer to do your own painting it will interest you to know that Kuehne-made paint is now obtainable. Only one quality — the best that can be made for each painting purpose.

"Save the Surface"

Kuehne PAINTERS
Vine & 17th Sts.
SPRUCE 5474 RACE 7749