

WITH FATHERLESS BOYS. Secretary of Labor Davis does a short sprint with a few of the boys at the Moose Home in Mooseheart, Ill., of which the Cabinet member is director general.

MIND THE HEAT—NO, INDEED. This bear, one of the many under the watchful care of C. Emerson Brown, at the Philadelphia Zoo, has nothing else to do these days but eat and keep cool.

ON LAND OR SEA. This new wrinkle of transportation is being used in the waters of the Rhine. When it gets in water, the small paddle wheels attached to the road wheels are put into action.

COLONISTS GO WEST. Twenty-five Brooklyn families rolled away in automobiles as a modern edition of the wagon trains of 1849. They will settle on 5000 acres of Idaho land. Mr. and Mrs. William D. Scott and daughter Muriel were in the party.

RESCUE WORK. Three city firemen removing debris as they make sure that no one is buried in the collapse of two houses at Sixtieth and Thompson streets, West Philadelphia. One man was rescued.

VEESPER BOAT CLUB OARSMEN who will take part in the senior four-oared shell event in Canada today. Left to right: Paul Costello, Samuel Moorehead, Jack Regan and Jack Kelly.

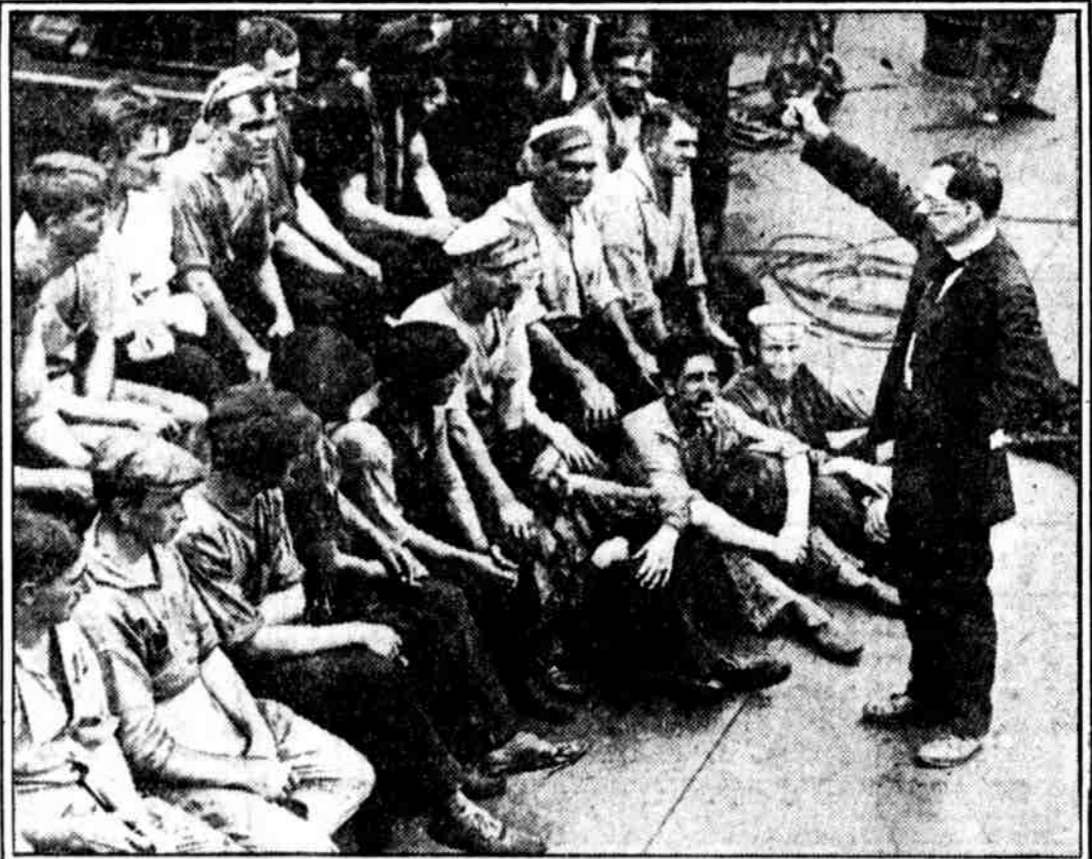

MRS. MYRTLE P. SPURGIN and Miss Vivian Spurgin, wife and daughter of the missing Chicago bank head.

BETWEEN THE SHOWERS. These youthful whippers were forced to hide their clothes, so they would be dry when the rain ceased, as they had a good time in a lake of Fairmount Park.

MISS M. GRACE GODFREY talks on summer diet in an Editorial Page interview.

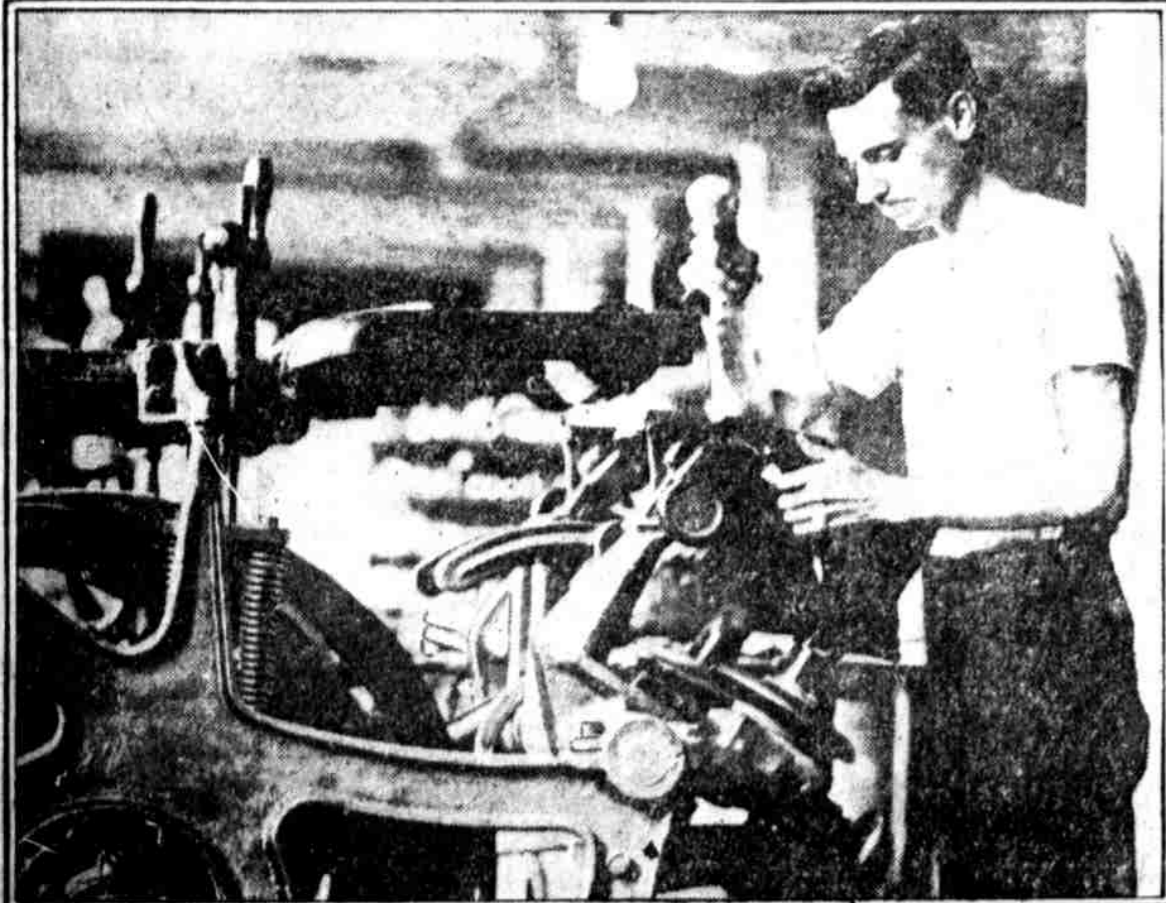

GERMAN SHIP IN PORT. The S. S. Deutschfeld, from Hamburg, a few days ago brought a general cargo into the port of Philadelphia, it being one of the few German ships that have come to Philadelphia since the war. At the right is Franz Rottke, second officer of the ship, who served as submarine commander during the war.

HIS HONOR THE MAYOR. Mayor Goto, of Tokio, known in his country as the "Roosevelt" of Japan.

HELPING. Thompson Cuning, of the Bethany Temple Vacation Bible School, gathers provisions for Philadelphia relief ship.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

JOSEPH WARREN, 1140 Somerset street, operating a leveling machine in the shoe factory of the Gibbons Co., 1015 Diamond street. The machine levels heels and soles. More than 700 pairs are handled by this machine a day.

AT HORSE SHOW. Miss Priscilla Mitchell (left) watching the events at the Long Branch Horse Show. Miss Peggy Polnap was one of the program riders.

MAIL!

JOHN B. COYLE, 2231 West Huntingdon street, has served sixteen years. His work is in the Stock Exchange Building.

AT YESTERDAY'S MEETING. At the left is Harry C. Davis, executive secretary of Republican City Committee. He is chatting with William McCoach, downtown member of committee.