

LARGEST ACTUAL CASH FOR FAIR RECEIVED
Five $10 Subscriptions for Sesqui-centennial Shows Beginning of Interest in Plan

MAYORS AMONG THEM

The first actual money to further plans for the Sesqui-centennial celebration here in 1926 has been received in the form of five $10 subscriptions, according to a statement issued at the residence of the mayor today.

Mayor Moore and John Frederick Jarvis, president of the A. G. C. of P., were the first to contribute to the fund.

The Mayor said the treasurer would be able to get out the preliminary bills for those who had already agreed to become members of the association for several days, but the membership campaign would soon be on in earnest.

It is proposed to issue engraved certificates of membership, which will be framed as evidence of patriotic interest in the great enterprise.

The Mayor further stated that in accordance with the action of the Board of Directors, taken on Friday last, John W. Wananaker will be given the privilege of selecting his own committee.

Mr. Wananaker will be given the privilege of selecting his own committee, and the Mayor further stated that the $50 in hand this morning for the five $10 subscriptions was the first real money available for the purposes of the Sesqui-centennial and helped to explain why the project had not been started earlier.

He said it would take money to run the enterprise and that it was now proposed to ask the members to bring in their cash to back up their professions.

He insisted that the membership proposition be adopted under the strange world conditions now prevailing.

"We will soon know, he said, whether the people are ready to support the Sesqui-centennial enterprise or whether they want Philadelphia to fall down."

GIRLS HAVE TRIPLE SHOWER
Deputy Internal Revenue Collectors Are Soon to Be Wedded

A triple wedding shower was given last night to three deputy internal revenue collectors by the members of the Philadelphia chapter of the A. G. C. of P.

The recipients were Miss Vera M. Wadsworth, Miss Helen Moulthrop, chief deputy assistant to Collector Lederer.

The ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Helen Moulthrop, chief deputy assistant to Collector Lederer.

Other deputy internal revenue collectors who were present included the Misses Mary Bloomer, Elizabeth Calhoun, Lillian Burke and Roberta Crawford.

JEWES PLAN MEMORIAL

Brith Shalom in Convention Urges Building Hospital in Palestine
Atlantic City, June 6.—Final action will be taken today by the 256 delegates to the convention of the Independent Order, Brith Shalom, meeting on the Steel Pier, upon the plan to invite all Jewish organizations in the United States to unite in giving a great war memorial to Palestine.

According to Joseph Gross, of Philadelphia, who made the original proposal, endorsed by Hiram Maximilian of Philadelphia, the memorial is to be a tribute to the allied soldiers of all faiths who made a free Palestine possible during the war.

It is suggested that it be a great hospital, or a fine road traversing Palestine, or something of similar character. Joseph L. Kun, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, will report the matter tomorrow.

The order is sixteen years old, and was organized in Philadelphia. There are two strong candidates for the position of grand master, Solomon C. Kraus and B. F. Miller, both of Philadelphia. The convention closes tomorrow.

TELLS POLICE A THRILLER

Man Says He Routed Two Thugs in Brother's Room
George Tinkelman, twenty-five years old, 507 Spruce street, entered the Philadelphia and Locust streets station at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and told the house sergeant he had just disarmed and routed two robbers he discovered in his brother's room on the third floor of a building at 1020 Walnut street.

He said he was passing the building at 9 o'clock and noticed the door had been opened. According to his story, he hurried up to his brother's room just as the two robbers were leaving.

"They threatened to kill him if he made any noise," he said, "and one struck him on the head with a .44-caliber revolver. He then took the revolver from the robber. The two intruders ran down the stairs and escaped."

The man's brother is Bernard Tinkelman. The police are investigating the story.

POLICE SEEK CHILD

Matilda Russo, Age Seven, Disappears From Home in Moorestown
New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania police are searching for Matilda Russo, seven years old, who disappeared from her home, 115 East Second street, Moorestown, N. J., Saturday evening. The girl's disappearance was not reported to Chief Bradshaw, of the Moorestown police, until yesterday noon.

No reason for the girl's vanishing was given by the police last night. The father is an Italian tailor, with a shop on Main street, Moorestown. The home of the family is near the Pennsylvania Railroad station, and it is thought perhaps the girl boarded a train. She is rather large for her age, has black tangled hair, and at the time of her disappearance wore a pink pinafore and black shoes and stockings.

WARD ELECTIONS WILL BE PEACEFUL

Only One Contest Forecast for Meetings Tonight—Vares to Control

GRIER FACES FIGHT

There are indications of only one contest when Republican ward committees throughout the city meet tonight to elect members to the City Committee. Tonight's meeting will mark the reopening of political activities which will continue until the September primary. Another important preparatory step will be taken when the Republican City Committee meets at Eleventh and Chestnut streets Wednesday or Thursday.

The only fight anticipated is in the Eighteenth ward, which is now represented by Robert Grier, a real estate assessor and Penrose supporter.

Councilman Isaac Hotzell, Vares leader of the ward, has been groomed as a candidate for this place, and his supporters say unless there is a surprise he will win. As Grier is a receptive candidate for the postmaster-ship, his friends are anxious for him to make a strong showing and believe that he will be re-elected.

Vares adherents are desirous of placing their step into the hands of the Council vote at all times.

There were rumors that a fight would be made to unseat Councilman George Connell, of the Fourteenth ward, Jacob Engle, Vares follower, was mentioned as being a formidable opponent, but there is little likelihood of his losing his seat.

Re-election of the present officers of the City Committee, with Thomas F. Watson as chairman, is assured. Added interest is given the meeting of the committee by the presence of Senator Pearson. The Senator, it is said, will have more than a casual interest in the proceedings.

The committee meeting will be held on Wednesday at 10 A. M. in its headquarters, Eleventh and Chestnut streets. Vares leaders say the re-election of Thomas F. Watson as chairman is assured. They claim forty-two of the forty-eight votes.

Think Boy Thief May Be in Asbury Park, Bound for New York
Detectives are now searching Asbury Park, N. J., and New York City for Charles H. Hoffman, the boy who has twice absconded with funds entrusted to his care. A clue from Toms River, N. J., has led the police to believe the youngster is making his way to New York. Plans to make such a good time on the first money he got illegally.

The Municipal Court got the tip that the boy was in Toms River and sent Detectives to make a search. Garvin learned a boy answering Hoffman's description had been there last Thursday trying to persuade passing motorists to give him a ride to New York. A thorough search of the little town failed to bring the boy to light and the supposition is now that he succeeded in getting his ride. Whether he left the car at Asbury Park or some other spot along the route is a matter that is being investigated.

THREATEN GIRL'S ASSAILANT

Wynwood Crowd Tries to Lynch Man Arrested for Attack
A crowd of infuriated men yesterday threatened to lynch Robert Anderson, twenty-six years old, no home, after he had been arrested at Wynwood for an attempted assault on a sixteen-year-old girl.

Mildred Howell, Montgomery avenue, Haverford, and Florence Hutchinson, fifteen years old, Wynwood avenue and Argyle road, Wynwood, were walking through the woods on the Isaac H. Clothier estate with Ralph Pettit, fourteen years old, 129 Grandview avenue, Ardmore.

A man suddenly leaped from the dense underbrush and knocked Miss Howell down. Her boy companion, realizing he could not cope with the assailant, ran off for help, while Miss Hutchinson stood by, screaming.

The boy notified Charles Hutchinson, father of the dinner girl, who summoned Lower Merion police. Sergeant Mullin and a detail surrounded the woods, as did a crowd of citizens. Anderson was caught and was later identified by the girls.

The police had to draw revolvers to keep the crowd away from Anderson. The accused man was held without bail for court at a hearing in Ardmore today. Police say he has served three sentences for the same offense.

WAR ON UNMUZZLED DOGS

Delaware Co. Starts Drive to Prevent Spread of Rabies
A campaign against unmuzzled and unleashed dogs has been started in Delaware County to prevent the spread of rabies. A number of persons have been bitten during the last few weeks by dogs said to be suffering from the disease.

Re-election of the present officers of the City Committee, with Thomas F. Watson as chairman, is assured. Added interest is given the meeting of the committee by the presence of Senator Pearson. The Senator, it is said, will have more than a casual interest in the proceedings.

GIRL AND WOMAN ALLEGED SUICIDES

One Dies by Shooting—Other Takes Poison After Scolding

AGED MOTHER PROSTRATED

Two women are alleged to have committed suicide yesterday—one on returning from church services, the other after she had spent the day on a river excursion with her sweetheart.

Miss Jennie Mowat, forty-four years old, 1441 Dickinson street, killed herself by shooting, using a small-caliber automatic which she kept for self-protection.

No reason has been ascertained for Miss Mowat's act. According to her mother, Mrs. Marie Mowat, seventy years old, she had returned at 1 o'clock in the afternoon from church services.

"I'm going to my room to lie down awhile," she told her mother. The mother thought nothing of it, though the daughter did not reappear.

At 6 o'clock John Mowat, the father, returned home, after having visited a granddaughter, who is ill in a hospital. "Call Jennie," he said to his wife, "and we'll have supper."

Mrs. Mowat went to the girl's room and received no answer to her knock. She entered and found the girl on her bed, the pistol near her. She was dead. Mrs. Mowat is somewhat deaf and was alone in the house all the afternoon. She heard no shot and does not know at what time her daughter committed suicide.

Miss Ethel Copland, seventeen years old, 391 North Thirtieth street, the second suicide, killed herself after a day's outing on the river with her sweetheart, Herbert Nitch, of Delaware City.

She returned at 7 o'clock last night after a boat trip and told her sister, Miss Ella Copland, that she and Nitch had quarreled.

"I am going to end my life," she said. The sister argued with her and thought the girl merely was depressed and would not carry out her threat.

Ethel went to her room and some time later the sister heard a heavy fall. She rushed upstairs and found that Ethel had taken poison and had fallen from the third floor stair landing to the second.

The girl was taken to the Haberman Hospital, but was dead when the police carried her into the accident ward.

Advertising vs. Publicity

Publicity may convey information admirably and still fall short of good advertising. Publicity is usually narrative, while advertising, in addition, carries the word of command.

The news item in this morning's paper announced a parade, a launching, or the coming of a heat wave. An advertisement of the same event would give the same information plus a direct invitation for you to attend; box-office prices; connecting train schedule and, perhaps—the assortment of hot-weather garments to be had at Blank & Company's.

More people read "Publicity"—more people act in response to advertising. The most primitive advertising proves best the "law of mental domination," for the unsupported command to "Buy Blank's Biscuits" alone, but oft repeated, has in many cases compelled a national following.

Advertising space in the Butterick publications is for sale by accredited advertising agencies.
