

GUARDS IN REVIEW BEFORE GOVERNOR

Military Pageant Held at Mt. Gretna in Honor of prou's Visit

BEGIN DAY AND NIGHT HIKE

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
Camp Gretna, Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 21.—Governor Sproul, commander-in-chief of the Pennsylvania National Guard, arrived in camp today accompanied by Mrs. Sproul, Mayor E. Y. Harbock, of Pittsburgh, and Brigadier General Frank D. Beary, adjutant general of the National Guard. They were the guests of Major General William G. Price, the commanding officer at division headquarters, together with General Richard Coulter, commander of the Fifty-fifth Infantry Brigade; Colonel Robert M. Valli, of the 10th Regiment, and Colonel Edward Martin, of the 110th.

A brigade review was held this afternoon in honor of the Governor. The entire brigade leaves today for the day-and-night hike into the Conewago Valley. It was hoped to start the hike at noon, but the arrival of the Governor delayed the plans of the division commander. "Am mighty glad to be here," was the Governor's first comment upon reaching camp. "I hope to run down from Harrisburg during each of the encampment periods if possible and will also pay a visit to the Tobyhanna camp. He will leave late this afternoon for his home at Landon Manor, near Chester, accompanied by Mrs. Sproul. The rest of the guests will return to Harrisburg tonight. All the muster rolls will be finished this evening. Each commander will be able to carry home the check for his officers and men. This is the first time that the rolls were finished before the men broke camp.

districts under the command of Brigadier General Borden. Plans for the maneuver were made late yesterday by General Borden, Colonel Thorne, Major Winterton, Captain Perry, Colonel Price, of Camden, and Colonel Edward Phillips, of Newark. The problem takes up the work of the brigade immediately after its landing on the shore at Sea Girt from troop ships, which arrived under cover of darkness and heavily convoyed. The troops must press at once to secure the important railroad junction at the village of Farmingdale, and, if possible, extend their operations ever further toward Trenton and the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. In their movement westward the men are being given instruction in advanced guard work, upon which the greatest stress is being laid by the instructors. The regimental commanders were acquainted up to the stage which will be reached about two miles west of here.
