

MAN SHOT RUNNING FROM PATROLMAN

Theft Suspect Tries to Escape Officer on Way to Station. May Die

FOUND OUTSIDE GARAGE

Benjamin Fogelman, known to the police also as Benny Harris, was shot, perhaps fatally, early today while running from a patrolman who had arrested him as a suspicious person. The shooting occurred at Twelfth and Jefferson streets.

Fogelman, who lives on Franklin street near Green, was observed at Fawn and Oxford streets at 3:30 o'clock this morning by Patrolman John Doyle, of the Eighth and Jefferson streets station. Doyle walked along his beat, but retreated his steps and said he saw Fogelman closing the door of the garage at 1613 North Fawn street. A two-ton motor truck, owned by F. T. Fisher, 1612 North Twelfth street, had been pushed to the street.

The patrolman ran up and told Fogelman he was under arrest. The suspect professed astonishment and claimed he had been given permission to use the truck. Doyle ordered him to drive to the station house.

Twice before reaching Twelfth and Jefferson streets, with Doyle heading on the driver's seat, Fogelman stalled the engine, each time jumping off to crank it again. The third time he ran instead of returning to the seat. Doyle leaped from the truck and followed. He fired in the air when the fugitive failed to halt. When Fogelman again ignored the command Doyle fired at him, the bullet plunging into the fugitive's left side.

Fogelman was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. He made an ante-mortem state to Magistrate Imber, but refused to sign it. Police say Fogelman has been arrested a number of times.

Two Kinds of Insanity.

If a safe-builder began to put wooden doors in fireproof safes, a padded ambulance would quickly call and take him to Kirkbride's. Yet every day wooden roofs are put on brick houses, and still the builders are allowed to roam at large without caretakers.

No matter what your house is built of, be sure that the roof is covered with tin; for tin roofs not only prevent fires, but often stop them after they are started.

Tin makes the best and cheapest of all roofs, if you get the right tin. Ask any roofer to name the best brands. If he mentions NU-DURA-TIN, you're safe!

FALSE ALARM IS FOLLOWED BY CRASHES; HURTS, ARREST

Truck, Hit by Auto, Loses Driver and Wrecks Both Cars. Firemen Have Narrow Escape

A false alarm turned in for a supposed fire at the Poor Richard Club, 230 Camac street, was responsible this morning for an auto wreck, a severe injury to one man, arrest for another, a hair-raising escape from almost certain death and a smashed doorstep.

A maid in the Poor Richard Club, Anna Anderson, lighted a fire in a stove that had not been used for some time and at 8:30 this morning the building was full of smoke. A passerby turned in an alarm and four fire companies responded.

In the meantime Charles Denny, 1230 North Sartain street, was driving a truck for the American Express Co. east on Spruce street, while Ellis Grossenrur, thirty-three, 1322 St. Albans street, was driving his touring car north on Juniper street, just south of Spruce. Denny heard the fire engines coming behind him and swung over to the right at Juniper street to avoid them, just in time to be struck broadside by Grossenrur's machine. The shock threw Denny into the street directly in front of the flying apparatus.

Although severely injured, the expressman started to crawl to safety, the driver of the leading engine tried to swing the heavy truck away from the injured man. It missed him by inches. In the meantime Denny's truck, driverless, continued along Spruce street, pushing Grossenrur's machine in front of it. In the rear of the express truck was Jake Rosenfeld, Denny's helper, powerless to do anything on account of the wire screen which separated him from the driver's seat. After going about fifty feet the cars crashed into a stone step at 1315 Spruce street and demolished it.

Fire Chief Davis picked up Denny and took him to the Jefferson Hospital in his car. Here he was found to have a possible fracture of the hip and severe body bruises. Police from the Fifteenth and Locust streets station arrested Grossenrur on a charge of assault and battery with an automobile.

DIDN'T LIKE GREEK DANCES

Residents Object to Terpischorean Performance of Four Boys

Four boys, who were doing some classical Greek dances along the Wisconsin Creek near Germantown avenue and City Line yesterday afternoon, were suddenly reminded that they were not in a Grecian amphitheatre or the Garden of Eden.

A twentieth century patrol wagon from the Germantown avenue and Haines street station rudely interrupted their interpretations of the gambols of the fawns, and the music of a mouth organ and flute, in lieu of the pipes of Pan, ceased abruptly.

Nearly a dozen, strangely wanting in appreciation of the esthetic, had summoned the patrolmen. The four boys were placed in the patrol, where they donned their street clothes. Magistrate Pennock this morning discharged them.

The boys are Edward Cholerton, Hilder street near Stenton avenue; Charles Witt, Highland avenue; Miles Maher, Ardleigh street near City line, and Charles Brood, also of Ardleigh street near City line. The boys are sixteen years old.

TWO ARE RESCUED AS CANOE UPSETS

Man and Woman Thrown Into Water Above Fairmount Dam Have Narrow Escape

SAVED BY BOAT CREWS

Prompt work by canoeists and oarsmen from the boat clubs above Fairmount dam in the Schuylkill River saved the lives of two canoeists who upset late yesterday afternoon.

The canoeists were Claire Wiener, twenty years old, 3830 Girard avenue, and Albert Rose, 1750 Frankford avenue. They were paddling along in one canoe, while another held Fay, Miss Wiener's sister, and John Lassazay, 3828 Girard avenue.

A sudden shift by one of the canoeists upset the craft in which Claire Wiener and Rose were paddling. After a brief struggle they got hold of opposite sides of the capsized boat and called to Lassazay for assistance.

Fay Wiener, when she saw the peril of her sister, became hysterical. She tried to jump from the canoe and Lassazay was obliged to drag her down to the bottom of the canoe, and hold her there. The boat was in imminent danger of being upset, and Lassazay was powerless to help the two who were struggling in the water.

Meanwhile Miss Wiener was thoroughly chilled, and Rose saw she could not be kept up much longer. He kept calling for help, and his cries, added to the screams of Fay Wiener, attracted the attention of persons along the bank and oarsmen in the boat clubs were notified.

Boats Put Out to Rescue

A number of boats put out from the shore and two canoes reached Claire Wiener and Rose in time to support them in the water until rowboats could reach the spot and drag them aboard. Rose was none the worse for his experience, but Miss Wiener was in a serious condition. She was taken into one of the boat clubs, where first aid was administered. A physician was summoned. He worked over the girl for hours, and this morning reported she was out of danger.

WOMAN IS NAMED GRAND JURY HEAD

Miss Frances Broomall, Thornbury, First of Sex in Penna. to Be So Honored

200 BILLS OF INDICTMENT

Miss Frances Broomall, of Thornbury Township, was appointed foreman of the Delaware County Grand Jury today by Judge William Broomall, a distant relative. She is said to be the first woman in Pennsylvania to receive the honor.

The Grand Jury met at Media to pass on about 200 bills of indictment. The Judge named David W. Stewart, of Haverford Township, as secretary of the jury.

Mrs. Margaret Shea, of Chester, who was summoned for service on the Grand Jury, arrived late in the courthouse. She was rebuked by the Judge and excused from service.

Matthew Randall, a lawyer, who lives in Wayne and practices in this city, asked the Court to excuse Mrs. Frances Randall, his wife. Mrs. Randall was excused after she had explained she has no servants and does all her own housework.

The members of the Grand Jury, after considering bills of indictment, will go to various points in the county and make recommendations for bridge sites.

The County Commissioners have appointed the Court for permission to erect new bridges. The Court will examine the jurors to inspect the county bridges and to include recommendations concerning them in its official report.

The Grand Jury also will report on the petition made by residents of Campbell's Bank, a village adjacent to the Borough of Clifton Heights. The residents want the village annexed to the borough.

Wanamaker & Brown

Today at Oak Hall an Old-Time June Sale of 3000 Summer Suits

IT was launched this morning when the store doors opened—and these particulars will convince you that never has there been such a sale as this in Philadelphia since the first gun was fired in the World War.

Read These Figures Carefully—They're Investments

$25 and $30 suits for $18.50	$40 and $45 suits for $30.00
$30 and $35 suits for $22.50	$50 and $55 suits for $35.00
$35 and $40 suits for $25.00	$65 to $75 suits for $39.50

NEVER do these figures neglect the stout man who always finds it difficult to get pure worsted suits, in quiet patterns that he likes at a reasonable figure.

THERE are blue serges, in extra sizes, selected mixed worsteds, fine striped worsteds, oxford grays, Oak Hall quality, Oak Hall tailored—sizes clear up to 48" breast measure.

THREE thousand suits are a great many to offer in a single sale. We are certain you will find it impossible to match this wonderful variety of flannels, standard blue serges, sport suits in tweeds, gray and brown herringbones, checks, stripes, and tropical-weight all-wool worsteds, anywhere in Philadelphia, at anything approaching the prices quoted.

There are five hundred standard blue serge suits, with extra trousers—at $35

There are hundreds of new light-weight woolens with extra trousers, as low as $25.00

Truly an unprecedented occasion in the clothing annals of Philadelphia

Don't delay your visit—the fore-handed man will make it a point to visit the store before noon and partake of first choice—which is always best.
