

GUARDSMAN HURT BY VICIOUS HORSE

Private in Company K Thrown From Animal and Severely Bruised

27 FACE COURT-MARTIAL

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger Mount Gretna, Pa., July 14.—Private John Smith, Company K, of 110th Infantry, has announced his determination to ride a vicious army horse within the next week. Smith, who is only eighteen, is at present occupying a cot in the camp hospital as a result of injuries he received when a horse he was riding became restive and, after bucking several times, threw him heavily to the ground. To add to the accident the horse stumbled and partly fell on him. He was taken to the camp hospital where it was found he had received numerous body bruises.

Three guardsmen have been thrown by this same horse in the last two days. Last evening Lieutenant Colonel John Aiken, of the 110th Regiment, was thrown while riding the horse to the post of review at the regimental parade. Colonel Henry W. Coulter, former commander of the regiment, although shaken up a bit, the colonel remounted and took his accustomed place with the regimental commanders, thinking he had not been injured. This morning he awoke with a severe pain on his right side. It was later found that he had an affection of the right shoulder.

The third victim of the unruly animal was another private in the same regiment. He was tossed into a bank the day before on his way to the stables, but escaped uninjured. As a result of the accident the horse has been barred from further camp use.

Work on Range Near End According to Colonel Edward Martin, commanding the 110th Infantry, work at the rifle ranges will be completed some time this afternoon, marking the conclusion of one of the most trying parts of the new program. The men of this regiment have been spending half of each day at target practice. Seven companies left for the range each morning and devoted each afternoon to other instructions. The other companies went out in the afternoon, after having devoted the morning to intensive study of other departments. The 110th has already had a reputation for its sharpshooters, and it is expected that when the records are completed it will still maintain its high rank.

Captain John E. Anderson, of Company L, of the 110th, with his men are lamenting the absence of their cook, "Bill" Small, who was operated upon for appendicitis some time ago at his home in Blairsville. Since reaching camp he has again been troubled with the ailment. Yesterday the camp physicians ordered him to be removed to the Lebanon Hospital. Today his condition was reported to be somewhat improved.

Court-Martial This Afternoon This afternoon the twenty-seven members of the 100th Infantry Regiment, who were brought back to camp with "A. W. O. L." charges placed against them, will be tried at a summary court-martial. Pending trial the men were kept busy cleaning the company streets in the regiment.

The physical inspection of the 100th and the 110th has now been completed, the final requirements being the taking of the finger-prints. The reords indicate that, physically, the guardsmen compare favorably with those of the pre-war days. Battalion Major A. O. Fish, of the 110th, had a battalion review and parade late yesterday, with the regimental band furnishing music. William A. Rogers, physical director of the Wilkes-Barre Y. M. C. A., who is in charge of the camp physical training, brought a big pushball along to camp. Every evening the guardsmen have a lot of fun pushing the ball over the parade grounds. Among the distinguished visitors at the camp of the 110th today were Congressman H. W. Temple, of Washington, Pa., former chaplain of the 10th, and former Congressman Thomas S. Crago, former lieutenant colonel of the 10th. The visit was entirely unofficial.

FAVORS WATERWAY PLANS

Senator Thinks U. S. Will Join Canada in St. Lawrence Project Montreal, July 14.—(By A. P.)—Confidence that the United States will join with Canada in opening the St. Lawrence River as a part of a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic was voiced here today by United States Senator Townsend, of Michigan. The Senator said he felt sure the report of the joint commission that spent eighteen months investigating the feasibility of the project would be favorable, and that it would meet the approval of Congress. Possibilities of power development, Senator Townsend said, were of its great importance as development of a waterway and revenue derived from sale of the power, he believed, would pay for the project. The waterway could be built, he declared, "without taking a dollar from the United States Treasury."

One Reported Dead in Wreck Pittsburgh, Pa., July 14.—William E. George, an engineer on a passenger train on the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was reported killed, and the fireman, Frank A. Carr, injured last night when their train crashed into a freight train at Houston Falls, near here. None of the passengers is reported being injured.

AWAIT GOVERNOR'S DAY AT SEA GIRL

Edwards Will Review 114th New Jersey Regiment at Camp Tomorrow

POLITICIANS TO GATHER

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger Camp Edwards, Sea Girt, July 14.—Tomorrow will be a day of entertainment at the State reservation. Not only will Governor Edwards play host to several hundred prominent men whom he has invited from the southern tier of counties to attend the first Governor's Day celebration of the season, but hundreds of men and women from the home towns of the soldier boys now in camp will come here to see their khaki-clad friends and relatives. It will be a proud day for the soldiers. The entire 114th Regiment, headed by Colonel Winfield S. Price, of Camden, will be reviewed during the afternoon by Governor Edwards and the members of his military staff. With the Governor will be Colonel Edward I. Edwards, Jr., Lieutenant Colonel Harry B. Salter, of Trenton; Lieutenant Colonel Nicholas Feury, of Jersey City; Major Arthur Foran, of Flemington, the naval officer of the port of New York, and Captain Stephen Barlow, of Trenton. The review of the troops is to follow the open-air luncheon which is to be served on the lawn adjacent to the Little White House.

It will be a day of no little significance outside of its striking military ceremonies, because those who come tomorrow at the bidding of the Governor will devote no little to political discussion. Party leaders are to be on hand at Houston Falls, near here. The representatives in the various counties represented. The importance of next year's elections in New Jersey, when a Governor and a United States Senator are to be elected, makes the Governor's Day celebration this year of great importance. The review tomorrow will be the one break in the grim grind of the military training machinery for the entire week, and it will come as a welcome respite from hard work to the 1100 officers and men in camp. The soldiers have stuck to their tasks through good and bad weather and the persistence which they have displayed has gone a long way in contribution to the rapid advancement which they have made in their training since they opened their period of instruction on Monday.

3 SOLDIERS BURIED IN SINGLE GRAVE

Undertaker, Said to Be Former Convict, Employed by Government

BODIES WITHOUT COFFINS

New York, July 14.—Violation of a contract with the United States Public Health Service whereby an undertaker had buried three former soldiers in one grave in a Long Island cemetery was disclosed yesterday. Under the contract the undertaker was required to bury each former soldier in a separate grave, after properly preparing the bodies for burial and providing suitable coffins of a specified standard. Investigation yesterday by the Health Service revealed that none of these requirements had been met with. Cemetery records also showed that three other veterans who died in a hospital and were unclaimed by relatives were buried in a single grave. In two other cases two former soldiers had been interred in one grave. Colonel C. K. Haskell, inspector for the Health Service, said yesterday the undertaker who had been awarded a contract to bury former service men who died in the public health hospitals was a former convict. The investigation followed charges made Tuesday by State Senator Meyer that bodies of soldiers who died in hospitals were buried two and three in one grave—many not even embalmed. A nurse who visited the cemetery to arrange for the placing of a headstone on the grave of a former soldier friend in the grave, she reported the matter to the Health Service. Senator Meyer's criticism on the Municipal Health Department, which he said, failed to properly check burial permits or to use a follow-up system, was vehemently denied by Health Commissioner Copeland. The commissioner asserted there was no State law or sanitary regulation which forbade the putting of two, three or more bodies in one grave, provided that none of the bodies was brought to a depth of less than six feet below the surface of the ground. The custom, he added, has been in vogue here for fifty years, and it is forbidden would rapidly use up burial grounds within the city limits.

The demand that no brush wider than four and a half inches be used was dropped, as was the demand for double time for using the spraying machine.

PAINTERS LOSE STRIKE

Fifteen Hundred in Cincinnati Return at Old Wage

Cincinnati, July 14.—Fifteen hundred union painters who have been on strike here for fourteen weeks, announced yesterday that they would return to work for their old wage scale of eighty-seven and a half cents an hour. Their original demand was for $1.25 an hour, which was reduced to $1 an hour, but still the employers refused to accept. The painters' union is one of the largest in the city. The strike was called by the union on July 1, 1920, over a dispute over wages and working conditions. The employers offered a wage of $1.00 an hour, but the union refused to accept it. The strike lasted for 14 weeks, during which time the city suffered from a shortage of painters. The union eventually agreed to return to work for their old wage scale of 87.5 cents an hour.
