

Rain Prevents Phillies From Losing, But Athletics Have Clear Weather in Detroit

MORAN DOPES PLAYS FOR CENTRE COLLEGE AS RAIN HALTS GAME

Baseball Umpire, Who Coaches Kentuckians in Fall, Says His Football Team Will Be Much Stronger Next Season—"Bo" McMillin Shifted to Halfback

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor, Evening Public Ledger

WHILE the rain was falling yesterday afternoon and the ballplayers were forced to take a day off whether they liked it or not, two very quiet gentlemen sat in upholstered chairs in the hotel lobby. They, too, were unable to get out and work for their daily stipend, but neither seemed worried or annoyed. It was a welcome rest and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

"I was right in my opinion," interrupted Mr. Moran, "but you might mind telling me what you think of the forward pass from punt formation? I am working on a play which seems to be good. Quizley likes it and I might show it to Greasy Neale. I think it is a great play but want your advice. What do you think?"

"I DON'T think nothing about it," retorted Mr. Rigler indignantly. "This is the baseball season and I will not converse with you on any other sport. Farewell until tomorrow."

Some New Dope on Centre College

MR. MORAN was left flat and we found him in that condition. The well-known umpire is better known in the fall of the year as head coach of the Centre College football team and on rainy days he is found studying new formations for his team. He has made a record in the South, losing but two games in four years. Those defeats came last season when Harvard and Georgia Tech triumphed.

"We will have a great team next year," Moran said joyfully, when asked to say something. "We lose but one man—Montgomery, the tackle. The chances are Weaver will not return, but already I have a man for his position. Outside of those positions, the team will be the same as last year—if the rains can hold their jobs. I expect to see Red Roberts, the fullback, at tackle, and put one of the new men behind the line."

"You will be surprised when I tell you that Bo McMillin will not play quarterback next year. He will be shifted to halfback and a kid named Covington, from Mayfield, Ky., high school will call the signals. Blackmore, of Plainview, Tex., will play full and Tom Bartlett, the other half, Tom punts a mile and is a great player."

"The boys will be in shape for the Harvard game on October 29. This is a great game for us not only because of the opposition, but because the Crimson treated us better than we ever have been treated before or since. We feel honored to be placed on the Harvard schedule and will do all we can to make the game interesting."

"I believe I made a mistake in sending McMillin to Cambridge to scout Harvard the week before our game. Bo came back and worried twenty pounds off himself and was not in the best shape for the big battle. I'll never send another player for that long. I expect to have more students than we can handle. Four years ago when I started to coach there, the total number of students was ninety. Now we have 200 and have been forced to build new buildings to take care of the incoming class."

"Last year we were handicapped because of the greenness of our line. The backfield was good, our offensive very effective, but defensively, we fell down. I have endeavored to rectify this and have engaged C. E. Thornhill, of the University of Pittsburgh, to be our line coach. Thornhill worked under Gian Warner and knows how to coach the line. He will be a great help to us."

"PRACTICE will start on September 8 and about fifty men will report. We have a tough schedule, starting Harvard, Kentucky State, Auburn, F. P. I. and Washington and Lee. Georgetown or Lehigh might be played in a post-season game."

Commercializing the Sport, Says Anson

FIFTY years ago when baseball was fortunate to get more than two sticks of space in the sports columns there broke into the young show one athlete by the name of Anson. From 1872 to 1875 young Anson played professional ball under Philadelphia colors. Such men as Dick McBride, Al Reach and Pop Anson were the stars of the team representing this city in the old National Association. He was one of the pioneer members of the Chicago White Sox. In 1874 Anson took the first American team to European fields. He has toured the world, met and accompanied more than any other American ballplayer in the world, met and accompanied more than any other American ballplayer in the world, met and accompanied more than any other American ballplayer in the world.

"I never will make good with that crowd," chirped Barry. "This fellow Davis is against me. Every time I get the ball and try to do anything with it he either yells for me to do something else or is not there when I want to throw it to him."

Jack was pretty well down in the mouth and O'Rourke sympathized with him and laughed inwardly.

A couple of months later O'Rourke crossed Barry's path again and repeated his question, reminding Barry, who by that time had blossomed out into the makings of a star, of what he had said about Davis.

BARRY laughed. "Yep, I remember it but I was all wrong, Joe, all wrong. You see, the fellow I was wrong about was that Davis knew how to play ball and I didn't."

"HERE is something that I am proud of, just as much as when I recently took a walk in the White House. He noticed the likeness and he smiled when asking us to had his President."

Jack Barry Changed His Mind

JOHN MCINTYRE, the noted playwright and author, popped up with a good yarn at the expense of Jack Barry, former stellar sportsperson of the old world's champion Athletics and later second baseman of the Red Sox in their palmy days.

McIntyre is a sports fan, especially of baseball and boxing, and knows more good stories than there are bubbles in home distilled.

It happened about a year ago that Barry came to Connie Mack's team when Barry Davis was still stepping around at first base and the famous hundred-thousand-dollar infield was in the making.

One day Barry met Joe O'Rourke, and Joe asked him how he liked being with the Athletics.

"I never will make good with that crowd," chirped Barry. "This fellow Davis is against me. Every time I get the ball and try to do anything with it he either yells for me to do something else or is not there when I want to throw it to him."

Jack was pretty well down in the mouth and O'Rourke sympathized with him and laughed inwardly.

A couple of months later O'Rourke crossed Barry's path again and repeated his question, reminding Barry, who by that time had blossomed out into the makings of a star, of what he had said about Davis.

BARRY laughed. "Yep, I remember it but I was all wrong, Joe, all wrong. You see, the fellow I was wrong about was that Davis knew how to play ball and I didn't."

OSTEOPATHIC NET TEAM A SUCCESS

Herb Fischer, Captain, Coach and Manager, and Carl Leads Penn Tennis Players AN UNEQUALLED RECORD

By SPICK HALL

Carl and Herbert Fischer have established a record never equaled in the ranks of collegiate lawn tennis. Both are captains of their teams and both have made fine records this spring playing first singles for their alma maters.

The success of the Osteopathic net tennis courts was due chiefly to Herb Fischer's interest and work. The college has no courts of its own, but the team has been working out of the Fairmount Park courts at Strawberries Mansion.

Herb Fischer is not only captain of his lawn tennis team, but he is coach and manager. Playing first singles, he did not lose a match this spring. The success of the Osteopathic net tennis courts was due chiefly to Herb Fischer's interest and work.

Few Students Although there are only about 100 students in the college and not more than a dozen who play tennis, Herb has developed a team that eventually will make a name for itself in intercollegiate ranks.

Last season was the first for the Osteopathic tennis team, but it won three of its five matches. This year it began with a victory over Grant College, five matches to none. Later it trimmed Moravian College, four matches to 2, at Bethlehem. In 1920 Moravian beat the Osteopaths six matches to none.

The only defeat for Fischer's team was at Princeton, where the Tiger freshmen won all of the matches except first singles, which Fischer captured in a hard battle in which he had two close opponents called against him on match points.

The team developed rapidly and on May 14 defeated P. M. C. at Chester, five matches to one. A week later it defeated St. Joe's, six matches to none.

George Youm, of Ardmore, plays second singles for the Osteopathic team and lost but one singles match. The other two players are Carl and Herbert Fischer. Youm is captain-elect of the basketball team and formerly was a football player at Lower Merion High.

Had Good Seasons Glenn Rossman, singles champion of the Normal School of Western Pennsylvania, plays third singles for Fischer's team and M. Sullivan, who catches on the baseball team, plays fourth. Both of these men won majors last year.

The only dozen men to choose from Fischer had a remarkable team. This is in striking contrast to the number of players at the University of Pennsylvania, where 200 candidates turned in their names to captain Marshall Vanman, of the freshman team this year.

Both Carl and Herb Fischer expect to play in the tournament of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia and vicinity, which begins tomorrow afternoon on the courts of the Cynwath Club.

One of the Fischer family would be complete without remarking that another brother, Barney, also is an athlete. Barney formerly played tennis, but he has given it up for golf. He is now the operator of an golf course.

California Crew Gets Busy Princeton, N. J., May 23.—The University of California crew, which has been training light workouts since its arrival here several days ago, will have its first practice on the dual race with Princeton on June 2. Practice will be held at the Princeton varsity club, which will form part of the practice program this week.

TO PLAY POLICE TEAM Bridesburg Meets All-Star Club This Afternoon—Kaywood at Nativity

The All-Star baseball team representing the Philadelphia police will oppose Bridesburg this afternoon at Nativity and Orthodox streets. Bridesburg's line-up may be given a shake-up as a result of the R-I defeat sustained at the hands of the Fleischer team last evening.

At Ontario and Belgrade streets, Nativity opposes Kaywood. Phil Hagger's club is going great guns with a better record than any team in the city this season. The 12-4 win over Baltimore Brodocks on Sunday was one of the biggest upsets of the season.

Billy Gannon Scores K. O. Boston, May 24.—Billy Gannon of Philadelphia knocked out Joe Higgins of New York in the fifth round of a boxing match.

WANTED A man to become actively associated in Textile Manufacturing Plant, Penna. Cor. 10th and Locust Sts., Philadelphia. Plant for sale. Good location. References exchanged. Write to: Philadelphia Ledger, Room 1024. Ledger Office.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT WHAT WOULD YOU GIVE TO KNOW? HOW TO SWIM? Meet at our public bath in a course of 6 days. Free lessons. Open from 9:30 A. M. to 10 P. M.

NATATORIUM Y. M. C. A., 1421 Arch St., Philadelphia.

WHAT'S YOUR HEALTH WORTH? Try Phila. Jack O'Brien's System (Get Physicals First). Reduce Your Flesh! Increase Your Blood! Increase Your Energy! Running Track, Handball Courts all in one building. Free exhibition program. 535 Special Summer Boxing Course.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PARK PHILLIES vs. CINCINNATI SEATS AT GIMBEL'S AND READING'S Colored Sportmen's Club Sixth & Locust Sts. PHILADELPHIA

POLO TOMORROW Philadelphia C. C. Field, Bala Today's Game Postponed

PENN ENTERS FOUR CREWS IN HENLEY

Only Three Contestants for Stewart Cup, the Feature Event

RACES WILL START AT 2:30 Coach Joe Wright has selected Eddie Mitchell's crew to compete in the varsity event in the American Henley races which will be rowed on the Schuylkill River next Saturday.

The refusal of Coach Rice to enter his Columbia crew in this race comes as a distinct surprise, as the Morningstar Heights' rowers were eager to see their representatives, which recently defeated Princeton in the Childs Cup race, staked up against Coach Glendon's Navy eight on neutral waters.

Syracuse also failed to send in their entry, so that Annapolis should have little trouble in duplicating its brilliant victory of last year in this attraction; although the Quaker eight is in good condition and has been making an impressive showing in the recent trials, they can hardly be classed in the same standing as the fast Navy machine.

California Crew Gets Busy Princeton, N. J., May 23.—The University of California crew, which has been training light workouts since its arrival here several days ago, will have its first practice on the dual race with Princeton on June 2. Practice will be held at the Princeton varsity club, which will form part of the practice program this week.

Harvard Picks Crew Cambridge, May 23.—Coach Bill Haines of the Harvard crew, has announced the selection of the varsity eight in the race against Cornell next Saturday on the Charles. The men will be placed as follows: Stroke, Cornell; 2, Kane; 3, Terry; 4, McCreary; 5, Ladd; 6, Ometzel; 7, Damon; 8, Morgan; coxswain, Pearson.

What May Happen In Baseball Today

NATIONAL LEAGUE table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Pittsburgh, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Boston, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Phillies.

AMERICAN LEAGUE table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Cleveland, New York, Detroit, St. Louis, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Athletics.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS table with columns: NATIONAL LEAGUE, AMERICAN LEAGUE, INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. Rows: Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at New York, Chicago at St. Louis, Athletics at Detroit, Boston at Cleveland, Washington at Chicago, New York at St. Louis.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE table with columns: NATIONAL LEAGUE, AMERICAN LEAGUE, INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. Rows: Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at New York, Chicago at St. Louis, Athletics at Detroit, Boston at Cleveland, Washington at Chicago, New York at St. Louis.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Baltimore, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, Athletics.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Baltimore, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, Athletics.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Baltimore, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, Athletics.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Baltimore, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, Athletics.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS table with columns: W. L. P. C. Win Loss. Rows: Baltimore, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Washington, Athletics.

EDGREN TO REFEREE HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT

Dempsey, Carpentier and Rickard Agree on Sports Writer for Officiating Job

SAYS HE WILL ACCEPT IT By LOUIS H. JAFFE Intimation that Bob Edgren, a New York sports writer, will be referee of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout has come from the training camps of Jack and Georges, and also from the business office of Tex Rickard. All three parties, it appears, are agreeable to have Edgren as the third man in the ring when the international heavyweight battle is put on at Jersey City on the afternoon of July 2.

Edgren has never officiated in any big bouts before. This will be his first experience in the ring where there will be a possibility of a title changing hands. Despite the fact that no referee's decision is permissible in the State of New Jersey, Edgren's job will be no easy one.

There are few who believe that the contest will go the full scheduled distance of twelve rounds. There are those who figure that Carpentier will knock out, or at least, knock down the champion. There are a lot more who believe Dempsey will stow away the French invader. All of which means that Edgren will have to brush up on his arithmetic, get that "ten-second count down" and keep cool—that's all. It doesn't sound like much of a proposition, still it is far from being a cinch.

That Edgren will accept the refereeing of the international set-to is a certainty, when it is offered to him. In fact, he has said that he would take the job. It may be that this question already has been out and dried, but as yet no official announcement has been made as to the referee.

Edgren has been connected with the Dempsey-Carpentier bout from the beginning, acting in the capacity of stakeholder.

Edgren has been connected with the Dempsey-Carpentier bout from the beginning, acting in the capacity of stakeholder.

Edgren has been connected with the Dempsey-Carpentier bout from the beginning, acting in the capacity of stakeholder.

Edgren has been connected with the Dempsey-Carpentier bout from the beginning, acting in the capacity of stakeholder.

DEMPEY INTERESTS BRITISH FIGHT FANS

English Sportsmen Know a Lot About Carpentier and Regard Him as a Great Fighting Machine, but Are Not So Well Informed About Champion

By GRANTLAND RICE

Liverpool, May 24. YOU may think that England, with so many international activities under way in the broad realm of sport, would consider her sports menu replete, not to say overflowing.

Yet the average Englishman is turning a veering eye in the general direction of Jersey City, U. S. A., where a Mr. Dempsey and a Mr. Carpentier will exchange quick salutations upon July 2.

Englishmen esteem a prizefight or a boxing match above every other sport. You can imagine how deep this affection for the game must be when you look back over the line of British heavyweights for the last thirty years, culminating in a Joe Beckett and a Bombardier Wells.

They know quite a bit about Carpentier, but their main interest is in Jack Dempsey, whom most of them have never seen.

You can't start talking sport for two and a quarter minutes before you are frisked for your opinion concerning the champion.

There was a time when Carpentier was favored over here to win. The Frenchman whipped Wells in a stanza or two and stopped Beckett with a lone punch.

Naturally, when a man scrambles up the two best heavyweights in a nation, all inside of five rounds, that nation will be inclined to think well of him, with a leaning toward enthusiastic praise.

If Carpentier could whip Beckett in a round he must be a very good fighter. Frank Moran dropped in upon the pugilistic constituency one day and soaked Beckett for a goal in less than seven strokes. Carpentier naturally shed some of his glamour.

They still think he is a great fighting machine. But he is no longer classed as a miracle worker.

What They Think of Carpentier VETERAN English critics who have seen Carpentier in action figure that he has a good outside chance to win for two reasons, no matter what Dempsey may say.

The two reasons are that Carpentier is extremely fast and can hit like a battle-ax.

Any fighter who carries these two prime requisites is always dangerous. For a fast hitter who can hurt is liable to start something at any moment. Over here they seem to take it for granted that Dempsey must be a giant in build. They saw Fred Fulton's six feet five inches and his 240 pounds of displacement. And then they were told that Willard and Dempsey weighed 170 and 180 pounds respectively.

Many of them are astonished to hear that Dempsey won't weigh as much when he meets Carpentier as Beckett weighed.

"Carpentier," a well-known fight critic remarked, "undoubtedly has speed, skill, brains, courage and the punch. You may say that is quite sufficient."

"But is it? Can he take the pounding that Dempsey can take? Is he as rugged and as strong? These, also, are important matters to consider. Neither Wells nor Beckett was able to prove his standing, for he stopped both too quickly. The Beckett fight was very sad. But while we have never seen Dempsey, we understand he is not a slow-moving Beckett."

New Experience IT MIGHT well be suggested," the critic continued, "that this context will be a novel experience for both men. Dempsey certainly has never met as fast and as skillful a boxer as the Frenchman is. He has never met one who has hit him as hard as the French champion can hit. In turn, Carpentier has never met a man who punches as well as Dempsey. He has never met a fighter who had the

And then something else. Ten shapes and sizes from 10c straight to 30 cents.

G. H. P. Cigar Co., Inc. MAKERS Philadelphia

for real enjoyment

Puritano Fino 13c or 2 for 25c

address with ten cents to Colgate & Co., Dept. 261, 199 Fulton St., New York. With the cartoon you will get a score card and the rules for playing Chin Golf. Also the metal "Handy Grip" containing a trial size stick of Colgate's Shaving Soap. When the trial stick is used up you can buy the Colgate "Refills" threaded to fit this Grip.

Get your Chin Golfers who are alerting the army of Chin Golfers who are alerting the day with a round of fun.

WELL - I FEEL LIKE BREAKING THE COURSE RECORD... WAIT TILL I TEE UP

OH BOY! - SOME DRIVE RIGHT DOWN THE FAIRWAY - THANKS TO THE HANDY GRIP

WHOA! I PULLED THAT SHOT - IN THE BUNKER - NOW FOR A PRETTY OUT RIGHT ON THE GREEN

OH WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT!! OUT IN A SNAPPY 36!! SOME SHOOTIN'!

NOW FOR THE LAST NINE - I'M SURE IN GOOD TRIM - I HAVEN'T SLICED YET.

I OUGHT TO USE A SPOON TO GET OUT OF THE ROUGH BUT I'LL STICK TO THE OLD IRON - IT'S WORKING FINE

IF I CAN GET PAST THIS HOLE WITHOUT TROUBLE I'LL BREAK MY OWN RECORD

WHEE-OOP! I DID IT! I DID IT! COLGATE'S SURE DOES FIX THE COURSE RIGHT FOR GOOD GOING - SOME GAME!

One fine thing about this new sport is that there's no initiation fee; there are no dues—nothing but fun. All the boys are going in for it. Count your strokes when you shave. Out on the right side, in on the left. Slices, pulls, crook strokes, into the rough, and all that sort of thing—all count as in regular golf. Match yourself against Jim, George or Sam; you can have a regular tournament, if you like. Chin Golf makes having a

Chin Golf—the Game That is Putting New Joy Into Life

Have you ever heard of Chin Golf? They say it's a whiz.

