Picturesque Scenes Mark Formal Opening of White Horse Pike

THREE STATES PARTICIPATE

Atlantic City, June 29.—History unfolded itself quickly through the rapid transition of scenes when formal dedication of the newly completed White Horse pike took place at Absecon shortly before noon today.

Harking back to the days when the red man held sway in the forests thereabout a chief, arrayed in complete gala array and mounted upon a surmounted charger, entered over the trail of his forefathers and brought to the assembled representatives of the present generation a parchment scroll purporting to be from Father Penn.

The exercises opened with the arrival of the Indian chief, White Horse, the character being portrayed by Albert Bloodgood. Shortly afterward Father Penn, escorted by six Quaker maids in demure garb, arrived from Penn's woods, known to the present generation as Pennsylvania. Members of the Atlantic City Operatic Society assumed the role of Quaker maids, and as their voices rang in song the assemblage was profoundly impressed.

Recalling that the Indians of old told the trail for the seashore and came to Absecon Island for their outposts, a sea nymph in the person of Miss Ada Taylor appeared, garbed in a bathing costume and bearing an urn filled with sea water, used to formally christen the highway and open it to public use.

Manhattan Island also had a part in the tri-State celebration, commemorating the virtual linking of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey with the pleasure ground of the Nation. Father Knickerbocker took an interesting part in the ceremonies.

The road forks will be properly marked with three wooden figures, representing respectively a sailing ship pointing to the shore, Father Penn indicating the direction to the Delaware River and Father Knickerbocker with outstretched arm showing the way to New York.

Ex-Senator Edward A. Wilson, who formerly resided at Absecon, chairman of the general committee, presided at the festivities, addressing the assemblage being made by Walter J. Buzby, former member of the State Highway Commission, and former Judge E. A. Higbee.

It was nearly 1 o'clock before the assemblage began its journey to Hammonton, where exercises of a simpler nature are to be held. Later the auto caravan will retrace the route back to Egg Harbor City, where speechmaking is to be preceded by a luncheon.

Members of the State Highway Commission participated in the ceremonies, which formally mark the opening of the improved White Horse pike, providing a direct route of smooth-finished highway from Camden to Atlantic City.

Two Men Dropped by Auditor General and Salaries of Ten Reduced

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger

Harrisburg, June 29.—Two more men were dropped from the payroll of the Auditor General's department, the investigating bureau was abolished, and the salaries of ten employees were reduced by Auditor General Lewis today in further carrying out his announced intention of getting the affairs of the department down to a sound business basis.

Propaganda. To guard against this I would have every immigrant register, wherever he is, every year, not in order to spy on him, but only to be sure of his safety. I would charge him a nominal fee for his certificate of registry and add this to the department's funds.

We solve building problems

The solving of difficult industrial building problems has been our specialty for 57 years and still is.

During more than half a century of experience as an organization of architects, engineers and industrial constructors, we designed, built and equipped manufacturing plants in a hundred different lines of industry. Our experience has been so long and so varied that almost every conceivable building problem has been put to us and successfully solved by us at some time in our career.

If you are confronted with building problems, no matter how involved or intricate, put them up to us. It is more than likely that we have solved similar problems in your very line, or in industries akin to yours. Consult us about your building problems.
