Penna. Women in Undignified Position Through Action of C. O. P. Committees, She Says

ASSERTS STATE IS LAGGING

Women of the State have been placed in a very undignified position, political action in the Republican city positions on the Republican city and State committees, Mrs. Archibald and State committee, Mrs. Archibald and State committee, Mrs. Archibald and State committee...

All that would have been necessary for our candidates to try for office would have been to take out nomination papers, get the workers out pulling doorbells and get the votes. Pennsylvania, Mrs. Harmon says, is still dragging behind in giving political recognition to women...

MISTAKE IN DEATH REPORT

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rockland, Essington, Learn Son Is Alive Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rockland, of Sande avenue, Essington, who were mourning the death of a son reported killed several days ago in New York, learned yesterday the report had been in error.

HELD AS GARAGE BANDIT

John Guyon Accused of Roosevelt Boulevard Hold-Up. John Guyon, thirty-two years old, of Baltimore, one of two men accused of a hold-up at the Boulevard Garage, 4610 Roosevelt boulevard, on July 24, was held without bail this morning by Magistrate Price at the Twenty-second street and Hunting Park avenue police station.

It is alleged that Guyon and Joseph Spahn, seventeen years old, held up Thomas Bridgefort, a Negro night man, with revolvers, opened the cash register and escaped with $18 and a revolver. They drove in a car with three girls. Later the same car crashed into a tree at Jamison's Corners, Harboro, demolishing the machine and breaking Spahn's leg. He is now in the Abington Hospital. The police say the car was stolen. Guyon is being held until Spahn recovers from his injuries.

THUGS TRY TO DRUG COUPLE IN SPRUCE ST. APARTMENT

Burglars Club Clerk With Gas Pipe After Screams of Woodbury Woman, Intended Victim, Put Them to Flight

Two burglars attempted to chloroform and rob Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Clark, of Woodbury, N. J., in the apartment of George N. Fleming, on the 14th floor of the Newport Apartments, Sixteenth and Spruce streets, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Clark was awakened when one of the men grabbed her foot while groping at her bedside in the darkness. Her screams awoke her husband and spread alarm through the upper floors of the apartment house.

The remark that I wouldn't know what to do with a burglar ever came into the house, but I screamed as loud as I could. The man was all dressed in white and he was crouching at the side of my bed. He was a great big fellow—six feet, I know. I can't be sure whether he was a white man or not because it all took place so quickly. The fact that the man was dressed in white and very tall, and that the other man who was seen to run from the building with him, was short, makes me think they might have been two men who were posing as painters. I was on my way out of the apartment when I saw them, and when I returned there were footprints in the hallway all the way back to our bedroom. The hallway had been freshly oiled.

had again got up, and dashed into the hall. He opened the door just as I intended to take to bunk—in the room, when he got out into the hall he turned out the light. I had jewelry—my watch and diamond rings and a sum of money which I intended to take to bank—in the room, but nothing was touched. It is my belief that the men would have gone to any extreme. The one in my room seemed so bold and desperate. Miss Mary Fleming, who, with her brother, George N. Fleming, occupies the apartment, also told of her experience, and that of her sister, Mrs. Clark, and her brother-in-law, in the room. "My room is at the front of the suite," she said, "and the room occupied by my sister and brother-in-law was the next one along the inside hallway. I got out of bed and started toward this room. I had reached the hallway leading from my room when I heard a piercing scream and recognized my sister's voice."

"Then a man rushed from the guest room, pushed me against the wall and darted into the main hallway. At the same time he turned off the electric lights in the main hall. My brother-in-law hurried into the hall after him while I rushed to the telephone and gave the alarm to the clerk at the desk on the first floor. My sister was unharmed, although her nerves were unstrung. Apparently, one of the burglars was trying to clap the chloroform-saturated rag over her face when his hand came in contact with her foot. When details of police from the Twelfth and Pine streets and Fifteenth and Locust streets station arrived at the apartments no trace of the burglars was found. Moore, the night clerk, regained consciousness in a few minutes, but was unable to give a good description of the burglars. The police believe the two men entered the apartment house Tuesday afternoon and hid on the fire-escape until occupants had gone to bed. Miss Fleming admitted to the police that there was a large amount of money in the apartment at the time of the attempted burglary. Small Fire in Roofing Shop. There was a small fire at 10 o'clock this morning in the roofing shop of Henry Hill, 3802 Market street. Reserve Patrolman Johnson saw flames blazing in a desk in the place and turned in an alarm. The fire was put out in a few minutes with small loss.

RESINOL Soothing and Healing For Skin and Scalp Troubles

Many children innocently cheated out of the very food they need daily

Everyone knows that health is the most valuable asset of life. From birth to maturity is the "construction period." A robust and healthy child will usually develop into a vigorous man or woman. But malnutrition will invariably hamper normal growth and when the child reaches maturity he or she is anemic, poorly nourished and liable to disease. Many children today are innocently cheated out of the very foods they need. Some parents, either through lack of knowledge, or carelessness, do not provide those foods which strengthen and nourish the growing child. It is the duty of parents to think for the child in these matters. Grape-Nuts, the well-known food made of whole wheat flour and malted barley, served with milk or cream, is one of the most nutritious foods in the world. It provides the elements necessary to nutrition and is a balanced food. Quite aside from its superior nutritive value, is its delicious appetite appeal. Especially attractive with fresh fruits or preserves. Grape-Nuts is served and sold everywhere—in leading hotels and restaurants; at lunch counters; in every good grocery store in every city, town or village in the United States. Where you can't find Grape-Nuts—you won't find people.
