

YOUR SOUP WOULD BE SAFE. An English police sergeant showed how his horse can jump over a fully set table during the recent Richmond Horse Show, where police horses won honors. W. W. P.

CONQUERED BY HEAT. He was sleeping, with head against curbstone that runs around Starr Garden, Sixth and Lombard streets, when the photographer came along. L. P. S.

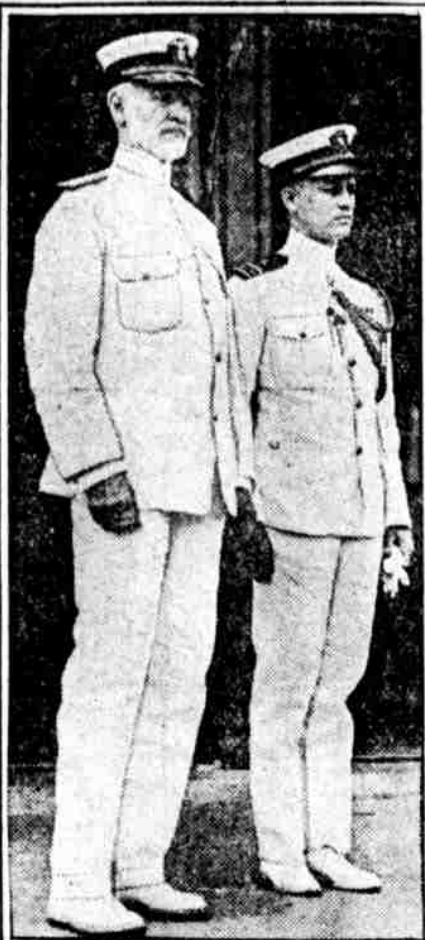

HEAT "EVICTED" HIM. A cobbler on Carpenter street near Eighth was forced to move his workroom to the sidewalk, where shade and a slight breeze helped to make work easier. Ledger Photo Service.

VIEW BOMBING TESTS. The photograph shows deck of the U. S. S. Henderson and a navy blimp during the sinking of German submarines by bombs off the Virginia capes. L. P. S.

AN INVITATION TO PRESIDENT HARDING. This Wyoming girl is completing the broad-brimmed cowboy hat by which the President will be invited to attend the Frontier Days sports at Cheyenne in July. W. W. P.

REAR ADMIRAL SIMS and his aide, Com. Howard M. Lammers, at Navy Dept., Washington. H. & L.

COALMEN PLAY BALL. A salesman of the George B. Newton Coal Co. makes third when the yard superintendents' third baseman is forced to go high for a wild one. L. P. S.

WINSTON CHURCHILL gets away from Government duties long enough to take a stroll with Mrs. Churchill. C. N. T.

NOT AN ORATOR. This baseball enthusiast attended a game at the Point Breeze Oil Works. He didn't care much for the "ump's" decision. Ledger Photo Service.

ELMER C. BERTOLET discusses American eyes in an Editorial Page interview. L. P. S.

STANDING BY MOTHER. James Stillman, son of Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, repudiated his father. L. P. S.

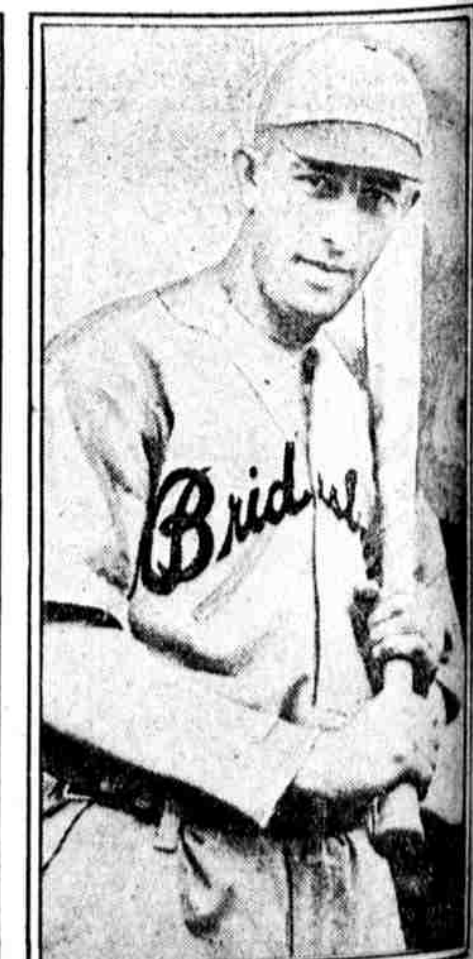

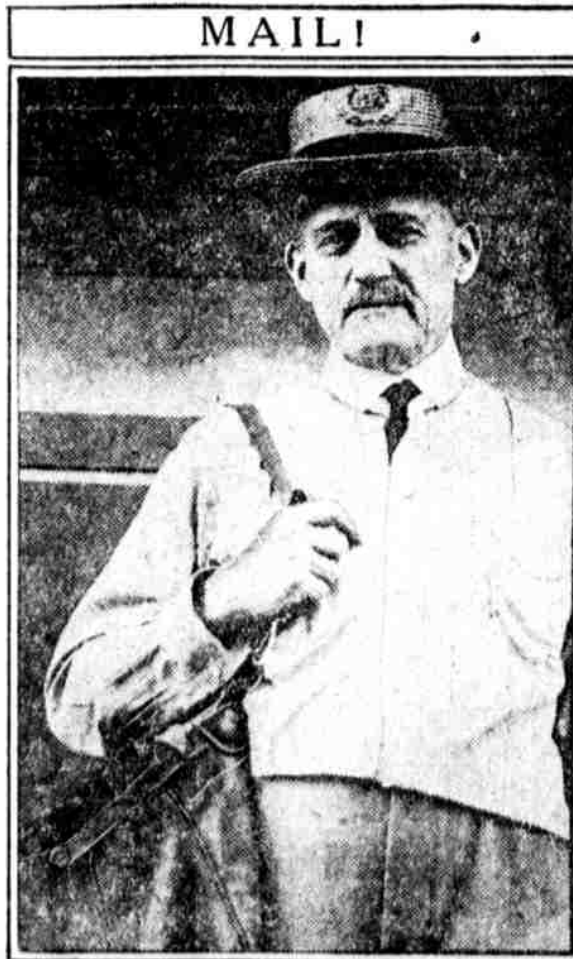

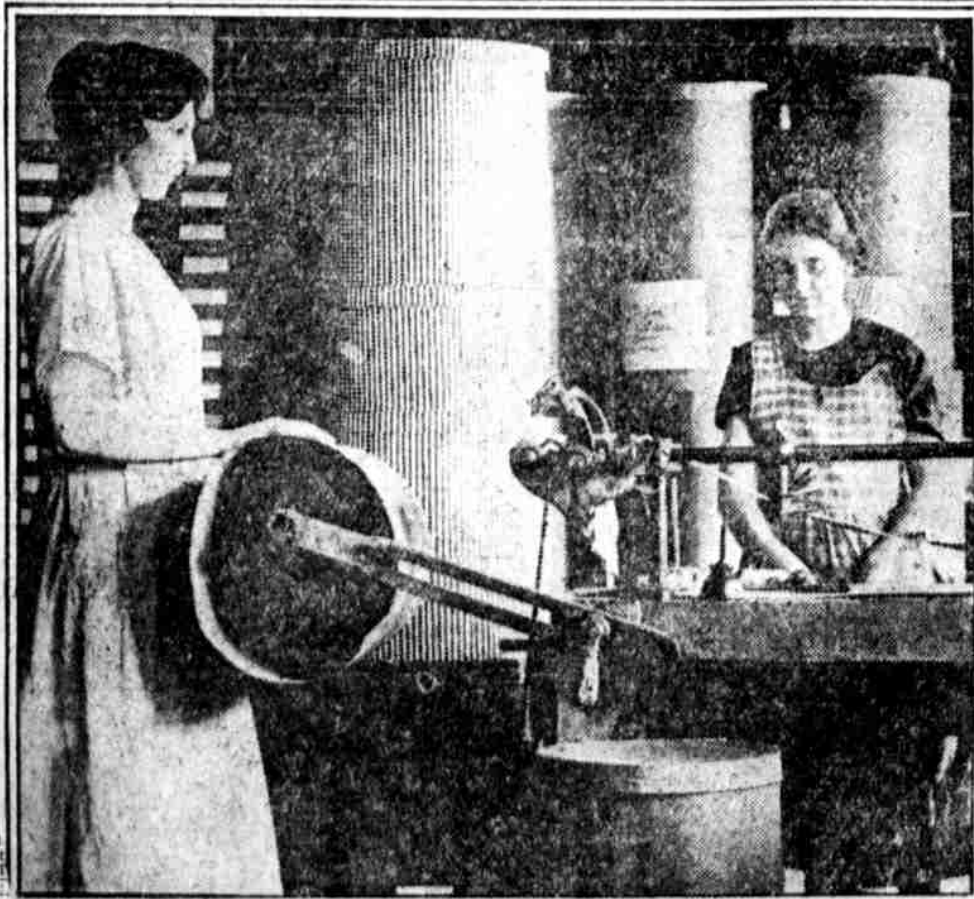

RIGHT FOR HOT WEATHER. Get your canoe out or borrow some other fellow's. Then go up the Wissahickon Creek and only come out in the sun when you really have to. There is plenty of shade. Ledger Photo Service.

IN "MILLE MAKE BELIEVE" Myrtle Sonneborn (left), in the show given last at the Tabor Rifle Club by Oiney Post No. 388. T. Lawton Slaugh is "pinch hitting" as a make-up expert as he assists Miss Fritz Linsal. Ledger Photo Service.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

Vertical text on the left margin containing publication details and subscription information.

MISS MARY DUTTON, 2180 South Sixty-fourth street, operating a 28-inch mold and covering machine on round paper boxes at the Consumer Box Co., 1209 E. Park street. Miss Helen Foley, 664 N. Park street, is turning edges in.

HEADS DREXEL INSTITUTE PROCESSION. Dr. Hollis Godfrey (left), head of institute, and Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College.

THIRTY-TWO YEARS AS CARRIER. Bernard J. Martin, 2015 S. 17th street. Route: Ninth to Eleventh and Arch to Race streets.

THEY PLAY IN THE TWILIGHT. Daylight time saving has stimulated amateur baseball on the lots of Philadelphia. Bridesburg has a fast team. Their last conquest was over Tamara. Tom Volz (left), a pitcher, and Hyde, who covers the initial sack.