TRIS SPEAKER'S HEAVY 348 HOME RUNS IN THINKING WINS GAME FOR CLEVELAND IN 11TH

Spoke Singles, Steals Second and Then Pulls Surprise by Ordering Elmer Smith to Sacrifice-Macks Fall Down When Hits Mean Runs

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger THIS SPEAKER won a ball game for his nine yesterday afternoon when he put on some daring base running and some heavy thinking in the seventh inning in the contest with the Athletics. The battle had been seeawing all afternoon, with one side going ahead and then the other, until he extra innings were hung up. Each side scored in the tenth and something bad to happen in the next frame.

Spoke socked a single to open the eleventh and then stole second. He was called safe on a very close play. Then came the headwork. The manager wig-wagged to Smith and Elmer, instead of knocking the ball out of the park iberately sacrificed. Hits like that seldem are seen these days and the leveland pilot was allowed to meander to third. Larry Gardner lifted a high fly to Tilly Waiker and Speaker slid home under the throw. That counter eroke the deadlock and handed another wallop to the A's. They couldn't score in their portion of the stanza. The score was 6-5.

Speaker was the real star of the game and deserved the honor of registering the winning counter. During the afternoon he was romping all over the place, covering more ground than the Baldwin Locomotive Works. He would back up the left fielder on balls hit in that territory and do the same thing in right. He also pulled a sensational catch in the sixth when he backed against the bleacher wall in center and pulled down Welsh's line drive, which looked like a home run. Nine out of ten outfielders would have let the ball go, but Speaker thought otherwise and saved the game.

Another noticeable feature of Speaker's work was the way he managed the team from ceuter field. He did not run in to the diamond a couple of times an inning to hold conferences with his men, like Ty Cobb. He remained where he was and let his infield captain run things. The Athletics played well in spots, but lacked that final punch which occasionally brings victory. Twice the bases were loaded and nothing happenced. In the fourth, Perkins walked, Dugan singled and McCann was safe on Johnson's foozle. Nobody was out and it looked like a certain score. However, Hasty, Witt and Dykes flivvered and the stuff was off. In the hith, three men were on the paths with two out and McCann hit weakly to

There was another chance to score the winning run in the ninth, but Johnny Walker fell over third and was tagged.

FOR a time Bob Hasty pitched a good game; in fact, better than at any other time this year. He was taken out in the tenth to make way for a pinch hitter and Keefe finished.

A Few Words About Goaler's Record

MUCH conversation still is being spilled about the record made by Goaler at Beimont last Friday. Followers of the turf are all het up about it, because they cannot figure how a selling plater of obscure breeding from a long line of fire horses could hand such a wallop to the Belmont record held by War Cloud of a mile and an eighth in 1:50 2-5 and Man o' War's American record for the distance of 1:49 1.5. Goaler breezed home in 1:49 flat. Perhaps a fire-alarm bell was used as a starting signal. "Many who timed the race." said a turf follower who saw the event,

"dispute the record, but the record goes and is likely to stand until some milkwagon horse is taken out of harness and put on at Belmont behind a load of hay. However, it is a good thing to shoot at Man o' War's record, for if something is not done to dim the performances of the champion the demand for other prominent sires in the great studs of the Blue Grass will lose prestige. "It is all right for the flashy Audacious to presume to cut Man o' War's mile, but it is too much for a selling plater to be set up as a belt holder against ist only the Riddle super-horse, but also to filch the crown from Amalfi, War Cloud, Houriess, Colin, Salvator, Rosben and all the great turf wonders

"Goaler was 12 to 1 in the betting, and a story comes from Belmont that the owner of the English-bred plater, J. Lando, desired to bet $2000 on the orse, but that Clarence Buxton, his trainer, told him to lay off because the horse did not seem to have a chance to beat John Alcock and Bellsolar, horses really in the stake-horse class.

"I have no desire to detract from the performance of Goaler. Horses have peculiar whims and do the unexpected frequently. At the same time, it is probable that if Man o' War had been entered in the Bayside Handicap he could have picked up 145 pounds impost and defeated the field by many lengths.

MAN O' WAR, now retired, had a way of his own of cowing and subduing all opposition and flashing to victory over any kind of

Bill Rariden Passes Into the Minors

BILL RARIDEN, late of Cincinnati, has passed out of the big league picture. W'all Bill has drifted to the Atlanta club, having been waived out of both major league circuits.

Rariden was in the big show eleven years, joining Boston in 1910. He played in two World Series, getting a slice of the dough while with New York and Cincinnati. Bill jumped to the Federals in 1914 and played with Indianapolis one season. In 1915 he was with Newark and the next year was purchased by New York. Bill was one of the principal actors in the 1917 World Series when Eddie Collins outsprinted Heinie Zimmerman in that famous race to the home plate Rariden was kneeling down, all set to catch the ball, but Heinie had different deas. He chased the run over the plate on the hoof.

THIS season Raviden threatened to retire and spend the rest of his days on the farm at Bedford, Ind. However, the call of the game seas too strong and he came back, only to be shunted southward. Perhaps Bill is slated to manage the Atlanta club. You never can tell.

Baltimore Smashes Record of Giants

AFTER breaking all records for consecutive games won, the Baltimore club in the International League lost a hall game yesterday. It was the last half of a double-header, and Buffalo turned the trick. The Orioles won twenty-seven in a row, which betters the mark made by the New York Giants in 1917 by one. Baltimore has the best major league ball club that ever played in the minors. Men like Rentley, Boley and Jacobson, who are good enough to play in any lengue, are the stars. Baltimore has outclassed the field, has a commanding lead and should easily win the pennant. O MUCH depends in polo upon how affairs may break on some particular day that it is extremely difficult to issue any guess that bears the mark of strong probability concerning America's chances to return with the international cup.

You can bank upon them as a hard-litting, hard-fighting four, who will never quit trying. Possibly one of their main faults is that they may try too hard, for it is just as easy to press in polo as it is in golf. If things go wrong this tendency to overdo may lead to serious trouble.
