Battle Against Recognition of 'Ash Cart' Combine Starts in Earnest

Penrose Too Busy to See Moore During Morning

Senator Penrose is providing today at a meeting of the Senate Finance Committee, which is expected to continue until well into the afternoon.

Mayor Moore is in Washington today to see Senator Penrose and force a political crisis such as existed two years ago when the Vares organization was beaten to its knees at the polls.

The issue of contractor government or government free from the domination of the "ash cart," has again been raised by the Mayor, who showed his fighting spirit by highly significant police shifts yesterday.

The Mayor announced that if Senator Penrose will stand for a "fifty-fifty" deal, with the Vares leaders given recognition, then the Mayor "will go it alone." He followed this up by quickly denouncing for Washington his flight.

Penrose Silent on "Harmony"

So far, Senator Penrose has been silent, so far as the public knows, regarding his attitude to the harmony pact between Vares leaders and Penrose lieutenants here.

The Vares-controlled City Committee has let it be known that if the Vares men fight this fall then they will set up a candidate for District Attorney, probably Judge Rogers, to oppose District Attorney Roman, endorsed for reelection by Penrose.

The Mayor's latest move is to force a "show down," drive a wedge between the Penrose and Vares elements in the combine and then prepare for battle with the aid of the independent forces of the city.

The Mayor's statement yesterday, at once a challenge and a defiance, attracted politicians here who began calculating beyond the results of the primary and the general election this year. The far-sighted are looking ahead to the State elections next year when a Governor will be chosen. A hotly fought battle this year may manufacture several gubernatorial boons and cause a new alignment.

Start of Trip Kept Secret

The Mayor's office here this morning had to reckon that he was out of the city. Mayor Penrose, it is reported, left for Washington, D. C., today. He is expected to be in the city by tomorrow. A dark automobile, the Mayor's bodyguard, was in the car.

After his departure, the Mayor's arrangements had been made by long-distance telephone for the conference. Muller, the club's manager, who had orders to go directly to the City Hall this morning, waited with Artman for the Mayor's arrival. He was expected early in the day. The Mayor's departure was kept secret. It was shortly after noon that the Mayor's office learned that he had left for Washington.

The Mayor's trip resulted in the transfer of Assistant District Attorney Nappel and the placing of Captain Ellis, who was in command of the force-runner of other starting events.

As showing the temper of the Mayor, he was quoted by one of his friends as remarking: "The knife will sink deeper before we are through."

Wanted: Wife With $10,000; Step Close but Don't Crowd!

Chester Produce Merchant Asks Evening Public Ledger to Find Her

What Mr. Zoslaw Asks in His "Ideal Bride"

She must have $10,000. Must be "fairly good-looking." Must be not more than 5 feet 7 inches in height.

What He Has to Offer

Is twenty-three years old and "rather fair-looking." Weight, 135 pounds. A high school graduate. Can swim, dance and drive a car. Does not smoke or gamble. Was in love once. Understands women.

Edward Zoslaw wants a wife!

Today he asked the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER to find his ideal girl. Edward, who is twenty-three years old, lives in this city and has a prosperous produce business in Chester.

Just any kind of a wife will not do, for Mr. Zoslaw realizes the seriousness of the matrimonial step, and his future helpmate must fulfill certain careful physical specifications and have $10,000.

He has already had one love affair, but insists that the girl in that is expunged from his heart forever and that he can offer the girl he hopes to meet a whole future. He is despondent the matter today, he said:

"I am very serious about this and I hope that you will not treat my request even though it is unusual, in a flippant way. I have decided on attempting to get a wife in this manner after long-mature thought.

I have had one love affair and when it was shattered I was rather badly broken up. It took me a year to recover from the blow. But that girl is out of my heart forever, and no girl who responds to this invitation need worry that she will not have my full affection.

"Although I am a very good dancer and was at one time a great lover of social affairs, since my break with my first love I have not had much heart for running around. So I have not met many girls recently and feel that through the medium of your paper I can get acquainted with just the sort of girl I want.

"I want to expand my business, and I will take more money than I have to do it. That is why I insist that the girl I marry have $10,000. I feel that I can persuade the girl to love me, I think that if she is the right one it was shattered I was rather badly broken up. It took me a year to recover from the blow. But that girl is out of my heart forever, and no girl who responds to this invitation need worry that she will not have my full affection.

GIRL READY TO AID SLAYER OF FIANCE IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Emma Hollowell, Jenkintown, Pities Norman Penrose, Who Killed Brother

PRISONER BEGS FOR CHANCE TO ATTEND THE FUNERAL

Miss Emma Hollowell, of Jenkintown, will do her best to save the life of Norman Penrose, the slayer of his brother Ralph, the girl's sweetheart.

"Norman has to fight for his life now," Miss Hollowell said today at her home. "God knows that as well as I know his brother, I'll stand up and fight for Norman."

Miss Hollowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hollowell, is a slim girl of medium height, pretty, with unusually large blue eyes fringed with long black lashes. Her hair is curly and a golden brown. Her eyes were red with weeping, and she was wau with the strain of recent hours.

The slaying of Norman Penrose, who was thirty years old, by his brother, who is twenty-six, in their boarding house yesterday at Ogontz, Philadelphia, was the subject of a long and bitter fight for the girl's life.

She was engaged to the elder brother. "Nothing had been announced," she said, sobbing. It is rumored in Jenkintown that she and Ralph had been engaged and the engagement broken off.

Sabs as She Reveals Crime

She spoke of her friendship for the two brothers, especially her friendship for Ralph. "Our friendship was different," she said of the dead brother, "you see, I had known Ralph ever since we were children. We always knew each other; we grew up together. I don't know how it happened."

"I can't understand it," she broke down and sobbed quietly. She added "I don't want to see anything happen to Norman. I don't want to see another life taken."

"The boys were together close to each other. They were very near each other in everything they did. It wasn't until they were different. It was more nearly the devotion of an older brother, almost fatherly, for a younger."

Called Brother Extravagant

"Ralph was so sensible. He told me that he had a great deal to do with his younger brother, who was his extravagance. Norman used to ridicule Ralph because he was so extravagant. He had a great deal to do with Norman just about mere money. It was because he didn't want Norman to throw his money away. He wanted him to be sensible. I believe that Norman was generous and extravagant."

Miss Elizabeth Conard, who asked for Norman today in jail. He who she had broken down and sobbed quietly. She added "I don't want to see anything happen to Norman. I don't want to see another life taken."

British Rum Ship Protest to Be Mere Formality

London, Aug. 9.—(By A. P.)—Great Britain, it is understood, intends to protest to the United States if it is decided that America violated the international law by setting the liquor-laden schooner Henry L. Marshall outside the three-mile limit off Atlantic City last week.

Such a protest, it is said, would be merely a formality, as Great Britain is not interested in the case except as it might establish a precedent for such seizures.

Should no protest be made, it would place Great Britain in the position of sanctioning such action, which might give rise to difficulties should a British ship be seized by some other country in international waters.

MEXICAN GENERAL SLAIN IN AUTO BY FIVE GUNMEN

Assassination Follows Quarrel With High Official

Mexico City, Aug. 9.—(By A. P.)—General Jose Alvarado Robles, brother of the editor of the newspaper El Democrito, was shot and killed last evening as he drove in his automobile through one of the main streets in the residence section of this city.

Five armed men took part in the attack, after which General Treviso Trevino, director of the federal Communication Review Service Records, placed himself at the disposition of the police, and is said to have been held upon his own recognizance.

The cause of the attack is declared to have been a statement by General Robles published yesterday morning, criticizing General Trevino, who has been bitterly assailed by the newspaper El Universal for several days.

The quarrel between Trevino and Palavicini has been one of the most interesting incidents in this city for many months. The editor published the entire series of communications between himself and the general, including the latter's threat to instigate an attack on the editor for alleged unjust charges.

Palavicini responded with the declaration that he carried a gun and would shoot on sight General Trevino or any of his friends who dared say anything more. The newspaper's supporters supported Palavicini on the ground that he was standing for the freedom of the press and that the newspaper's attitude preceded last night's tragedy.
