

PEGGY WIRED LOVE TO OBTAIN $26,000

Joyce Cites Alleged Strategy Used by Wife to Get His Money

"AUNT" RESISTS PUBLICITY

Chicago, June 2.—Peggy Hopkins methods of wheedling money and jewelry from J. Stanley Joyce are described at length in his amended bill for annulment.

Peggy wished an emerald ring, PEGGY WIRED JOYCE, then in Chicago, as follows:

"I love you, PEGGY." The telegram was sent at noon December 2, 1919, followed twenty minutes later with another, as follows:

"The $12,000 ring is gone. They are holding the $26,000 ring for you, Love, PEGGY."

"She got the ring. In support of his contention that PEGGY's divorce decree was not signed when he married her January 23, 1920, Mr. Joyce alleged, in a telegram, to have been exchanged between William Klein, her attorney, and Peggy, then at Miami.

Mr. Klein is alleged to have wired the day before the marriage as follows:

"Divorce granted. Hearings, congratulations. WILLIAM KLEIN. She is said to have answered at once asking if she could marry next day, to which Klein responded, advising a delay. After the ceremony she wired:

"Married this morning before receiving wire. Stop. You told me I could the minute it was granted. Wire immediately, so I will not be worried, that everything is all right. HURRIEDLY, PEGGY JOYCE."

And then in a letter dated February 11 Mr. Klein is alleged to have written:

"I received a letter from counsel at Fort Worth reading as follows: 'We paid costs in this case and had the Judge sign the decree, and prevailed upon him to date it on the date the order was signed, so that if our client had been married the divorce would have been granted before her second marriage. With regards, WILLIAM KLEIN.'"

The last Peggy—I hope to have a copy of the decree for you in a few days, but you have no idea how hard it was to get the Judge to understand the question of residence. This was a very hard issue. WILLIAM KLEIN."

It is Mr. Joyce's contention that the marriage was illegal.

New York, June 2.—Mrs. Ida M. Smart, referred to in J. Stanley Joyce's suit as Peggy Hopkins' "stage aunt," has been found by a reporter.

Joyce alleged that his marriage was a result of a plot by Peggy and Mrs. Smart to marry him to Peggy for his money.

When asked of her travels with Peggy as "Aunt Ida," Mrs. Smart threw up her hands and said:

"My lawyers have advised me not to talk. I cannot say anything. I have already had enough trouble in this terrible affair without being dragged into newspapers."

"Of course, publicity means nothing to Mrs. Joyce, and she has no objection to the more people are talked about and however they are talked about the more glory they get out of it, so naturally they don't care."

Manufacturers to Advertise Benefit of Eating More Crackers

PLAN WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN

Atlantic City, June 2.—A whirlwind campaign to educate Americans to eat more crackers was definitely decided upon at the first session of the twenty-first annual convention of the Biscuit and Cracker Manufacturers' Association of America at the Traymore Hotel here today.

The sum of $300,000 was agreed upon as the amount to be expended the first year in the campaign of advertising, and the amount may be increased next year.

Chicago is favored as the location for next year's convention.

Brooks Morgan, of Atlanta, Ga., was re-elected president. Other officers are: Vice president and treasurer, A. P. Sirelmann, Cincinnati; secretary, Edward Griswold, New York.

Dr. David Vesson, of New York, of the Southern Cotton Oil Co., explained to the convention that through new refining methods a product has been found which could be used in summer as well as in cold weather by bakers.

He found that the use of oil in preference to animal fats in the kitchen was growing and that the output in 1919 was 400,000,000 barrels, while in 1920 it was only 70,000. Especially was it favored by that element which because of religious scruples, were opposed to the employment of animal fats in food preparation.

Stanley G. Cook, of Chicago, secretary of the new bureau for the technical examination of ingredients entering into the making of the products, reported that 504 tests had been made with the result that many improvements had resulted from his findings and that the industry as a whole was better standardized than before the bureau was authorized last year.

The investigation included the chemical analysis of all ingredients, examination of formulas and co-operation with the dealers in improving supplies.

The bureau also made investigations upon request of the members.

Dr. Altonio E. Taylor, professor of physiological chemistry of the University of Pennsylvania, recognized leader in food research work, discussed with the delegates the food values of cereals in the diet and referred to the better knowledge which had been discovered through investigation with the result of increased national health.

"Conditions on the other side, are, it seems to me, distinctly on the mend," he said.

On the continent, Mr. Lamont found steady progress in industry and agriculture. During the last year, he said, France, Italy and Belgium had made great strides. Dismissing political conditions, he said:

"Much has been said as to France's uncompromising attitude on reparations, etc., but I want to say that the members of her Government and men of affairs generally impressed me as moderate and reasonable in their views. The fact that the United States Government is represented in the councils of the Allies has been very heartening to all Europe."

Mr. Lamont also reported as a slacker, served with the Canadian forces and was invalided home from a southern camp after being kicked by a mule.
