KEYSTONE STATE ON TRIAL CRUISE

Two-Day Trip of New Passenger Ship Starts Early

BUILT IN LOCAL YARD

Distinguished representatives of several foreign countries were among the passengers aboard the Keystone State, first passenger liner named in honor of Pennsylvania, when she started on her trial trip from Camden at 5:15 this morning.

Despite the early hour, many were on hand to give the big craft a hearty cheer as she left the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. Today and tomorrow she will maneuver off the Atlantic coast and go through the official test to show her general efficiency.

When the two-day trial has been completed the Keystone State will be turned over to the United States Shipping Board, which will deliver her to the Pacific Steamship Co., Admiral Line, of Seattle.

The Keystone State was originally designed to be a troop transport, but as the war ended while she was still in the early stages of construction the design was modified to suit peace conditions.

Driven by reduction geared turbines of 12,000 horse power, supplied with steam from eight boilers fired by fuel oil, the Keystone State will maintain a speed of seventeen and a half knots in service.

The lifeboat equipment is of modern type, and a very elaborate fire-fighting system is installed, with automatic pumps in each room and compartment.

The wireless apparatus has a range of 2000 miles, and there is also a submarine signaling system.

Major Moore, Director Sproule, of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries; City Solicitor Smyth and other city officials inspected the Keystone State yesterday afternoon.

The visitors were escorted about the ship by J. T. Wickersham, treasurer of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, and William G. Groesbeck, vice president.

FEARS GIRL IS RUNAWAY

Father Believes Daughter Has Gone With Filipino

Jennie Farrington, blonde and petite, left her home at 1040 East Pass-yunk avenue yesterday afternoon to go to a motion picture. This morning her father, John Farrington, reported to the police of the Fifteenth street and Snyder avenue station his belief she had run away.

He named a Filipino with whom, he said, she ran away a year ago.

Jennie is nineteen years old. Her mother is prostrated and under a doctor's care.

Farrington told police his daughter does not work, only assists her mother about the house. He could give no reason why she should leave home.

A year ago she ran away and was found later in a restaurant on Ninth street near Vine. He said her companion was a man who was known to be married and have three children.

This man, he said, is a musician and only occasionally visits the city. Farrington did not know where the family he mentioned lived.

SPRINKLER HORSE SHOW TODAY

No Serious Injuries, Although Nasty Falls Have Big Devon Crowd Gasping

MISS COMBS WINS TWICE

Spills marked the morning events at the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair today.

Four upsets, none of them serious, provided momentary thrills in the hunters and jumpers' class.

It was representative of the Bob White Farm and riding the bay mare, Bob White, was the first to tumble on the smooth turf, and within a few moments J. Mosseron riding his Time and Robert Taylor on Shannon catapulted from their steeds at the jumps.

J. M. Brook, riding his own entry, On the Top, was the first victim of an ugly but not serious spill. Miss Isabella Wanamaker made her first appearance in the oval driving Wild Honey, her sensational bay mare, in the pony-in-harness races.

The best she could get was a sixth place because of bad manners on Wild Honey's part as she rounded the course.

However, Miss Wanamaker won her fourth blue ribbon in this event with Sir Eric, a winner yesterday, and driven this morning by William Plinch. As Mrs. Louisa Williams rode her City Girl, won two blue ribbons today, she and Miss Wanamaker are now even terms with four first prizes.

Miss Gertrude L. P. Conway wore a smart looking cross-stitch sweater of ragged robin blue and a plumed hunting shirt of the same shade. Her hat was of tan. Miss Amy du Pont, who never misses a horse show, selected a heavy dark brown sport coat and a large brown hat trimmed with light tan feathers.

By noon nearly all the young set had arrived, including many of the coming season's debutantes. Numerous substitute parties that were scheduled for the afternoon did not take place, made a double performance today.

Mayor Issues Memorial Day Proclamation

"Despite the stress and strenuousness of the times we should set all else aside on Monday, May 30 next, if only for a brief moment, to show our appreciation of the founders and defenders of our country and its institutions."

In appreciation of it all and in support of the exercises to be held by the veterans of the various wars, citizens are urged to make a bountiful display of the national colors.

Let them be flown from the windows and the house-tops. And that the colors may be carried into every street and avenue and country road, let them be adjusted to the automobiles and vehicles which travel back and forth. Attaching the flag to the automobile is an attractive and beautiful method of celebration. Let us have more of it until our national holidays in Philadelphia shall be a blaze of color and patriotism—picturesque but substantial assurance of our loyalty to the Constitution and the flag.

WOMAN ARRAIGNED FOR BIGAMY FAINTS

Mrs. Anna E. Anderson, of Camden, Collapses and Is Carried from Courtroom

HUSBAND ARRESTED 9 TIMES

Mrs. Anna E. Anderson, charged with bigamy, fainted in the Central Police Court today and was carried to a cell after her husband, George Anderson, who caused her arrest, had testified.

The sudden collapse of the woman necessitated continuation of the hearing until later today.

Mrs. Anderson lives at 263 Mechanic street, Camden, and Anderson at 1245 South Third street, Camden.

The domestic trouble of the Andersons has been aired in the courts of this city and Camden repeatedly during the last five years.

Mrs. Anderson has Red Hair

Mrs. Anderson is a slim but aggressive woman of medium height. She has red hair and blue eyes and appeared to be constantly on the verge of tears.

Anderson testified he married her October 21, 1916, at Old Swedes Church, and for short time their married life was blissful.

Anderson emphasized the word "short."

KATO DEPLORES YAP MIXUP

Blames Japanese Government for Middle Over Pacific Island

Osaka, Japan, May 25.—(By A. P.)—Viscount Takaki Kato, former Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, blamed the Japanese Government for developments arising over the mandate to the island of Yap during a speech before a meeting of members of the Kensei Kai, or opposition party, here yesterday.

He said the government should have obtained the American viewpoint at Paris before final decision had been reached by the Supreme Council.

He said, however, that Japan should now insist upon her acquired rights, and should endeavor to settle the principles and the justice of the Government's policy toward Russia and China, declaring that Japan's failure to show proof of her just designs had been the cause of growing suspicion and hatred toward this country.

INFORMS COURT ON KISSING

Co-respondent in Divorce Suit Admits "Playful" Osculation

New York, May 25.—A great deal of interesting and perhaps important information about kissing and kisses developed yesterday during the cross-examination by New York authorities, in the Supreme Court at White Plains.

Wright is named as co-respondent in the divorce suit against Mrs. Dorothy E. Utz, a contractor of Westchester, against Mrs. Dorothy E. Utz.

"Did you ever kiss Mrs. Utz?" "Yes, I did," answered Wright.

"I don't remember," Wright answered, "but I did kiss her one day."

"That was a kiss that had no day after it," Wright testified.

"Kisses, you know."

"Well, how did you kiss Mrs. Utz?"

"If I kissed her at all," Wright said, "I kissed her playfully."

BOMB SUSPECT IDENTIFIED

Was Seen Standing Beside Death Wagon Before Explosion

Jersey City, May 26.—(By A. P.)—Giuseppe De Filippo, of Bayonne, charged with complicity in the West Street explosion, was formally identified today before United States Commissioner Hendrickson as one of three men seen standing beside the death wagon immediately before the blast.

The identification was made by Thomas J. Smith, New York insurance inspector.

Commissioner Hendrickson held De Filippo on the grounds of his identification, but said he would order the prisoner's release unless application for extradition were made within thirty days.

Ill Health Believed Cause of Young Woman's Act

Dependent over ill health, Elizabeth West, twenty-four years old, Sixty-third street near Race, took three poison tablets and drank a quantity of iodine at noon today in an attempt to end her life, the police report.

She is in the Misericordia Hospital in a serious condition.

The girl's mother heard her cries after taking the poison, went to the second floor and found her writhing on the floor. She called a pedestrian, who summoned the patrol of the Fifty-fifth and Pine streets, station to take her to the hospital.

Mrs. West said that police officer had been ill for several months.

SLAIN IN CHICAGO FEUD

19th Ward Saloonkeeper Meets Same Fate as His Political Chief

Chicago, May 25.—(By A. P.)—The 19th ward political feud toll today, police believe, when Michael Lazari, a saloon keeper, was shot down on the street.

Lazari, a lieutenant of Tony D'Andrea, Nineteenth Ward leader, who was murdered on the steps of his home recently, moved out of the ward just after that event to escape death threats.

Lazari had just parted from a friend when two men stepped up and fired five shots into his back.

Michael Hoizat, a saloon keeper, who detectives believe was in the vicinity of the shooting carrying a pistol, and several Negro witnesses were held.

TAXES MAY RISE, SMOOT SUGGESTS

Senator Declares There Will Be No Decrease for Several Years

HEARINGS END TOMORROW

By the Associated Press

Washington, May 25.—The possibility that taxes might be increased instead of decreased was suggested today by Senator Smoot, during Senate Finance Committee hearings.

Robert N. Miller, former solicitor of the Internal Revenue Bureau, was discussing changes in form of taxation, urging careful consideration as this might lead to reduced revenues.

Senator Smoot interrupted to say there was no possibility of decreased taxes for several years.

"On the contrary," he said, "they may be more."

Mr. Miller endorsed Secretary Mellon's tax proposals to Congress, with few exceptions. On that program, he said, the Government could compute its income accurately as it did not touch sources from which estimates of receipts were not readily available.

Unaudited tax returns for the years of 1917, 1918 and 1919 should produce something like $550,000,000, the witness stated.

At the close of the hearings today Chairman Penrose announced the committee had determined to conclude open hearings on tax revision tomorrow.

They began May 9.

A bill by Senator Jones for Federal construction of a Pacific cable to Astoria, Ore., was introduced this morning by the Commerce Committee today to a subcommittee composed of Senators Jones, Fernald, Edges, Fletcher and Landwell. Hearings are not planned and early action is expected.

SEEKS SON'S FRIENDS

Mother of Warren Decker Wants Girls at His Funeral

Mrs. Mary A. Decker, mother of Warren J. Decker, killed in the World War, whose body was brought over with the first consignment of war victims, is seeking three Philadelphia girls, friends of her son in France, to attend the funeral.

The young soldier was a member of Company D, 109th Infantry, and lost his life in France. His body is now in Hoboken and will be brought to the city for burial within a few weeks.

Senator Kenyon said the resolution was being pressed by both the Pennsylvania Senators, Sutherland and Ellinger by representatives of the mine unions by mine operators and by non-union men, and its adoption by the Senate was regarded as certain.

Union spokesmen informed Senator Kenyon today that they proposed to send a delegation to the hearing at Williamsport. About an equal number from the operators' side also is expected.

Senator Kenyon hoped to conclude the hearings in three or four days, and expressed belief today that the investigation would have a beneficial effect. A similar congressional inquiry did eight years ago in the Cabin Creek and Paint Creek mine disturbances.

Williamsport, Pa., May 26.—(By A. P.)—George Crum, who was wounded in the fight near Nolan, W. Va., last night when Private Kackley, West Virginia State police, and Private Manly, Virginia State police, had been shooting from the Kentucky side of the river. Captain Norvick and Lieutenant See to negotiate and accompany by five of his men that officer crossed the river into West Virginia. They were joined by detachment of State police and hastened down the river. About a mile from where they started the met four men whom they ordered to throw up their hands. The men promptly complied, and according to the authorities, a State policeman stepped forward and searched one of them who they later found was George Crum. At that moment the firing began and Trooper Kackley was shot dead. Almost the same instant Private Vaughan fell,
