Mrs. Lydig was once described as "America's most picturesque woman." She has always expressed an individual note in dress and style, usually, as at opera, gowned severely but exquisitely plain in black and wearing few jewels, pearls being her favorite. A pronounced brunette, she gives the idea of a Spanish-American. She was formerly Miss Rita Hernandez y de Alba de Acosta, and is the daughter of Mrs. Ricardo de Acosta and the late Mr. de Acosta.

This summer she took Dr. Grant's place at Katonah, and it was there that her son, who resides in Chicago, recently visited her. She has long been a communicant at the Church of the Ascension and actively identified with the various relief and charitable projects of the parish.
