cain Halts Game Between A's and White Sox, but Not Until Bill Gleason Gets Chest of Silver

Members of William Gleason Admiration Society Present White Sox Pilot With Table Tools After Umpires Declare No Contest-Cellar Series Resumed Today

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

ALL was serene and quiet at Shibe Park yesterday afternoon. No home runs were made, no outfielders took strenuous exercise, no ball game was and none of the sunfish in the left-field stands was beaned by flying pellets. perfectly good ball clubs, representing the seventh and eighth places in the great and only American League, were idle because they had nothing else They were all dressed up with no place to play. A gentle, clinging in dripped over the landscape, and Messrs. Chill and Owens, the brave, trepid umpires, decided it was entirely too inclement to do any pastiming. This is one ruling that wasn't questioned.

The crowd-both of them-felt disappointed. They had come to the ball rame for a purpose, and a serious one. Harry Marks, the well-known sleuth Reading, had taken off the false spinach and sat right there in the open. He had a lot to do and decided to do it. Mr. Marks represented the William Gleason Admiration Society of Philadelphia, Pa., an organization which is quite popular and does much admiring. He and the other half of the crowd attended to pay homage to the founder and namesake of the lodge.

"Rain or no rain, this act goes on," muttered Mr. Marks to his audience. "Wet weather don't mean nothing to me and I gotta start something." While the announcer shouled the latest ruling of Messrs. Chill and Owens,

Mr. Marks was climbing down from the stand and headed toward the playing field "Hey, don't go yet !" he shouled to the White Sox players. "I got something here and I gotta give it away !"

The procession stopped and then marched toward the home plate. Something was to be given away and, rain or no rain, the place to stage the presentation was the home platter. A few members of the Athletics were ressed into service to help swell the mob and give the scene some local color. Then, when everybody was all set, Mr. Marks looked for Kid Glenson.

'Here," he said through a spokesman. "here is something I have got for m. It is presented by the William Gleason Admiration Society. Inc., and ron gotta take it whether you want it or not. You might not need the forks, but there's a lot of knives and spoons."

ND William Kid Gleason, resident of Philadelphia, Pa., and A manager of what is left of the Chicago White Sox, staggered off the held loaded down with a chest of silver, and forgot all about the thrilling battle for eighth place where only the loner can win.

White Sox Will Furnish Keen Competition

THE fans are glad to see the Chiengo club on this visit. Gleason's club is a something similar to our own A's, inasmuch as they have made just as good a showing on the Eastern trip. They captured one out of the four games Washington while the Athletics were swiping one of the four games from Detroit. If this doesn't make them about even, then there wasn't a parade of the L O. O. F. yesterday.

Therefore, when two evenly matched ball clubs, each of which has occupied the cellar this year, collide in a flock of championship games, those games abouid be intensely interesting. The White Sox have won eighteen contests thus far, against sixteen for the A's. However, the Mackmen have the itors trimmed when it comes to losing. They made a worse record, dropng thirty batties against twenty-seven for the Sox. Furthermore, the Athletics lead the league in lost games.

Before the series ends the fans will have an opportunity of seeing two of most unique runners in baseball in action. Earl Sheely, the giant first baseman toiling for Gleason, is said to be the slowest runner in the world. Tula is doubted by our local heroes, who believe Bryan Harris deserves the nor. Bryan can reach first base on any three-base hit, and it is doubtful If Sheely is worse than that. Anyway, it will be well worth the price of adission when the asphalt pressers get into action.

The White Sox are here with a patched-up line-up, looking torn and ragged, only a shadow of their former selves. Of the great championship ball b one of the best that ever spiked a diamond, only four remain. They are Ray Schalk, Eddie Collins, Dick Kerr and Urban Faber. The outfield is new, with Harry Hooper, Strunk, Mostil and Falk out there. Ernie Johnson is at short, Red Mulligan at third and Sheely at first. Gandil, Weaver, Risberg, McMullin, Jackson, Felsch, Cicotte and Williams are training to perform store a specially selected audience of twelve good men and true in the jury box, with a judge as umpire.

Building a ball club out of nothing has been a great task, but Gleason parently has done it. The loss of eight star players is enough to wreck alf a dozen hall clubs, but it never feazed the Kid. He used Collins as a nucleus is the infield, Harry Hooper in the outfield. Faber and Kerr in the hox and Ray Schalk behind the bat. "The ball club isn't so bad." and Gleason before receiving the silverware.

In Again—Out Again—In Again—Donovan

OUR Phils took another flop yesterday in Chicago, losing with little difficulty to the Cubs. While this was going on the Cincinnati Reds reversed the dope and socked the New York Giants for a loop, thus increasing the distance between them and the cool, moist cellar.

The only redeeming feature of the Windy City disaster was a home run for Irish Meusel, which meant nothing, except boost the local slugger into the lead in the National Clouting League. The wallop came in the fifth inning made the score closer. The Phils will remain in Chicago three more days, and Johnny Evers is sore because they can't stay all season.

Boston's Braves, still going like a house afire, took a fall out of Pittsburgh. which was not so serious, as the Giants also lost. This boosts the Braves into third place, as Brooklyn finished second in St. Lose.

Cleviand suffered another reverse, the Yankees scoring an easy victory. The Indians are not in the best of shape, with Speaker barely able to play and O'Nelll on the injured list. Steve has been seriously injured. The middle finger of his throwing hand has been fractured in three places, and it will keep him out of the picture for more than a month. O'Neill is a valuable man and his absence is keenly felt. Nunamaker is not in the best of shape, and that leaves Thomas and Art Wilson to do the catching.

CLEVELAND certainly is a hard luck ball club. Last year Chap-man was killed, and this year Wambsganss, Lunte, O'Neill, Nunamaker and Speaker have been injured. You can't beat that for tough breaks.

Weinert Wants to Be Reinstated

"HARLES "RED" WEINERT, former pitcher for the Phils, who was handed a five-year vacation by Judge Landis recently, believes he has not been treated fairly and wants to have his case taken up again.

According to Weinert, he was traded to the Syracuse club in the Interintional League last year and spent just two hours in that town. He signed no contract up there and came home. Afterward he played on the l'pland team with Frank Baker. At the end of the season he was returned to the Phils and went South for spring practice. After pitching a few contests he was canned.

Weinert signed a contract last year when he was a minor. He was twenty-one years old on April 21 of this year, and he believes Judge Landis still give him a hearing. In the meantime Red is pitching for Parkesburg, a perfectly good team recognized by Organized Baseball.
