Setting Forth the Best of Tomorrow's Good News at Wanamaker's

"I Have Finished My Education," She Said
And so did almost all the young ladies fresh from boarding school. Some have probably framed their diplomas and hung them on the walls of their sitting rooms or bedrooms.

While it is true that a woman educated in any one of the excellent schools for women is better qualified to begin her life work, she has much to do and to learn to fit her mind and body to do herself justice in beginning her business education.

Let her rejoice that she has been wisely emancipated from the old prejudices and customs and that she is free to take her place, and sure of a fair chance to make her way, in the business world.

[Signed] John Wanamaker

Young Women's Sleeveless Sports Dresses of Linen, $9.50

The sleeveless slip-on dress is at its best in linen. Slip on a sheer blouse underneath, and there you have a comfortable, pretty dress, whose sleeves and collar can be changed daily.

These at $9.50 are very attractive. The linen is good quality. The colors are brown, rose, green, delft and white. The style, a most becoming straight-line model with large pockets, V neck and narrow white kid belt.

Very attractive NEW KNITTED DRESSES are also newcomers. White, with collar and cuffs of blue or jade brushed wool; or black, with white collars and cuffs. Extremely becoming and ever so useful for seashore, mountain and steamer wear. These are $22.50.

Sizes in both linen and knitted wool dresses include 14 to 20.

Anywhere But on the Water You'll Likely Find Dust

So the experienced woman traveler takes no chances, but provides herself with a duster of some kind beforehand. For motoring trips such a garment is almost indispensable.

Linen capes, long and very full for greater protection, are $3.75. Linen coats, $4.50, $5.75 and $14.50.

Other good dust coats in linen, mohair-and-linen and silk pongee, up to $47.50.
(First Floor, Central)

A Clearing Away of Parisienne Corsets

is eagerly looked for by women who know how seldom such a thing is possible.

This clearing away has in it about fifteen discontinued models, made of broche, satin, tricot, batiste, and satin-finished coutil. Necessarily the sizes in each model are broken, but there is a pretty wide choice all told and the prices—$5.50 to $15—are a third and a half less than regular.

(Third Floor, Chestnut)

White Silk Skirts Are Favorites Above All Others

There is a very good reason why it should be so, for women wear them so much with silk sweaters.

Two of the prettiest styles among a great many are: A fine crepe de chine, knife and box pleated, with a girde and double sash ends finished in silk fringe. This is $22.50.

And a beautiful heavy Canton crepe with long, loose side panels. This knife pleated and has a deep girde. This is $25.

We have just had new shipments of both these good styles, and there are now all sizes.
(First Floor, Central)

Something New—the Blouse-Sweater

It is made of silk jersey, cut rather long below the waist and with elbow-length sleeves; and it has cuffs, collar and vest—all detachable—of white organdie bound with colored checks. In this stage it is a blouse; remove the cuffs, collar and vest and it becomes a sweater.

The colors are navy, Copenhagen, bisque, rouge, white and black; the price is $12.
(Third Floor, Central)

Prettiest Summertime Frocks for Tiny Girls Arrive

Ginghams in bright checks for mornings; cool little dimities, lawns and voiles in most charming new styles for afternoon. You could choose and choose and still there are more of these fascinating little frocks to look at.

The prices, too, are temptingly moderate—from $2.50 to $6.75 on the colored dresses, and in the finer white lawns and dotted Swisses up to $12.75. The latter is one of the daintiest in the entire collection; it is made of imported dotted Swiss with touches of pink or blue lawn for color. It would do nicely for a party.

Sizes go from 2 to 6 years.
(Third Floor, Chestnut)

Women's Silk Stockings, $1.50 a Pair

3500 pair of full-fashioned black and white stockings, some silk to the top, others silk with cotton tops and soles. Also some of the latter in shoe shades.

Chiefly first-quality goods, but some "seconds," all greatly under-priced.
(West Aisle)

Long White Petticoats

These are of more consequence the closer the season of sheer white dresses approaches.

Here are styles with cambrie tops and embroidery flounces at $2.50 and $3.85.

Others with cambrie tops and 3-trimmed flounces are $1.50, $2.25, $5 and $5.50.
(Third Floor, Central)

Inexpensive Handbags of Good Silk

There are bags with metal frames, covered frames with metal ends, shell-finish celluloid frames and carved celluloid frames in bright colors.

(Main Floor, Chestnut)

Women's Organdie Dresses Like a Flower Garden

Crisp and translucent and so charming in their flowery colors—their rose and mauve and sunset yellow, their peach and ecrú and turquoise tints, not to mention white combined with soberer hues, such as blue. Sometimes the bodies of the frocks are white and the skirts colored, with an echo of color in the girdeles composed of organdie flowers. Prettiest of all are the dresses made from imported organdie robes, with lovely designs in the fashionable eyelet.

It is surprising to find the price tags on such pretty dresses reading only $15 to $50.
(First Floor, Central)

are numerous. They like to pick up just the jaunty shape that is most becoming, carry it to the flower and feather section, or the ribbon counter, and trim it to their own good ideas.

This is a favorite store for them. Pretty hats, untrimmed, from $1.50 up. Wreaths and flowers of every sort, feather fantasies, and other trimmings, but a step away. The evolution of a smart hat is thus but a few moments' effort, and quite inexpensive.
(Second Floor, Chestnut)

A Very Good Electric Vacuum Cleaner at a Ten-Dollar Saving

A ten-dollar bill may not be much, but everybody admits it is worth saving in these times.

And no one appreciates this more than the woman who is looking for a moderately priced vacuum cleaner. Every dollar she saves in running the household is indeed a dollar earned.

The smallest of our electric vacuum cleaners is the one we usually recommend for apartment and small-house use.

It is amply adequate to do the cleaning required for such homes, whereas a larger, heavier one is required for larger houses.

This Cleaner Is the King

It is a fine little vacuum cleaner, thoroughly efficient, easily used, and durably constructed. It will answer all the cleaning needs of the mistress of a small home.
(Fourth Floor, Central)

And its price for this month of June is but $35—which is less than its usual price by just that ten-dollar bill we were talking of.

Will it not pay you to see it and learn from us its exact points of advantage?

Other electric cleaners for those who need larger ones.

Melody vs. "Jazz"

Word comes that "jazz" music is dying out. It is agreeable news.

Dealers in sheet music and theatrical managers who keep their ears to the ground say the public is fast growing tired of syncopation and of the weird new tunes that suggest aboriginal tom-toms.

It may be there was a reason for "jazz."

It may be that in the years when the whole world was living on its nerves "jazz" was the natural expression of its feelings.

But now we are getting back to normal. A bit slowly, perhaps, but still we are getting there.

Good Music Is a Cornerstone of Civilization

We have taken up again the work of civilization. And we are coming to realize in this country what the more advanced nations of Europe have always known—that GOOD MUSIC is one of the most potent agencies for educating the people.

GOOD MUSIC is just what the name implies—no more, no less. It is not necessarily symphony music, or chamber music, or the more advanced compositions.

GOOD MUSIC may be a great classic or it may be just some sweet old song that finds an echo in the heart.

With a Player-Piano Any One Can Have Good Music

Even if you do not know one key from another, you can play all the GOOD MUSIC in the world if you have a player-piano. Anything—from an opera to a dance. And play it perfectly.

Of course, you will enjoy it; you take that for granted. But do you know how much it will mean to you? Do you know how much a musical education will mean to your children?

If the American people realized today, as they are bound to some day, what an important part GOOD MUSIC plays in the home, every house in the land would ring with melody.

Here are some good player-pianos at greatly lowered prices—

New player-pianos at $525—saving $225. Demonstration player-pianos at $550 and $585—saving $250 and $265. Used player-pianos from $375 up.

Worth a Moment's Study to Music Lovers—The Violin Principle in the Construction of the Cheney Phonograph

You, of course, have heard the playing of the Cheney phonograph, and been thrilled with its sweet resonance of tone.

If not, you can give yourself this pleasure before the world is a day older, by dropping in tomorrow at our Phonograph Store.

If you like the tone-quality of the Cheney, you have made no mistake. If you buy yourself a Cheney in this Store, you will make no mistake. The Cheney ranks, in our opinion, among the leading phonographs of the world (which is why you find it here), and the rare quality of its tone-production is due to the fact that its inventor, Forest Cheney, was a master of the violin and in its mechanical construction called in the aid of the science of violin-making.

The simple diagram at the top of this column gives a sectional view of the Cheney tonal system, showing among other features the violin-shaped resonator.

This violin-shaped resonator is made of air-dried spruce wood, seasoned for a period of years, just as the wood is seasoned for fine violins.

It is well known that wood that is properly aged makes the most perfect of sound amplifiers. As the Cheney tones leave the tone-arm and pass through the entire acoustic system, they are surrounded by resonant and vibrant woods. This explains why

The Cheney—Like a Fine Violin—Grows Sweeter With Age

Something to think of, that, when you come to purchase a musical instrument for your home! Instead of expecting deterioration with time, you can look for an increasing mellowness of tone.

The whole principle of the Cheney construction is interesting and logical, and if the mechanics of sound reproduction attract you, our salesman will readily demonstrate to you the original manner in which acoustic principles are applied through the Cheney system of orchestral chambers, and the other distinguishing features of this standard phonograph.

The Cheney is also well worth attention for the artistic cabinet-work displayed in its various period models, both uprights and consoles, of which eleven styles can be shown here.

The handsome instrument pictured below is a William and Mary design, and can be had in either walnut or mahogany. Price, $250.
