

ALUMNAE VS. VARSITY. After the Alumnae Day procession at Bryn Mawr, yesterday morning, the basketball game was the big feature of the program. Ledger Photo Service

STICKING TO THE CLASS BANNER. Miss Elizabeth Taylor (left), president of the 1921 class at Bryn Mawr, and Miss Julia Peyton carry the weather-beaten 1921 banner in procession. Ledger Photo Service

A WINNER. Kimball, of the Germantown High School, went the longest distance in the broad jump at the senior meet yesterday. Ledger Photo Service

THE FIRST HEAT. Five contestants are shown in the 120-yard hurdle event, which was won by Chain, of the West Philadelphia High School. The photograph was taken on the Northeast field, during the senior high school meet. Ledger Photo Service

MISS ELIZABETH BECKER. She won first prize in the fancy diving event conducted by the Aberfoyle Co. at Chester. Ledger Photo Service

AT THE RACES. Mrs. Arturo de Heeren, Philadelphia; Mrs. Charles Amory, of Boston, and Mrs. John Wanamaker, Jr., of this city, snapped at Belmont Park, New York. Underwood & Underwood

ANOTHER GERMANTOWN WINNER. Shoemaker, of the Germantown High School, caught as he cleared the bar in the pole vault event. Ledger Photo Service

A FUTURE BOTANIST. Hannah Ziegler, at the Community Kindergarten, conducted by the St. Philip's Parish House, Forty-second street and Baltimore avenue. She was trimming the flower bush. Ledger Photo Service

GYMNASTIC STUNT. Miss Elizabeth Smith is being held up by Miss Anna Huhl. They are both members of the gymnasium class at the Temple University. Ledger Photo Service

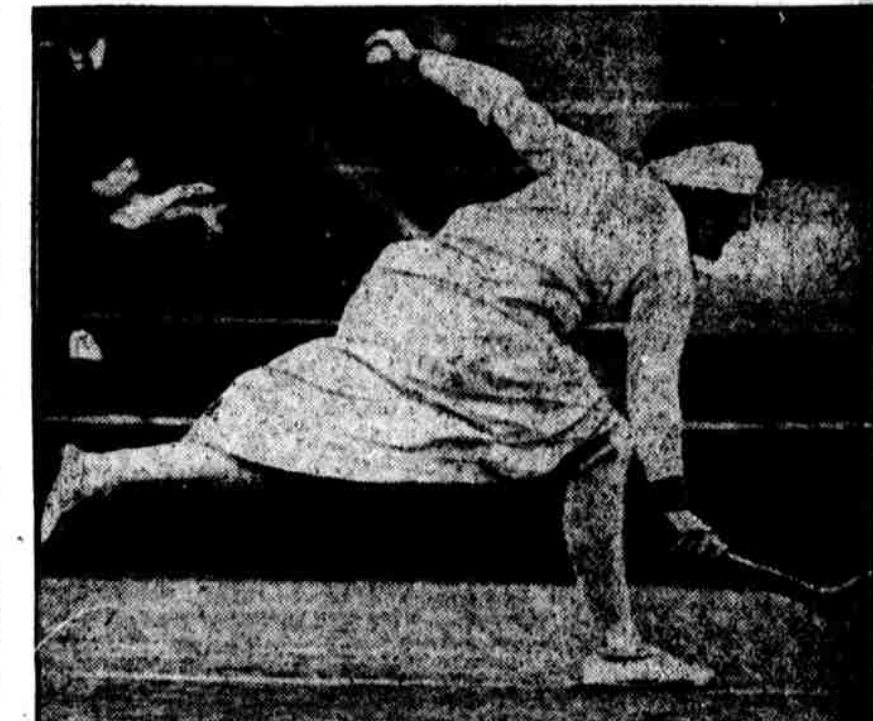

ONE OF THE MANY. Philadelphia ought to have the best paved streets in the world very soon, as much repair of streets is in progress. The camera caught Chestnut street west of Fifteenth street. Ledger Photo Service

A CLEVER DANCER. The pride of the neighborhood is little Anna Mae Fitzpatrick, 6512 Kingsessing avenue. Ledger Photo Service

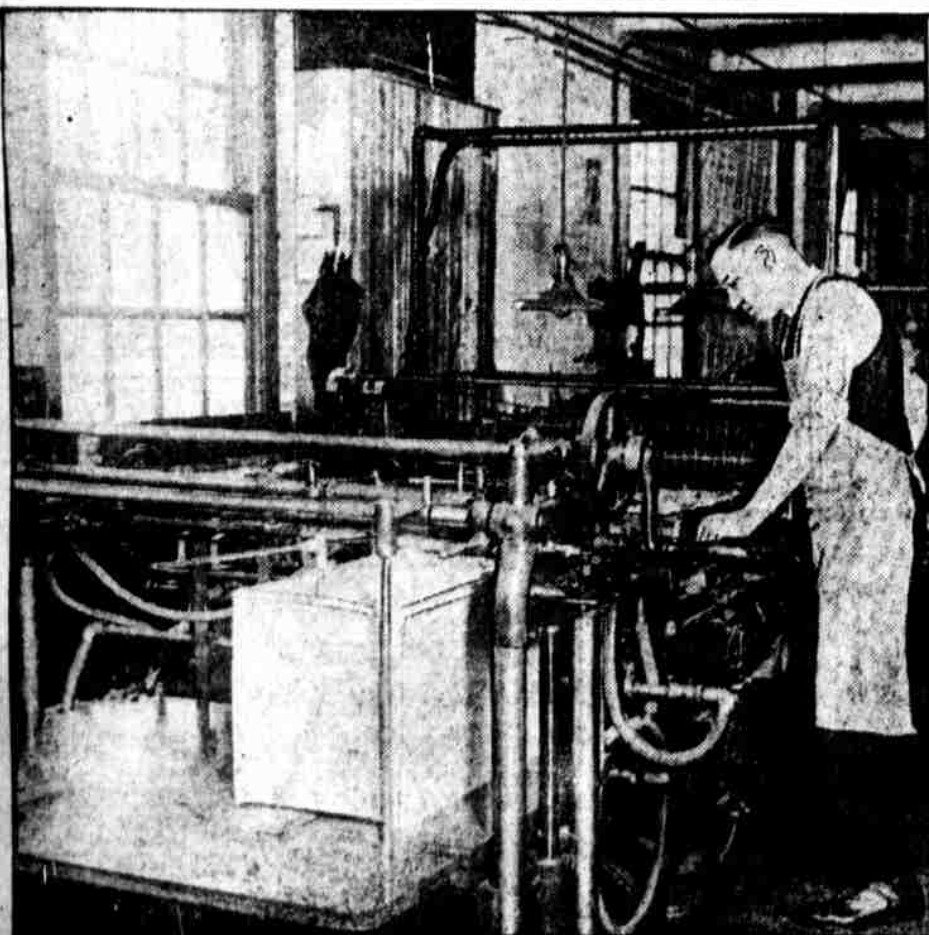

HUGH L. WILLOUGHBY talks on control of air traffic in an Editorial Page interview. Ledger Photo Service

PLAYING IN INTERNATIONAL MATCHES. In the tennis classics now being staged in France, Mile. Lenglen is making a wonderful showing. Central News Photo

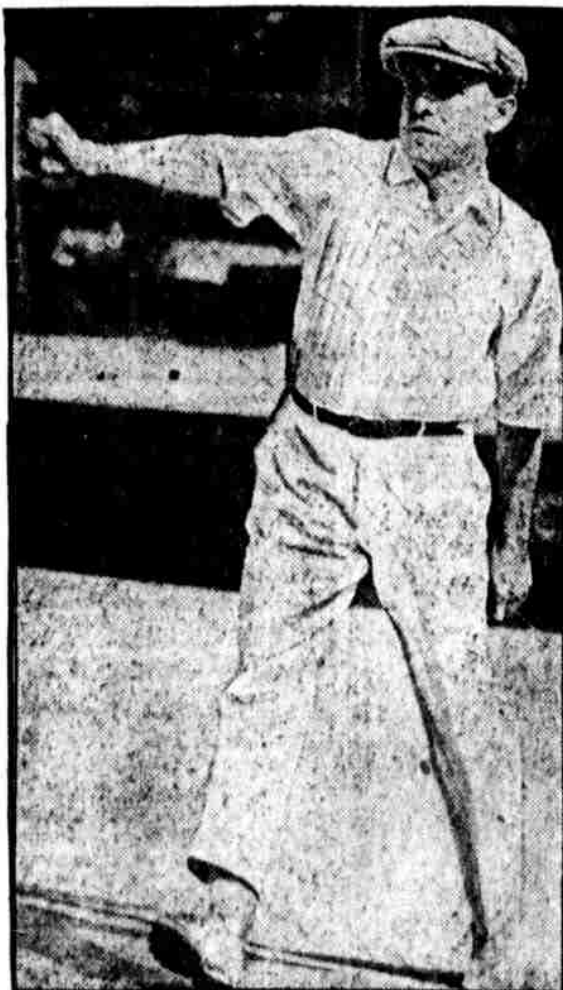

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

ALBERT JOSEPHS, 2116 South Carlisle street, operating ruling machine on loose-leaf work, at the rate of 3000 sheets an hour, at the stationery shop of A. Pomerantz & Co., 1525 Chestnut street. Ledger Photo Service

CLUB MATES IN TENNIS BATTLE. Wallace F. Johnson (left) and Carlton Schafer, both of the Cynwyd Tennis Club, played yesterday in the matches for the championship of the Philadelphia district. Ledger Photo Service

SEMAPHORE SENTINELS

RESERVE PATROLMAN EDWARD J. DUNN, at Broad street and Girard avenue, where he has been stationed since joining the police force, one year ago. He lives at 47 East Garfield street. Ledger Photo Service

WATCHING THE HORSES. Mrs. Charles de Loucy Oelrichs, a well-known New York society woman, at Belmont Park. Central News Photo

MISS ELISE DU PONT. She took part in the production of "H. M. S. Pinfore" at the Broad Street Theatre. Ledger Photo Service