

PHILA. TO OBSERVE REAL SANE FOURTH

Parade, Patriotic Speeches and General Merrymaking to Mark Holiday

SENATOR KNOX TO SPEAK

Philadelphia will set a safe and sane, typically American pace for the rest of the United States in celebrating Independence Day Monday.

Centering about the Colonial structure in Independence Square where American freedom was conceived and declared, the celebration will spread out through every section of the city to the suburbs, just as the news which started the world, spread from the crown square on the historic Fourth of July, 145 years ago.

A score of more significant, more attractive and more patriotic features will take the place of the deadly firecrackers, cap-n-pistols, blank cartridges and sparklers.

Flag-risings, picnics, band concerts, games, community singing, addresses by distinguished orators, recitations, athletic sports, athletic carnivals, street parades, baby shows, airplane flights throughout the day, and carefully supervised fireworks displays at night.

So crowd the day that the riotous excesses of years will not be missed, except by overworked hospital attendants.

Every ward and suburb has formed a fire brigade, too, and to put to rest legends and other deadly perils which lurk in the meaningless noisemakers which so long had a hold on the heart of the nation, it is the city's first Fourth of July under the new and effective anti-fireworks ordinance.

Special singing will be held at the day's celebration by interdenominational services to be held at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Old Pine Street Presbyterian Church and Fine streets.

The Independence Square celebration will be preceded by a parade which will leave the Bellevue-Stratford at 10:45 o'clock.

Mounted police, the State Penitentiaries, soldiers, sailors and marines, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be in line, together with the speakers and city officials.

The exercises at the square, arranged by a committee of citizens headed by Charles Van Wagenen, will open with the singing of "America" and prayer by the Rev. Harp K. Hathaway, of the Covenant Church.

The selection of patriotic band music will be followed by the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Thomas Edward Cox, a member of the Germantown High School.

To Recite Pledge to the Flag Following the pledge to the flag and another selection by the band, there will be a dance by girls of the Civic Recreation Center, Twenty-seventh and Jefferson streets.

The number was conceived, costumes were designed, and the girls were drilled by Miss Edith H. Kroonen.

After another selection by the band, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will present Mayor Moore. After a brief address he will introduce Senator Knox, the orator of the day.

The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" will be followed by the Rev. William J. Lallou, rector of the Church of St. Philip Neri, Second and Queen streets, who will give the invocation.

The fourth annual congress of the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence will be held in connection with the celebration of Independence Day.

The descendants will attend the religious services in Old Pine Street Church, and the ceremonies at Independence Square. A meeting of the Board of governors will be held at noon at the Bellevue-Stratford, and the business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock.

At 4 o'clock members of the school and their friends will meet in the Declaration Chamber of Independence Hall at which time officers will be elected. Athletic sports will be held at 6:45 o'clock at the Bellevue-Stratford.

City Council officials arranged the religious observances to be held at the Old Pine Street Church.

The purpose of the meeting is to show the influence which religion had upon the minds of the men who won American independence, and to bring to the attention of the people the importance of religion in the Nation's life.

The committee of ministers representing the members of the various congregations in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolutionary War includes Bishop Thomas J. Garland, Episcopal; Bishop John J. Conroy, Roman Catholic; the Rev. Dr. Edwin Hoyt Deik, Lutheran; the Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Miller, Baptist; the Rev. Dr. Rufus W. Warr, Reformed Church in America; the Rev. Victor Herbert Lukens, pastor of the only Colonial Presbyterian church in the city, and the Rev. Dr. Louis W. Washburn, rector of Old Christ Church.

There will be two fifteen-minute addresses by Bishop Garland and the Rev. Dr. Miller. Prayers will be offered by the Rev. Drs. Hoyt Deik and Jones. The benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Dr. George Washington Turner, chaplain of the Descendants of the Signers. The responsive reading will be led by the Rev. Dr. Hughes, pastor for many years of the St. George's Methodist Church, the oldest Methodist Church in the world.

Churches to Honor Day Five representatives from nearly 400 churches of the city will attend, and each denomination has been asked to send five representatives. The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will be represented, and the Guiana will attend the services in a body as in other years. The French consul will be present with members of the Association Nationale Française. Mayor Moore will also be there, and it is probable that members of his cabinet and members of the Council will accept invitations.

Mrs. Jeanette Craig Dutt and F. W. Buckner, of the choir of Old Pine Street Church will direct the singing. A hymn, "Remember This Service," by Bishop Garland, will be sung.

Virtually every park and recreation center in the city will have its special celebration for the boys and girls. Council appropriated $12,000 to aid in these celebrations.

OFF FOR BOYLE'S THIRTY ACRES

Specials began pulling out early today for Jersey City, where Carpenter and Dempsey are to debate at Boyle's Thirty Acres. In the center of the group in front of the Reading Railway office is Joseph B. McCall, president of the Philadelphia Electric Co.; in front to his left is Recorder of Deeds Hazlett; the second on Mr. McCall's right is Jacob Gimbel. Inset is W. R. Roberts, who appeared armed with a thermos bottle containing—well, Mr. Roberts' Mona Liza smile was the only information he would make to queries

Two Solid Pullman Trains

Two of the three special trains from the Terminal were solid Pullman trains. One of them consisted of ten cars and the other of eleven. Both of them carried diners.

Besides these three special trains, extra cars were added to all of the regular trains on the Reading Railway's New York service.

The special trains made two stops at Jersey City, one at West Side avenue and the other at Jackson street. That no delay would be encountered in arrival of the fans Edwin L. Lewis, general passenger agent of the Reading.

The special trains made two stops at Jersey City, one at West Side avenue and the other at Jackson street. That no delay would be encountered in arrival of the fans Edwin L. Lewis, general passenger agent of the Reading.

Frankie Dailey on Train One fan out of the ordinary from a sporting standpoint was Frankie Dailey, formerly of Pittsburgh but now of the city, who had a seat on one of the specials from the Reading Terminal.

Dailey was a second for Frank Klaus, a Pittsburgh boxer, when Klaus fought and defeated Carpenter seven or eight years ago in Paris. Before that bout Dailey fought with Carpenter.

John Smith, a former city detective here, noted in his day as a thief-taker, came from his South Jersey farm to see the big fight. Smith hasn't missed a battle for the heavyweight title since Sullivan fought Kilrain about 1881.

Isaac Levy, the attorney who attacked Dempsey's $25,000 motorcar in this city recently, was among the fight fans who left from the Terminal. He said he was going to bet some "real dough" on Dempsey. In attaching the champion's "bug" Levy was acting for Dr. Herbert Goddard, who sued Dempsey for $500, claimed as the balance due for a nose operation.

Caution about Pickpockets Those who went well "heeled," so they could bet on the rickshaws or the rickshaws, were cautious about pickpockets. One man went to a waiting room in the Terminal and put a $3000 roll in his shoe. He said he knew the "dips" could not reach it there.

The Detective Bureau here usually sends a detachment of sleuths to an event of the importance of the championship fight. The Philadelphia detectives are widely known for their ability to weed pickpockets and confidence men from a crowd. For some unexplained reason no plainclothes men were sent to Jersey City from here.

Some persons gifted with more than the usual frankness might have called the Dempsey-Carpenter special train from Broad Street Station "The Professional Sports Special."

Nine carloads of them, every seat filled, and more to be taken on board from West Philadelphia, North Philadelphia and Bristol stops. All the men to whom sport is a daily business were there. Those who have one—and only one interest—sport.

Biscuiters, hats and coats on the racks of the car, a big fat cigar and five cans of the latest high "dope," between alternate clouds of smoke, they discussed the possible winner of today's battle. It's a serious proposition.

Martin V. Bergen, former famous Princeton football player, headed a group, including Thomas Erans, Powell Evans, George McNeely, Richard Crozier, John B. Doxey, Ned Elmer, Harry Yarrow and T. D. Richter.

G. Edward Atherton had a party consisting of Mack Stambach, Norman Grey and Harry Brown.

Others were Wilson Potter, Ralph Cook, Arthur Lewis, I. Hutchinson

Cars of Politicians Recorder of Deeds James M. Hazlett is sponsor of a party that occupied two special cars, attached to the Reading Terminal. The party includes Coroner William R. Knight, Charles L. Martin, Albert H. Linder, W. Freeland, Ellis Gimbler, Jack Cross, Judge Uley Crane, Walter Conlon, William Entweller, Jack Mulder, Bill Royer, of Meersburg; Edward C. Geer and S. Victor Anderson.

Joseph C. Trainor piloted a party of ten to the big fight. His party included A. C. Grenwald, Fred Greenwald, Ray and Clement Trainor, Anderson, Donaldson, Richard Huff, Charles Swager, E. S. Kolin and Maurice Scheck, of Newark.

The Manufacturers' Club was represented by Charles W. Toeb, former captain of the Walton Boat Club; G. Theodore Ketterer, Blaine W. Scott, Dr. William O. Galbraith, Dr. G. Christian, Jack Cross, Judge Uley Crane, Walter Conlon, William Entweller, Jack Mulder, Bill Royer, of Meersburg; Edward C. Geer and S. Victor Anderson.

GLOUCESTER PLANS GREATEST FOURTH

Parade, Athletic Events, Baby Contest, Addresses and Other Events on Program

OTHER TOWNS CELEBRATE

Gloucester City is going to have the biggest Independence Day celebration in its history on Monday and almost the entire community will take part. An invitation has been extended to residents of other cities to spend the day there. Nearly every civic, fraternal, social and church organization will participate.

Homes are being gaily decorated as prizes are to be awarded for this feature. The affair is in charge of the Chamber of Commerce, assisted by a committee from each organization.

The day's program will begin with athletic events for the boys and girls at the playgrounds, King and Monmouth streets, at 9 o'clock and continuing for one hour. At 10 o'clock there will be a baby parade on Monmouth street, in which there will be nearly 100 babies, between a month and three years old. There will be many prizes awarded by a committee of six women.

At 11 o'clock there will be a parade, starting from King and Monmouth streets and touring the main streets. The parade will be headed by the police and fire departments, and then Mayor David M. Anderson as marshal; detachment of marines from League Island; Gloucester Post of the American Legion; veterans of the Civil War in automobiles; Sons of Veterans, and then the various fraternal and church organizations.

The parade will end at the Monmouth baseball grounds at 12 o'clock, where there will be a patriotic address by A. G. Morse, of Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce. Following the address there will be a dromedary athletic events and the prizes will be gold watches, chains and charms, loving cups and many other articles.

At 2 o'clock there will be a five-mile marathon race in which there will be at least thirty contestants. At 4 o'clock there will be a baseball game between the Monmouth and Oriental teams of Gloucester.

In the evening there will be a two-hour display of fireworks from the Hudson street bridge. There will be a community dance at the bowling yard from 8 to 10:30. The Liberty Band will furnish music from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10:30 at night.

Club members are invited to a reception on Monday morning will unveil the memorial bronze tablet on the high school building. The tablet contains the names of thirty former students who served in the recent war. It was first intended to place the tablet on the soldiers and sailors monument in front of the high school, but the names of the 400 soldiers and sailors of the city who served in the war are to go on instead.

Mostly all of the South Jersey towns and cities have arranged big community celebrations for the Fourth this year.

Among the places are Fairview, Brooklawn, Westville, Woodbury, National Park, Haddon Heights and Magnolia.

LLANERCH PROGRAM FOR FOURTH IS MADE Llanerch's Fourth celebration will begin at 10:30 o'clock with a parade of school children, fire companies and citizens. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated baby coach, the best-costumed boy and girl and the best-decorated automobile. A flag-raising will be held at the schoolhouse at 11 o'clock, and at 11:30 there will be a fire drill. Athletic sports will be held in the afternoon at Park and Lawrence roads. Motion pictures and a band concert, followed by fireworks, will conclude the celebration.

Sharon Hill will have one of the most comprehensive celebrations in the county. A parade, flag-raising, patriotic addresses, band concerts and street dancing will be features of the program. A monument bearing the names of 145 men and women who served in the World War will be unveiled on the public school lawn at Clifton Heights. Robert Holt Post, American Legion, and other veterans will lead the parade. Supreme Court Justice W. I. Schaefer will deliver the oration. A fireworks display will be given at night.
