JAMES AND SCHUCK REFUSED REPRIEVE

Slayers of David S. Paul, Camden Bank Runner, to Die Week of August 28

EDWARDS WON'T INTERFERE

Frank J. James and Raymond W. chuck, slayers of David S. Paul, Camden bank runner, must die in the e'ectric chair during the week of August 38, Governor Edwards, of New Jersey, indicated today. The condemned men have hoped for a reprieve, pending an appeal to the Court of Pardons.

The Governor issued this statement:

The Court of Pardons has recently estrated in the denial of the Fitz-ons and Pierson applications that simmons and Pierson applications that it will not interfere in the execution of the death penalty unless under the most extraordinary circumstances, because of a recent legislative enactment which leaves wholly with the jury the right to determine whether the punishment shall be in cases of willful murment shall be in cases of willful murment for life.

The jury is thoroughly familiar with all the facts and they are charged by the facts and they are charged by all the facts and they are charged by the Trial Judge that, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 134 of the Laws of 1919, it is for them to determine whether the punishment shall be the electric chair or a life-term imprisonment. If not the enactment of this law, the first change having been made in 1916, the Court of Pardons frequently exercised its constitutional prerogative and changed the death pensity to life imprisonment when the same was not opposed by the Prosecutor or Trial Judge

No Doubt of Guilt

Detectives Find Persons Who DETECTIVE CHIDES PENNOCK Received Tarnished Pieces From Alleged Slayers

BARBER WAS SUSPICIOUS

Detectives are checking up on the $5 gold pieces stolen from Mrs. Sarah Parr, the eighty-five-year-old woman who was fatally beaten by robbers who attacked her and Edward Reed, her eighty-year-old brother.

Three men, Henry Reinschreiber, Matthew Bonkowski and George Disque the last named a fugitive—are accused of the robbery. Reinschreiber and Bonkowski, under arrest at Trenton, N. J., blame the missing Disque for the attack. Each of the three is said to have received twenty-two gold pieces.

District Detective Dougherty, of the Frankford station, has learned that Frankford station, has learned that wherever Reinschreiber and Bonkowski went they had trouble passing the gold because it was discolored with age. Frank Weiss, a barber, at 158 East Dauphin street, shaved Reinschreiber Friday afternoon, and received a dim and tarnished gold piece. The barber doubted its genuineness until he had scrubbed it with soap and water.

Bought Motorcar Tires Then Reinschreiber and Bonkowski went in their machine to G. Starken-man, 1711 Susquehanna avenue, to buy automobile tires. They paid in tarnished gold.

A garage man in Woodbury, N. J. Dolan, 2143 North Twelfth street. He was twenty-one years old at the time of his death.

Dolan was a private in Co. C, 109th Infantry, Twenty-eighth Division. Before he enlisted he was an employe of the Curtis Publishing Co. He was widely known in the city as an amateur beschell player. Two more of the old five-dollar gold pleces were given to Mrs. Celia Gam-ble. She handed one over to her father, Thomas Gamble, to pay his dues in a fraternal organization. Ellis A.
