Nancy Wynne Speaks With Regret of the Death of Mr. Geyelin-She Tells of Affairs for Members of the School Set

Henry Laussat Geyelin on the morning of the Fourth of July at his summer home at Eaglesmere. He was stricken with a sudden heart attack and death bilowed quickly. Mr. Geyelin lived at Hardwicke, Villanova, in the wintertime. His wife was Miss Alice Rawle, s member of the well-known family of that name. Mr. Geyelin's parents came to Philadelphia before his birth. They Bred originally in Alsace. Mr. Geyelin. the father, was a hydraulic engineer and constructed the turbines for the Fairmount Park waterworks.

Mr. Henry Geyelin was a lawyar of high repute. He was interested in public affairs and was for many years one of the directors of the Charity Ball. WHAT a happy time the school-set W members do have during the summers! Just one round of play and dancing and fun. It is getting more and more the thing to have big house parties, and the Billy Morices are giving one on Friday for a week down at their cottage at Bilver Lake for their daughter.

Then the George Clymer Stouts have gone abroad and taken their children with them. They will be gone for three menths, I hear, returning only in time for school once more. Mrs. Stout, you remember, was Miss Anne Wetherill. She has three little girls, who ride a sen, Billy Addicks, by Mrs. Stout's first marriage, and he is traveling abroad with them, too. The Stouts have a place out in Berwyn.

And when Persey came up Skinny sed Hello Persey, youre jest in time we're going to play osteopaths. Wich Persey started to look a little sispicious, saying, I never herd of it, I dont think I wunt to play, and I sed, Aw wy not, all you haff to do is come in office and say you got a hed ake or something, and then us two osteopaths give you a treatment and thats all there s to it. Wat kind of a treetment? sed Persey looking even more sispicious, and Skinny sed, O. jest a osteopath treetskinny sed, O, jest a osteopath treet-ment and if you dont like it you can stop playing, wats you afraid of? I ain't afraid, ware is the office? ses Persey, and Skinny sed, Rite heer, all you haff to do is wawk up and say, Docter, I got a hed ake and Id like a little osteopathy.

Wich Persey did, saying, Docter, I got a hed ake, 'Id like a little osty wat do you call it. Hay dock, heers a man with a hed ake, sed Skinny, and I sed, All rite, dock, lets give him a little treetment. Wich we started to do. jumping up and grabbing hold of Perseys hed and starting to give it a treetment as if it was on fire insted of jest having a ake in it, and Persey yelled, Hay, hay I dident meen a hed ake, I ment a back O, he's got a back ake, dock, sed Skinny, and I sed, Well then we better give him a back ake treetment to make sure, dock. With we started to do. sure, dock. Wich we started to do. ferst me giving him two fearse smacks on the back and pushing him over to Skinny and then Skinny giving him two fearse cracks and pushing him back to me, and we was going to continue the treetment like that wen Persey started to run like the dickins looking sispicious as enything.
