A Freebooter By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

TIN

GRAVEL

The cheapest form of roof protection—whether you have a composition, tin or gravel roof.

Say that a new roof would last you 20 years, that is conservative, some last forty.

Say that an application of Fibre Coating will make your old roof last four years more and still be as good as it is now—that is an equally conservative statement.

Four applications of Fibre Coating at intervals when needed, will generally add as many years of roofing service as you would get from re-roofing.

Fibre Coating costs applied just about one-eighth the price of the average 20-year roof.

That means that it costs only half as much per year to repaint an old roof every four or five years as to buy a new 20-year roof.

help whereof he hoped to make new acquaintances promising much profit.

Naturally Hay & Hawkins cherished him, gave him the cream of their business, never batted an eye over expense accounts nor frowned if he stretched week-end leave a day or so.

A power in the big city, the firm yet ran strongly to developments. Hence Hopley's presence here, where still the scent of roses and the tang of ripe fruit haunted the summer air.

Again Hopley grinned—chuckles, dead ripe ones, were his special weakness. He all but ran toward the tree, calling as he went: "Throw down a handful, sonny —I'll pay you all right. I'd climb for 'em myself if the tree had room for us both."

Sonny started visibly—swung too far out and over, lost foothold, clung by both hands to the trunk, which branched a little below, and brought half of it down with a crash upon Hopley's head.

"You're a ninny!" she said succinctly. "I'm a freebooter. Just that. I did want cherries—less to eat than to gather them—so offered those three old cats $10 to let me do it—they turned me down cold—any way they hate Gran and all her works—so when I tell them to go off in their old chariot I put on these," looking proudly at her outer integument, "and came—for the good of their souls."

"How happened it you had 'em?" Hopley asked with twinkling eyes. "I got them at the middle of the thickets. It was loaded with dead ripe fruit—so darkly red it was black. And up in the very tip there was a boy in overall—singing and swinging peliously by one hand and foot, the while the other hand plundered the twigs farthest out of reach."

never get the stains out. I hope you can afford a new one."

"After a while—maybe. Now, let's eat our fill of cherries," Hopley returned, sitting action to words.

"You know quite too much," Hopley laughed back. "I don't ask how I shall be unreasonably happy."

"I don't see why. Uncle Timothy told me last night, after Gran was home, about your people—the Double It's he calls them—wanting that crawfish-land—and what for? He's wild to have you get it—says it will mean so much to the town now that boys have no real play place. But he dares not speak out—the Finleys hate us so. I told him to memorialize them against your plan. It would help a lot, I know."

Pleasant to the Taste—Whitens the Teeth

If you are using a tooth paste that contains grit or chemicals you are injuring your teeth.

Particularly in the case of children is this so. Their delicate teeth cannot resist grit. Children like to use Spearmint. It's pleasant flavor appeals to them and they enjoy brushing their teeth with it.

A little Spearmint goes a long way. Spread it across instead of along the brush. It is a 100% dentifrice, so you only need a small amount to get the best results.

Notwithstanding, half a mile from Gran's gate Betty asked suddenly: "Why are you so crazy to pull off this deal? Any special reason?"

"The best in all the world," Hopley returned promptly. "I accept with thanks the gods the gods provide. When you fell in my arms I realized that you were an expensive luxury—one I dared not aspire to until I had won my spurs. Will you wait for me to do it?"

"Idiot! I've not the least intention—otherwise," Betty flung back, sitting distantly, yet permitting him to kiss her hand good-by—
