

"The Love Cowards"

By HAZEL DEVO BATCHELOR

Because she is disappointed in one man, Nancy Hathaway decides never to trust another. In order to get away she accepts a position as governess to a little child in a lonely house on the Massachusetts coast...

"How Dare You Defy Me?"

NANCY'S arms went around the child tenderly and protectively. She utterly ignored the fact that Bruce Henderson was on the porch and she bent over the child and spoke soothingly to her...

At Cupid's Call

By MAY CHRISTIE

Mary Drew is Carrington Bellairs' private secretary, and has been for several years. Dick Calardin, Bellairs' ward, Eric Rochester, has obtained a position through Julian Vandaveur...

EVER'S WILES

WHEN Dick appeared at breakfast—Eve managed to convey to him her urgent wish of a conversation tete-a-tete.

"There are so many things we've got to talk about," she whispered to her reluctant fiancé.

"I, too, would like to talk with you," he answered her. "There are so many things we must discuss."

Eve did not eat a hearty breakfast after that remark. It sounded just a shade foreboding.

And Mary Drew was looking like a little ghost—a pale, pretty and attractive ghost—toward whom Dick turned unhappy eyes.

"The position was an irritating one. Oh! If Julian Vandaveur would only come to back Eve up. And that remark about the money—"

"I'm quite hard up," he said. "I've really nothing much to marry on."

"I've really nothing much to marry on," he said. "I've really nothing much to marry on."

"I've really nothing much to marry on," he said. "I've really nothing much to marry on."

In Love With Refined Man Dear Cynthia—I am a young girl in my teens, in love with a young man of twenty-six. He is very refined.

Recently he made an engagement, but never kept it. Later I saw him and he told me he was working that night and he left word, but I got no word, as the fellow he left word with forgot about it.

He doesn't seem to care very much for me. How could I win him? I am no "vamp."

Please print this in your column soon, because he expects to go away.

A CONSTANT READER. He your natural self and interested in his affairs when he comes to see you or meets you. Since he did send you word, even though it was not delivered, you should not be so easily discouraged.

Nothing to Be Sorry About Dear Cynthia—You have now made an intrusion upon your delightful column of which I am a steady reader, but now I have two friends—that is, two in particular—one a boy and one a girl.

Dear Cynthia—Here I am again, Cynthia, and as sarcastic as ever before, but I don't mean to be; it is really nothing but a frank confession of my feelings.

"Frank" Takes Proper Stand Dear Cynthia—Here I am again, Cynthia, and as sarcastic as ever before, but I don't mean to be; it is really nothing but a frank confession of my feelings.

GOING AWAY OVER THE FOURTH?

Of course you'll have to get there, and whether you wear a suit or a dress you'll need a small dark hat to wear on the train.

And if you go out in the evening or to an afternoon affair you'll need something large and rather dressy like the white silk hat trimmed with wheat.

For any week-end visit, or indeed for your whole summer vacation, you will be fixed if you have these three hats.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

Twinkling Isle BY DADDY

CHAPTER VI Robinson Crusoe's Great-Grandson PEGGY and Billy ran fast toward the cabin where lived the only man on Twinkling Isle.

"Hello, Mr. Crusoe! We have come to rescue you!" shouted Peggy. "My stars and garters! Billy, who are you and how did you know our name?"

"We are children who came in a wish sailboat," replied Peggy. "And we know your name because we read all about you in a story-book."

Two Whole Days and a Half of Holiday With Nothing to Do but Loaf Until Tuesday

What Will You Do: Go to the Seashore or Country, Have a Picnic or Just Stay Home and Be Thankful?

Isn't it fine when a holiday comes on Monday and you have two whole days and a half to "loaf"?

Some of us are hustling away this afternoon by an early train to the seashore.

We'll get right into the ocean—and oh, won't it be cold at first, but won't it be wonderful afterward?

And then the baking on the hot sand until it's time to go in and dress for that leisurely stroll on the Boardwalk before dinner—and how we will eat with that salt-crusted appetite!

Two more whole days of that air that appetite, that wonderful ocean and those leisurely strolls.

No lunch hour, no time clock, no alarm clock, no subway, trolley, suburban train, no need for hurry!

BUT some of us aren't going to the country where the air is soft and cool and sweet.

It's so quiet and peaceful when we get there, so far away from the hot, hurrying crowd that we left behind when we stepped on the train.

A restful late afternoon on a shady porch, rocking, knitting, talking, gazing fully at the green, rolling landscape, and then dinner.

And how we do enjoy that meal, with everything fresh from the garden, and real, country air coming in the windows.

Sleep? The night seems about five minutes long. Two whole days more of peace and quiet rest!

BUT there are still some more of us who aren't going anywhere at all. We're just going to take things easy.

Tomorrow is Sunday, but what a different Sunday. We don't have to crowd in a lot of resting and holidaying and getting ready for the week.

We have a whole "nother day after that. And on that other day we go for a picnic, perhaps, with sandwiches, olives, eggs, gingerale, cake, children, balls, bats, baskets, blankets, pillows, shovels and chairs.

Then we'll sing a little, play a little, have a picnic, perhaps, with sandwiches, olives, eggs, gingerale, cake, children, balls, bats, baskets, blankets, pillows, shovels and chairs.

The Woman's Exchange especially when a blue dress is worn with a white blouse. Yellow Spots on Ivory To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Can you please tell me how I can remove the yellow spots and several yellow spots and what causes these spots? Water allowed to remain on white ivory often causes the yellow spots which you mention. I should suggest that you rub turpentine upon them until they are clean and allow it to remain for a day while the articles are spread out in the sun. I have found it very successful. To Fill in a "Dent" To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Can you please tell me how I can fill in a dent in a dent in the nose? I wore eyeglasses for quite a while and the mark is now there. You tell me how and when buttermilk is used when used for freckles? Can you tell me how the eyes can be made to appear darker? They are the light blue. Inquisitive. Time will fix up this dent for you. Apply cold cream to the place every night for a while and bathe it occasionally with first hot then cold water. This will help to close the pores and bring the skin to its normal color. Use buttermilk just like a face lotion, rubbing it on and into the face every night and leaving it on all night. After you wash your face apply a little peroxide or lemon juice to help bleach the freckles. The wearing of a dark hat or a dark dress sometimes makes light eyes appear darker, but nothing else except the use of peroxide or lemon juice can be seen very attractive. To Save the Teeth To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Please tell me what to do to prevent gums from shrinking. You would have to consult a dentist about your first question. I do not think there is any way of doing what you refer to, but perhaps a dentist could suggest something. If the gums have started shrinking, there is little you can do for them, but if you catch them in time the following treatment very often cures them. Rub table salt upon them with a soft cloth, then rinse your mouth with cool salt water. Finish by rinsing several times with cold water to stimulate the circulation. Do this whenever you clean your teeth. Two or three times a day, and you may be able to stop the shrinking. Names for Boys' Club To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Will you kindly tell me through your exchange a good name for a boy's club? The name should be something fun, something that boys like. I am a member of the club and I am standing for All-Around Athletes. SECRETARY. The "Foxy Five" might appeal to you as a suggestion for a club name, or another, the "Littles A. A.," standing for All-Around Athletes. To Save the Teeth To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Please tell me what to do to prevent gums from shrinking. In the matter of making acquaintances, summer hotel customs are but little more formal than steamship etiquette. Sometimes there is a more or less official attitude to whom a man with the wish to be introduced to apply if he is a stranger or group of persons. This official attitude is not to be taken as a sign of snobbery or of a desire to be snubbed. Acquaintance should be sought. Sometimes a woman is mistress of ceremonies and social ice-breaker—an office requiring abundance of tact, since, of course, there are always individuals and families who do not desire to extend their circle of acquaintances. In smaller hotels guests who meet every day at the same table soon fall into conversation. Card parties and dances also serve to promote sociability. A man who wishes to dance can always ask the floor-manager or the mistress of ceremonies to present him to a dancing partner.
