Nancy Wynne Tells of Plans for Miss Dunlap's Wedding Next Week-Horse Show Opens Today in Devon. Jimmie Has a Worry

HEAR that Margaret Dunlap is goting to have a choral wedding. Won't that be pretty? I remember going to one at St. James some time ago and it one at St. James some time ago and it was perfectly beautiful. You know the small boys and men members of the small boys and men members of the choir, wearing cassocks and cottas, go up the aisle first singing the wedding up the aisle first singing the wedding march and then the members of the bridal party follow. The boys at St. James have lovely voices and sing affected treat in store for that marriage. And won't Margaret make a heautiful And won't Margaret make a heautiful heide? She is so stately and has such bride? She is narrying Sosthenes Behn, of Havana and New York, where she will remain until the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks, of Almonbury House, Ithan, Pa., have is sued invitations for a dinner on Friday evening. June 3.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kendrick, 3d, of Godfrey House, Villanova, have is sued invitations for dinner at their home on June 24 in honor of their daughter, of Miss Marian Kendrick, before the junior dance to be given at the Merion Cricket Club. Covers will be laid for sixty-five suestiful fair hair. It's only a week form resterday. She is marrying Sosthenes Behn, of Havana and New York, where she will include Miss Betty fair that the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kendrick, 3d, of Godfrey House, Villanova, have is sued invitations for dinner at their home on June 24 in honor of their daughter, of Mrs. Margaret wall heide? She is so stately and has such bride? She is so stately and has such bride? She is so stately and has such bride? She is a card party on Isriday afternoon at her home. The greeks will include Miss Betty Battles, Miss Gertrude Dougherty, Miss Laura Garrison, Miss Victoria Keiley.

TALKING of Margaret Dunlap makes me think of her cousin, Margaret Berwind, whom I happened to see walk-berwind, whom I happened to see walking down Walnut street the other day ing down Walnut street the other day wearing a most fetching costume of dark margaret has a blue canton creps. Margaret has a blue canton creps. Margaret has a daughter. Miss Anne S. Newbold and his daughter. Miss Anne S. Newbold; Mr. Clement Buckley Newbold and his daughter. Miss Marian Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William J. Taylor, of Dr. and Mrs. William well and her dress was quite plain, with just a bit of self-colored silk embroidery, which was simply stunning. She were dark blue silk stockings and tan slippers, and her hat was a blue model of alraw, with a turned brim about four inches wide. Soft, feathers aigrettes were placed across the front of the hat and fell over the sides about three inches. It was most graceful and exceedingly becoming:

WELL I did hope we would have good the long heralded Horse Show out at However, let us hope it will clear thing going on out there. There's the and the shops, and the rummage sale, and the dancing, and all sorts of odd things for sale. And the eats which they will serve in the boxes for those who want will serve in the boxes for those who want to remain and watch the events in the field! Mrs. Barklie, who is chairman of the Country Fair part of the show, had little tables put into the front of the hoxes last year, on the order of the buffet tables that they put up in the Pullman cars, and you can have things served there by the pretty little aides, who I should think would be so tired they could not walk, much less dance, by the time the evening comes. But, bless your heart, they'll dance away as bless your heart, they'll dance away as much as ever, and every afternoon and evening at that. There's to be a ball on Friday night at Devon Inn. you know, and many other affairs given in connection with the show, Mrs. Frank Clyde will entertain at dinner before the ball that night and an army other affairs. the ball that night, and so will the Chariton Yarnalls and the George W. Childs Drexels and a number of others.

THERE is a new baby in Jimmie's home, and while he is perfectly dehave a sister and all that he is awfully puzzled about one thing, and he voiced his worries to Miss D— the other day, when she met him walking along the path by his home. He greeted her thuswise "You know our baff-room?" "Yes," said Miss D.—. "Well. you know the place where we hang our toof-bwushes?" 'Yes." again said Miss D.— "Well, there's only five places for bwushes vere." "So there places for bwushes vere." "So there are." said Miss D- wondering what 'Well, where's the baby goin' to hang

"Well, where s the bad, and her bwush?" asked Jimmie.
"But she hasn't got any teeth, Jimmie." said Miss. D— comfortingly.
"But," insisted Jimmie, "where will be the ber does have 'em?" NANCY WYNNE.
