"GUESTS" HOLD UP HOTEL ROOM CLERK

Armed Men First Register, Then "Cover" Windermere Attendant With Pistol

ROB OFFICE SAFE OF $100

Two "guests" who registered as John and Joe Kine, of New York City, held up the room clerk and others in the office of the Windemere Hotel at Broad and Locust streets at 5:55 o'clock yesterday morning. After robbing the safe of $100 they strolled out and away. The hold-up was not made public until this morning by the police.

"Meanwhile the man who was holding the pistol to my side kept glancing to-ward the door. Nobody entered, however, as that was an off hour in the morning. The men finished their work, took my watch and chain and departed. I was glad enough to see them go.

Get About $100 in Cash

"I checked up afterward and found the men had taken about $100 in cash. One was quite tail, and was light com-plexioned. The other was short and was dark. Both wore light suits and straw hats. As soon as the men left, several calls came from rooms, and one or two persons entered the office. Those men certainly were lucky not to have been molested whi'e they worked."
