SAW Gertrude Pancoast and her mother on Welnut street the other on the street the other on the both looked awfully well. Gentude was wearing a smart dark foulard dress, with white scrolls owing it, and a small black hat demed with black feathers. Mrs. Panest also wore a dark blue dress, with white dots through it. Her hat was sailor shape, trimmed with white to Maine on a visit, and I suppose to will spend some of the summer in the May. The Pancoasts generally

TS funny when you hear of one per-I son going to a certain resort on one day, you just meet any number of people in that same day or week who sal you they are going there or they have heard of some one who is going there, too. There are the Nathan Taylors for instance, Mrs. Taylor and Evalua and Marjorie. They went up to Kannebunkport. Me., some time ago, and I happened to speak of it to Allsa MacColl and found that she and here MacColl and found that she and her parents have a cottage up there. Ailsa, you remember, did fine work on the other side during the war. She is a most attractive girl, I think. Her parents are the Rev. Alexander MacColl and Mrs. MacColl. Mr. MacColl is lastor of the Presbyterian church at paster of the Presbyterian church at Twenty-first and Walnut streets. The Maxwell Shepperds of Twentyand and Walnut streets motored up ebunkport about two weeks ago.

They have a beautiful summer home there, the Greyling, where they spend marly every senson.

The William Henry Trotters and Trotter, their daughter, will the summer up in Kennebunkport, and ever so many others, too,

WHAT busy little beings kiddies are! Take Billy, for instance. He is three years old and he never stops trying his hand at one thing or another. He has often watched his sister make candy, and he liked the taste, and so the other day when Mother happened into the kitchen during "nap" time, after Billy had been, as she thought, comfortably asleep in his little bed for at least half an hour, there was Master will bending over the saucepan on the facer, in which were oatmeal, milk, segar, coco, breadcrumbe, two unbetten eggs and a sprig of mint. "Why. Bay!" she exclaimed, "what on earth are you doing?" And Billy said, stirring busily with a spoon, "Making tage."

PLAN OPEN-AIR MOVIES

Dozen to Be Located in Playgrounds for "Stay-at-Home" Kiddies

Boys and girls who stay in the city for the summer will have a new di-persion this year, thanks to the division of physical education of the Board of Education. It will be open-air movies. It has been announced that there will be a dozen such this year, located at playgrounds. There were three last season and these weer so successful that it was decided to multiply last year's number. Educational films will be own, but these will be of an intensely interesting sort, it is promised.

LITTLE BENNY 'S NOTE BOOK

Colonel W. R. Scott, who founded the organization more than thirty years

tachment of cadets will go to Island Heights.

The first group this year left the Wanamaker Store yesterday. The companies formed on the ninth floor, where they were reviewed and cheered by noticed Sid Hunts little brother Bert of if he badent of ha following them and they ran about his mind to worry him. 5 blocks to get away from him and they all got out of breth and was gray-haired buyers and executives, who still out of it wen they got to the themselves in many instances were members of this same organization years park, the result being the Park Wonders beet them, score 44 to 12.

Sissiety. Mr. Charles (Puds)
Simkins had a berthday last Wensday, among the presents he got being stockings, books, neck ties, shoes and deckorated post cards After a brief review the cadets left the store by the Market street entrance, where they were met by a special platoon of police and escorted to Mar-ket Street Ferry, where they boarded the boats for Camden and thence went by train to Island Heights. 16,000 IN C.
