Nancy Wynne Tells of an Accident to Miss Augusta Harrison-She Hears of Doings in Cape May. Atlantic City and Newport

DID you hear that Augusta Harrison was thrown from her horse one day last week and was pretty well shaken up by the fall? She dislocated and sprained her left arm painfully and she has to carry it in a sling, and she has fiven up all idea of going West with her father and Ellen and Mary Spottsher father and Ellen and Mary Spottswood. They will leave in a few days for the Struthers Burt ranch in Wyomonths there. Augusta and her mother will spend most of the time at their place. Chuckswood, near Devon, paying occasional visits to friends. Augusta going down to Cape May a little later to stay with Lysbeth Boyd, and in the fall I understand she and Ellen will go to Europe, spending the year abroad. Ellen will not come out till next year.

THE tea at the Golf Club in Cape May Saturday was a big affair. A great many people were these and it was very gay. Mrs. Bob Large went over, looking extremely smart in a black frock and a big hat, and Theodora Lillie. was there wearing a white skirt and waist and a tan sweater and tan felt was there wearing a white skirt and waist and a tan sweater and tan felt hat which was trimmed with a dark offil. The Lewis Lillies have a cottage at Cape May and Theo is of course with them. Jean Wiley, their other daughter, who lives in Washington, is staying with them for a while and it seems like old times to see Jean and Theodora together. They were inseparable before Jean's marriage.

Mr. John Bell and bis son Bert were down for the week-end and went over to the club for tea, and the Jack Masons were there. They were staying with the Heck Wetherfills. Ethel Huhn Bailey, who was another guest of the Wetherfills, was at the club. Others were the Harry Worths, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, the Hutchie Scotis, Mrs. John Large and Tim Edwards and his wife.

constance Taimadge just the right. Soft of vehicle for the display of her talents as a light comedienne. The direction of Chet Withey made the actress even more charming and appealing in her role than any that she has heretofore essayed. The story is by Douglas Murray and was known on the stage as "The Man From Toronto."

The plot, which was scenarioized by Henry Grant Carpenter, tells of the attempts of two old men to choose a husband for their ward. When one of them fails in his attempt to bring his nephew to meet the girl, he plars "dead," leaving a will providing that his nephew shall inherit the fortune if he weds the girl. The report of his uncle's death brings the young chap East as a last courtesy, but he is determined he will wed only the girl of his own choice. The situation is distasteful to the girl. However, as in all good stories, the young couple promptly fall in love and all ends well.

One of the several added attractions showed Clyde Cook in a comedy called "The Sailor."

Capitol—"The Mystery Road" was made in England and France and shows how American players, mixed with the foreign ones, can turn out a production. It deals with a young Englishman whose follies bring him along the mystery road of life to the inevitable hour when one must come to a realization that folly does not pay. There is a beautiful love theme and the romance and drama of the production are highly impressive.

David Powell is the featured player, and there are other capable actors in the various roles which constitute the production.

Palace—"The Whistle" is not the name of a beverage, but is the new William S. Hart picture which May Wilmoth and Olin Lyman wrote and which Lambert Hillyer directed. First Wilmoth and Olin Lyman wrote and which Lambert Hillyer directed. First of all, movie fans, this is different from the usual run of Hart subjects, for it is not of the Western type of story. The story is dramatic throughout and the various situations are at times quite thrilling. The central theme is the differences between capital and labor, although there is a delicious romance interwoven.

"Shivers," a one-act comedy by Billy Grady, a continuous delight.

Along a somewhat different line, but just as entertaining to devotees of modern music, was Henry Santrey and his syncopated Society Band, which started with jazz, ended with jazz, and filled up the middle parts of its allotted time with the same variety. None of the newest popular song hits was forgotten.
