Namecy Wynne Tells That the Junior Cinderella Dance Will Be Held Tonight on the Lawn of the Merion Cricket Club-Other Bits of Interest

YOU know there's a Junior Cinderella son of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Sturgis dance at the Merion Cricket Club Mrs. Mrs. and Mrs. Norman Sturgis tonisht. And if it's clear, and, much as we need rain, the Juniors are hoping it will be clear, they are to dance out of doors on the lawn in front of the of doors on the lawn in front of the club house, and on the porches, too. The porches are to be hung with Japanese lanterns, and it will be very party. Mrs. Matthew Baird, Jr., is presty. Mrs. Matthew Baird, Jr., is chalman of the dances, and the boys chalman of the committee are: Matthew the form the committee are: Matthew Baird, 3d. Kenton Eisenbrey, John Baird, Woodson Bankson, Henry Bain.

Baird, Woodson Bankson, Henry Bain Ewing, Woodson Bankson, Henry Bain and William Ryan.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Page will give a dinner at the club before the dance for their twin daughters. Nancy and Eveliph Page, at which there will be four-tien guests. The George W. Kendricks will entertain for their daughter, too.

THE Ex. Scotts have gone down to Cape May for the summer and have opened that beautiful big cottage of theirs on Columbia avenue. You know. Mrs. Scott was Miss Nellie Struthers; Mrs. Scott was Miss Nellie Struthers; and isn't she a pretty woman? I never have seen anything like the number of people who already have gone away, and goodness! after the humidity of the last few days, wouldn't you like to beat it, too? The George Rowlands left their Haverford house yesterday to motor up to Jamestown, where they have taken the Wharton cottage again, and the Arthur Baughs, of Rose. they have taken the Wharton cottage again, and the Arthur Baughs, of Rosealso will go to that resort. Neilson Edwards have gone to

The Neilson Edwards have gone to Cape May and have taken a cottage at the newer end of the city. Mrs. George Thomas, Jr., who was Annette Davis, has been staying with her parents, the Charles Davises, at their beach front cottage down there. And I hear the Harry Worths are at a cottage and Betty Brock is visiting Violet Welsh. Things are becoming gayer as the reason goes on; and as for Chelsea, it's crowded already. It's as much as you can do to walk along the boardwalk at bathing time, so many are out, and late in the afternoon, too, the crowds HEAR that Mrs. Aleck Van Rensselaer got that darling Russian doll that was for sale at the Yarmarka last week, and Mrs. Stanley Flagg, Jr., was fortunate enough to take the little white bride doll. It's nice when people who have children or grandchildren take shares in such things and win them, and one knows how pleased a small Fell or Devereux will be with that Russian doll, while surely one of the wee Gereins will be the richer for a bride in her Next year the Princess Cantacuzene Next year the Princess Cantacuzene Committee of the Emergency Aid will have a quite large Russian affair, with even lovelier things to dispose of. The Russian blouses, the other day, were simply beautiful. Did you notice them? There was a pale pink silk, one embroidered in blue, that was exquisite, and the white ones, all embroidered in white, too, were lovely. Then the cross-stitch linen, too. I am glad we will have a chance to stock up on more next year. a chance to stock up on more next year, and besides, it helps the Russian refu-gee workrooms immensely.

SAW Mrs. Gene Thayer in town yesterday looking quite cool. She really did, for she was wearing one of those lovely dark-blue Swiss dotted-in-white frocks, and it had a straight full skirt and little sash and the open neck was edged with white. Her small, dark-blue silk hat was fashioned of grosgrain ribbon and was turned up all around the edge.

CPEAKING of Mrs. Thayer reminds D me of her sister-in-law Molly Thayer and all those other Philadelphians who have been playing tennis in Wilmington these last few days. How can they do it? Helen Sewell is down there, and Virginia Carpenter, who down there, and Virginia Carpenter, who by the way, won the three championships of the North Philadelphia Junior Tournament last week at the Philadelphia Cricket Club (singles, girls' doubles and mixed doubles), has been down at Wilmington, too. Phyllis Walsh and Mrs. Price Newhall and Mary Porcher and a great many other Phila-delphians are taking part. As for me, or the courts in this heat. I just couldn't, but my hat is off to those who do.

As for me, I'd rather sit on the cool porch and watch. Nothing would drag me out on the courts in this heat. I just couldn't, but my hat is off to those who do.
