INVITING HOTELS THERE

Hof Springs, Va., June 15. — The Virginia Hot Springs as a summer re-sort has acquired remarkable popularity the last six years. Formerly, the so-called great seasons were the spring and autumn periods. Summer was the accepted time for the great world to go abroad, at least that part of it which did not pass the entire summer in Newport or on Long Island. The great war changed many things. Certainly one phase of American life which it touched was the fashion of patronizing the Continental cures, and very naturally. So fashionable America stayed at home and for the greater part went to the Vir-ginia Hot Springs.

With the resumption of European travel the famous cures in France and even in Germany will regain much of their former patronage, but it is equally certain that Virginia Hot Springs has added summer to her seasons in the mos-

"Trening up."
This was the scene of training for strice men, including many of the ambulance division. The men utilized it as a center for endurance marches for motor-train transportation . These fortified many "troop ists" for much of the work done by the famous ambulance corps that were placed between the hospitals and the various fronts in Flanders. The ar-illery programs and problems will be orked out here, as in years past, but eith even more thoroughness.
