

Lord Northcliffe Blames Curzon

Sees British Foreign Minister's Hand in Cancellation of Embassy Dinner

IS HONOR GUEST TONIGHT

Washington, July 29.—"Because 'for reasons of which he is not aware,' an invitation to stop at the British Embassy while in Washington has been withdrawn," Lord Northcliffe, the British publisher, is quoted as saying in a local hotel today.

Disclosure that embassy hostilities previously tendered had been cancelled by a statement issued by him after his arrival in Washington yesterday.

That Lord Northcliffe views the incident as a cleavage of recent editorial attacks on Premier Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, in the London Times, the leading Northcliffe paper, opposing the suggestion that Curzon should represent Great Britain at the Washington disarmament conference, is left in little doubt by the publisher's statement.

"Knowing the methods in which Lord Curzon has adopted these methods," the London Times, the British Foreign Office shutting down on the privileged news rights enjoyed there by the Times for years.

Curzon's Methods in India

"In India white victors," Lord Northcliffe's statement continued, "Lord Curzon cut off the news supply of newspapers that criticized him and placed a social embargo on their writers."

Beyond the statement that the reported circumstances of the withdrawal of the invitation to the dinner, the embassy had nothing to say about it.

The action of the British Embassy in withdrawing both invitations did not become known until late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Harding, in his early struggles as a newspaper proprietor made a particular appeal to Lord Northcliffe's imagination.

The Times, referring to Lord Curzon, then alleged that "this pompous and pretentious manner and incapacity for business do not fit him to discharge the responsible duties the mission would impose."

The same Cabinet members who were to have been invited to the embassy dinner to the British publisher have been invited and are expected to meet Lord Northcliffe at the subterfuge dinner to be given in his honor tonight at Friendship.

I. PRESS & SONS

15 JWELED

ADJUSTED WATCHES

20 Year GUARANTEED

Filled GOLD Cases

Engraved or Plain Style EXTRA THIN MODEL

$28.00 NOW

VALUE $10.00

A handsome $28.00 watch for the special sale price of $10.00.

A watch you will be proud to own, and priced at a big saving.

I. PRESS & SONS

AMONDS-WATCHES-JEWELRY COR. 8th & CHESTNUT STS. 1017 Market St. 909 Market St.

ferent footing from the possession of Shantung.

EMBASSY SNUB MIXED WITH IRISH SITUATION

London, July 29.—The snub given Lord Northcliffe by the British Embassy in Washington may have been due, it is thought here, to an interview with Lord Northcliffe in New York regarding conversations between Premier Lloyd George and King George about Ireland.

Lord Northcliffe's Manchester Mail published Monday in its first edition, which was circulated in Ireland and Scotland, an interview supposed to have been given by him in New York, quoting the King as asking Premier Lloyd George: "When are you going to stop killing my subjects in Ireland?"

After the first edition the story disappeared and the Times and the Mail here did not touch it.

As to restoring to China what was once hers, it is a dream. Just as selfish nations will sit in the Washington conference as in the Paris conference, they will be bound together, all common interest in maintaining their hold upon their territorial possessions and their spheres of influence.

It is to the interest of the powers exploiting China, however, to keep her divided and weak. The utmost that is likely to come from international action with respect to China is a restraint upon her future exploitation.

China Can't Hope for Restoration

Continued from Page One

Lord's resolution proposes that it be returned to China.

Large debts to Great Britain, France and Belgium and other countries is the result. China expects to be forced to pay them when the situation in the coming conference of being less generous to China than this country or of having to remit the claims to the Boxer indemnity.

Allies Bound to Japan

Moreover, all are bound to Japan in respect to Slanting by the secret treaties. Unless Japan voluntarily changes the status of Shantung there is little prospect of any alteration of it.

The British Embassy has on Lord Northcliffe is the direct result of his controversy with Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon.

BANKS BUSINESS COLLEGE

Business Administration Course

The organizing and managing of business taught in the most practical manner.

"I Want to Do Something Useful"

Business offers big opportunities to those who are willing to work.

Day School Opens Sept. 6

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS SEPT. 8

1200 WALNUT STREET

THE WILLIAM PENN CHARTER SCHOOL

Founded 1789

The Academic Year 1921-22 begins Tuesday September 20, 1921.

THE HOLMAN SCHOOL

For Boys and Girls

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

College, Academic Music, Oratory, Collegiate Athletics

Cushing Academy

Widow Takes Laurel From Gearty Coffin

Continued from Page One

tack, and died a few days later at a base hospital near Paris.

What the best-informed Chinese chiefly expect is First, an ending of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Second, an extension of the principle of the consortium to all dealings of the great powers with China.

Third, an affirmation of the principle of the open door in the East.

Fourth, the education of this country with regard to China's position and the American interests in China.

Many well-informed Chinese regard this last as the most important result that will spring from the conference.

As to restoring to China what was once hers, it is a dream.

It is to the interest of the powers exploiting China, however, to keep her divided and weak.

The status quo except, perhaps, with regard to the twenty-one demands is not likely to be altered.

Wife Sees Suicide Fall

Man Fires Shot Into Body in Presence of Spouse and Friends

Max Perstein, a farmer of Audubon, N. J., attempted suicide at his home last night by shooting himself above the heart in the presence of his wife and several friends.

The shooting was a result of a domestic quarrel, in which Perstein accused of attentions to another woman.

He was taken to the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, where it was said he would recover.

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

EDUCATIONAL

Stop Rum Running, Say 2 U. S. Agencies

Continued from Page One

goes from ships at sea to a shore rendezvous, in the opinion of officials here.

Mr. McLean, following a conference with customs officials, announced he had ordered an investigation to ascertain why customs agents are not seizing "rum runners."

They have all the authority they need," he said, "if they can stop smuggling, and are not doing it, they are neglecting their duty."

No official reports of any character concerning the rum smugglers at Atlantic City have reached here.

The late evening hours raiding cafes and roadhouses, but letting the big and little sellers of rum in Atlantic City severely alone.

The agents badly scared for a short time, however, and for about an hour the resort came nearer to being "dry" than it has been for months.

Special Prosecutor Gaskill, who is leading the clean-up campaign, darted about the edges of the big town during the late evening hours, raiding cafes and roadhouses.

Mr. Gaskill said that the "lid was on tight" in Atlantic City. He also stated that he had a force of "honest men" working for him.

Shortly after midnight customs officials rode suddenly up to a wharf about twenty-five feet from where the Pocomoke is tied up on a tip that fifty or sixty cases of Scotch were piled up there.

They landed there were twenty-four hours too late. The liquor had been there, in plain sight from the deck of the Pocomoke, for several hours on Wednesday night just before daybreak.

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

Stop Rum Running, Say 2 U. S. Agencies

Continued from Page One

goes from ships at sea to a shore rendezvous, in the opinion of officials here.

Mr. McLean, following a conference with customs officials, announced he had ordered an investigation to ascertain why customs agents are not seizing "rum runners."

They have all the authority they need," he said, "if they can stop smuggling, and are not doing it, they are neglecting their duty."

No official reports of any character concerning the rum smugglers at Atlantic City have reached here.

The late evening hours raiding cafes and roadhouses, but letting the big and little sellers of rum in Atlantic City severely alone.

The agents badly scared for a short time, however, and for about an hour the resort came nearer to being "dry" than it has been for months.

Special Prosecutor Gaskill, who is leading the clean-up campaign, darted about the edges of the big town during the late evening hours, raiding cafes and roadhouses.

Mr. Gaskill said that the "lid was on tight" in Atlantic City. He also stated that he had a force of "honest men" working for him.

Shortly after midnight customs officials rode suddenly up to a wharf about twenty-five feet from where the Pocomoke is tied up on a tip that fifty or sixty cases of Scotch were piled up there.

They landed there were twenty-four hours too late. The liquor had been there, in plain sight from the deck of the Pocomoke, for several hours on Wednesday night just before daybreak.

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

Stop Rum Running, Say 2 U. S. Agencies

Continued from Page One

goes from ships at sea to a shore rendezvous, in the opinion of officials here.

Mr. McLean, following a conference with customs officials, announced he had ordered an investigation to ascertain why customs agents are not seizing "rum runners."

They have all the authority they need," he said, "if they can stop smuggling, and are not doing it, they are neglecting their duty."

No official reports of any character concerning the rum smugglers at Atlantic City have reached here.

The late evening hours raiding cafes and roadhouses, but letting the big and little sellers of rum in Atlantic City severely alone.

The agents badly scared for a short time, however, and for about an hour the resort came nearer to being "dry" than it has been for months.

Special Prosecutor Gaskill, who is leading the clean-up campaign, darted about the edges of the big town during the late evening hours, raiding cafes and roadhouses.

Mr. Gaskill said that the "lid was on tight" in Atlantic City. He also stated that he had a force of "honest men" working for him.

Shortly after midnight customs officials rode suddenly up to a wharf about twenty-five feet from where the Pocomoke is tied up on a tip that fifty or sixty cases of Scotch were piled up there.

They landed there were twenty-four hours too late. The liquor had been there, in plain sight from the deck of the Pocomoke, for several hours on Wednesday night just before daybreak.

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

Stop Rum Running, Say 2 U. S. Agencies

Continued from Page One

goes from ships at sea to a shore rendezvous, in the opinion of officials here.

Mr. McLean, following a conference with customs officials, announced he had ordered an investigation to ascertain why customs agents are not seizing "rum runners."

They have all the authority they need," he said, "if they can stop smuggling, and are not doing it, they are neglecting their duty."

No official reports of any character concerning the rum smugglers at Atlantic City have reached here.

The late evening hours raiding cafes and roadhouses, but letting the big and little sellers of rum in Atlantic City severely alone.

The agents badly scared for a short time, however, and for about an hour the resort came nearer to being "dry" than it has been for months.

Special Prosecutor Gaskill, who is leading the clean-up campaign, darted about the edges of the big town during the late evening hours, raiding cafes and roadhouses.

Mr. Gaskill said that the "lid was on tight" in Atlantic City. He also stated that he had a force of "honest men" working for him.

Shortly after midnight customs officials rode suddenly up to a wharf about twenty-five feet from where the Pocomoke is tied up on a tip that fifty or sixty cases of Scotch were piled up there.

They landed there were twenty-four hours too late. The liquor had been there, in plain sight from the deck of the Pocomoke, for several hours on Wednesday night just before daybreak.

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to get this sign down from my mast. You see I am far more interested in getting away from here in my boat than I am in trying to do the will of other people.

"So I don't know a sextant, but Nassau in the Bahamas, I don't know along the coast as much as I do. I don't know where there wouldn't be many casualties reported at sea."

"I may not know a whole lot about American shipping laws, but if there's one thing I do know, that's how to run a vessel."

Mr. Gaskill also stated that Jacob Schick claimed to be a special deputy sheriff of Atlantic County.

Following the raid on the Elephant, which, like the Extra Dry Cafe, is one of Atlantic City's landmarks, it was stated that the proprietorship of this place is invested in a man said to be connected with the Government in the Federal enforcement service.

While the raiding party was furnishing Atlantic City's anti-dryism was alling at her meetings at Gardner's Basin. Captain Roy had a good laugh when informed that the authorities were rounding up the booze parties.

"Maybe they will forget my ship now that they have begun to do some real work," said Captain Roy. "Tell me something, did they get any Scotch in the places they raided?"

He was asked if he could name a few places where Scotch could be bought.

"I could name a few all right," he said, "but I won't."

They're only making me do things people don't have to do. I'm going to