Business Is Very Good Indeed This Month, Thank You!

Keep to Your Colors

A captain, returning from South America some years ago, saw a ship in the wake bearing the British ensign, but as she drew nearer the English flag came down and up went that of the Chilean Republic.

"Aye, aye, my lads," said the Captain, "that will never do. I don't like that fellow that carries double colors. He must be a pirate."

So it proved. They had to clear their decks and fight to preserve their liberty.

Carrying water on both shoulders and shifting flags for new positions in business or in State policies are always signs of Benedict Arnoldism.

Not only clear the decks, but keep your hearts clear to believe that the old flag, which Betsy Ross made in Arch Street, is today the greatest sunbeam of light and hope to the world around.

150 Women's Sheer Dresses Going Out at $25

The dresses are of cool, airy, dotted swiss—navy, gray, brown, black, rose, two greens and Copenhagen, each dotted with white, and they are made up in nearly a dozen different models. In every instance there are trimmings of white—white organdie, batiste, beading or a little lace; the sleeves are in short and three-quarter lengths, there are sashes or girdles, and the whole effect is very cool and fresh.

Sizes are broken, but there are sizes 34 to 42 in the lot, and this new price means a saving of $5 to $7.50.

There Is a Difference Between Millinery and a Hat

A hat is just anything a woman puts on her head. Millinery is much more! Many sell—and many buy and wear—just hats. Wanamaker millinery is of that special quality that justifies its name. It bears the definite relationship to a woman's entire ensemble that real millinery should, and invariably enhances it. Priced $15 upward. Today white millinery is especially to the forefront.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

A Cool New Suit for the Young Woman

Tailored of natural pongee, of a firm, substantial quality sure to hold its shape perfectly. The smart little skirt is plain, with pockets and belt, and the very good-looking coat is three-quarter length, with several little flap pockets, and a narrow belt. We could not suggest anything cooler looking for the young woman's travels or general hot-weather wear. And the price is but $27.50. Sizes 14 to 20. For the young girl, too, is a well-tailored, fine, white flannel skirt of particularly good material and model, at $12.50. In 25 to 30 waist measure, and 30 to 35 inch length.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

The New Summer Fashions Appear in Wraps and Capes

Sometimes it is hard to tell which of the two they are, for they are loose, with the lines of a wrap and have cape sleeves, which often end in a long point with a tassel, or none at all. At all events women will find these very pretty, new light-weight garments just the thing to take away with them to seashore or mountain resorts.

The materials are fine all-wool tricotine, serge or velour. They are all silk lined and moderate in their pricings, $25 to $67.50.

(First Floor, Central)

We Sell Many Thousand Yards of This Dollar Pongee

Furniture That Imparts Color and Novelty to a Summer Bedroom or Breakfast Room

Painted and decorated furniture ministers to the desire for something different, novel, frivolous, if you will, in one's surroundings. This is a desire which comes to nearly everybody at some time or other, and it seems, therefore, to be a normal thing. In Summer it is usually strongest.

Painted and decorated furniture is essentially Summer furniture; it is modeled, decorated and colored to impart a particular spell to a Summer room, be it bedroom or breakfast room; and if it is the right kind of decorated furniture it will do so. To anybody fond of visualizing an ideal Summer bedroom, or breakfast room, the showing of decorated suits on the sixth floor will be of extraordinary interest. We have given a good deal of study to this class of furniture and many of the suits shown here have been decorated by artists in our own shops.

They will decorate to order any suit in the collection. One of the interesting things about this furniture is the fascinating field it opens up for the production of odd, piquant and arresting effects and contrasts in color, a fact of which the suits shown here are an apt illustration.

Children Know More of Good Music

In a school competition held recently to test the musical knowledge of the average school girl and boy, it developed that so many of the children were familiar with the name, melody and composer of the best musical classics that it was practically impossible to narrow the prize down to any single one of them.

This surprised a good many people. But it need not.

The player-piano today, with a well-selected repertoire of music rolls, has made good music the familiar possession of tens of thousands of homes.

Children consequently know music as a matter of daily life.

"Play Rubinstein," lisped a tiny child who could scarcely lisp much else.

And the Melody in F was placed in the player-piano and played, to the intense satisfaction of the mere toddler, who was as familiar with the melody as with his nursery rhymes.

A Player-Piano Is a Tremendously Valuable Musical Educator

Especially in the home when there are children. It not only familiarizes the child's ear with good music, but it can be played at will like any regular piano, and can therefore start the little fingers, too, on their musical education.

Many people may not know that it is possible to have a player-piano for so little as $375. We still have some good used player-pianos for that price and upward, all of them in excellent condition.

New Player-Pianos From $525 Upward including several famous makes.

All these instruments are sold on convenient terms.

Music Lovers! Note That Scotti Has Engaged Farrar to Sing

next Fall in several performances of his grand opera company during its tour of the Pacific Coast.

This will be the first time the famous American prima donna has appeared in grand opera in the Pacific cities, and her roles will include "Cio-Cio-San" in "Madama Butterfly," as well as the title roles in "La Tosca," "Zaza" and "Carmen."

Please note also that among the Red Seal Victor Records in our Phonograph Store there is a fine selection of arias from these great operas and also of records displaying the wonderful art of both Farrar and Scotti at its finest.

How luxurious and satisfying to simply put on one of these records on your own phonograph rather than to wait until Fall or to journey to the Pacific Coast!
