"But if it is indo to be not the brave invisible sailor who leaped into the river to save me I surely would have been gobbled by those greedy crocodiles." Peggy looked ground to thank the invisible sailor, but, of course, she couldn't see him. That made her feel queer, for she couldn't very well thank the empty air.

But as she looked around she saw sater dripping on the deck from a spot sear the mast. She thought to herself that water wasn't raining from the clouds, for there were no clouds. It that water wasn't raining from the clouds, for there were no clouds. It must be dripping off some person, and she could that person be but the brave prisible sailor who had helped to rescue

Peggy rose to her feet and ran across the deck to the mast. She the deck to the mast. She grasped the sir above the dripping water, and sure mough her hand closed on a sailor who was soaking wet. She felt now she had consider to thank

In Hawaii

In the Hawaiian Islands, native girls are flocking to the Y. W. C. A. centers, alling them to overflowing to learn English and American ways. At the Employment Bureaus rapidly growing froups of Oriental girls are seeking positions in the offices, stores and places of business in Honolulu and elsewhere. So, says Miss Margaret Williamson, of the City Committee of the National Board, Y. W. C. A., who has just returned from a six weeks' intensive study of the Islands.

A Good Sport

A boy who had heard Madam Melba in the phonograph was rather skeptical to whether the prima donna really stag all the trills. To settle the question is wrote to her for a ticket to her consert and got it by return mail.

NEW LINEN FROCKS

ARE EMBROIDERED

Keep Them Guessing By R. RAY BAKER

William Shakespeare didn't refer to Florence Davidson when he made that observation about it being easier to give advice than to act upon it. For Florence was one of those persons that practice what they preach. Her preaching was done through the columns of the Evening Gazette, under the caption, "Advice to the Lovelorn, by Arabella Anderson." Every day, except Sunday, Florence answered questions of young women, and some young men in regard to love affairs, preceding the replies with an article of

A Child Can Now Make Perfect Jam or Jelly

Anyone who can read a simple recipe can now make iam or jelly in a few minutes from any fruit or fruit juice -fresh or canned.

CERTO

Is Mother Nature's "jell-maker." It is the jelly-making principle of fruit itself. By using it, only one minute's boiling is then required-not 30 or more minutes' boiling as by the old method. With the Certo Process nothing is boiled away. It, therefore, makes one-half more jam or ielly from the same amount of fruit; saves time, eliminates guess work and retains all the color and flavor of ripe fruit. Cerso is a pure fruit product—contains no gelatine or preservative. It is endorsed by highest authorities. Results are absolutely perfect when recipes are followed. Get your bottle of Certo and recipe book from any grocer at once. Give it one trial as directed, and you'll make all your jam and jelly by the Certo Process.

Important—If your grocer does not have Certo please telephone Miss Jacobs. Bell phone. Lombard 3820 or Keystone phone. Main 1651; to learn where you can obtain Certo.

Your Ice Chest

Choose a well-made ice chest; it uses Choose a well-made ice chest; it uses less ice than one of poor construction. It should keep a temperature of 50 degrees F, or less, say specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture. Test yours with a thermometer. Keep the ice chest clean; wipe up anything spilled in it and, when necessary, wash it out with hot water, using two tablespoons washing soda to each gallon of water; rinse and dry thoroughly. Keep the drain pipe clean by flushing with hot water and cleaning with a long-handled brush. Such cleanliness does not prevent lee from melting; it does save food from spoiling.

Better Economy

Housewives are becoming less waste-ful, judging from the reports of numer-ous cities, which show that garbage col-lections have fallen off from 10 to 25 per cent since the war.
