WOMEN'S G. O. P. PLANS OUTLINED

Great Possibilities for Civic Good Lie Before Body, Mrs. Lorimer Asserts

TO REFORM WORLD

possibilities for civic good lie before the Republican Woman's Club of Pennsylvania if the plans for the of Pennsylvania if the plans for the work of the organization as outlined by Mrs. George Horace Lorimer are successfully carried out. This good will be not only for the women themselves, but for the city and the Commonwealth as well.

"We are not starting out with the idea of reforming the world," said Mrs. Lorimer, "but we believe that we should been and as we learn we hope to and as we learn we hope to We start in a humble spirit to nourselves and with no wish to at the top, but rather to begin bottom and find our way along

"It is a duty common to all citiens of the Commonwealth to take an nterest in things political, and this interest in things political, and this applies to women as well as to men. We shall not try to make politics over and we really do not believe that we are better than the men, although we like to have them think so, but we do know that the more intelligent thinking people, men or wamen, who can be persuaded or made to 'take up' politics the sooner we shall have clean streets, proper sourcements, lower taxes, lower costs. musements, lower taxes, lower costs of living, better conditions for the wel-fare of women and children and what-ever reforms we need and demand.

"But, as women, we have been re-cently given the franchise, and we want to use it intelligently. That is the whole story, and that is the attitude of women all over the State.

Important Duties "One of the first and most important things for us to realize is how to see that the right men are nominated and to see that the right measures are forward by them after they are one of the most important things of all for us to realize, is the necessity for working inside the party. Women should be no longer neutral. We can accomplish much within the party and that is where we must do our work. Women should no longer work

The club will be the meeting place for Republican women throughout the State who are interested in public af-fairs. In addition to the usual features of a social club, meetings, debates, lectures and other gatherings on matters of public interest will be held at frequent intervals. Classes on parlimentary law and on political education will also be formed.

"One of the things which we shall have will be a round-table at which matters of public interest will be thoroughly discussed from all sides.

It be the duty of the Woman's Republican Club to see that all knowledge of this kind is placed where every coman who desires it can get it easily.

Primary Elections

"In the case of the primary elections, we shall pursue the same policy. The record of every man who comes up for a nomination will be most care-fully scrutinized before we shall attempt to say whether or not he shall have our support in his efforts to get "Another important point in our policy will be that we shall keep watch on the men who are elected and see on the men who are election that they live up to their pre-election pledges. A small committee will be appointed to attend the sessions of the Legislature. Our club members will also be urged to visit personally the State House at Harrisburg and observe at first hand how legislation is effected.

"Much has been said about women "Much has been said about women and the home, especially in its relation to the part that women will take in matters political. But, after all, they are pretty nearly one and the same thing. Whoever makes the political decisions about the condition of our streets, the milk and a thousand and one other things, makes the decisions which vitally affect the home conditions of every man, woman and child in the of every man, woman and child in the State. Women, in taking an interest in politics, are not going outside of the home; they are simply throwing additional safeguards around the safeguards.

"We intend to be good Republicans, but we intend to do our own thinking. It is ridiculous to leave a political party because things within it are not right. A person does not leave his home because things do not always go just right and the political situation is almost parallel. The thing to do is not to leave the party but to do our utmost to make the party but to do our utmost to make that party right."

Superintendent Denies Charges They Tried to Minimize Schiff Robbery

HINDERED BY U.S. OFFICIALS

Conflicting reports concerning the aleged theft of $50,000 worth of liquor from the warehouse of Morris Schiff, phia. 141 Milnor street, Sunday, brought comment today from Superintendent of Police Mills, who is making an investigation of the case.

Among other reports was one to the effect that the police were trying to minimize the robbery.

Superintendent Mills said Schiff made no mention of the police in reporting the obbery. He said that investigation so ar shows the police were not to blame in the case.

From a statement made by the super-intendent it appears the police have been hampered in their efforts to punish violators of the liquor laws through the action of some of the Federal authori-superintendent allis said two policemen of the vice squad bought liquor at Schiff's place some time ago. This case was turned over to the Federal authorities, according to Mills, but Schiff was not arrested. An affidavit by the men who obtained the liquor was

"If the Government authorities do not arrest Schiff," said the Superin-tendent, "I will ask for a return of the evidence. We will obtain a war-rant for Schiff's arrest in the Central Station on the charge of violation of the liquor laws. I read in the news-papers that Federal officials denied the men who obtained the evidence had made an affidavit against Schiff. I will prove otherwise."

The Superintendent said he was advised by District Attorney Rotan to prosecute Schiff under the Warner act, which provides a fine and imprisonment for selling or transporting liquor.
