Marion Rushes to Congratulate Dr. Harding, Who, at Seventy-Six, Took His Stenographer as Bride

By the Associated Press

Marion O., Aug. 12.—Marion today was congratulating Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Harding, on his marriage yesterday at Monroe, Mich., to Miss Alice Severns, his stenographer and office attendant for the last eight years.

Refused License Once

Arriving at the station here last night, Dr. Harding and his bride were hurried to catch a trolley car, when they were met by two local newspapermen who offered congratulations and transportation in an automobile. They accepted both.

He said that Miss Severns and he left Marion together Wednesday morning and went to Detroit. "We were refused a license in Windsor, Canada, because we were not residents," Dr. Harding said.

P. R. R. TO CONFER WITH ALL ITS MEN

Company Will Get Views on Policy Toward Labor Board

MAY MEET IN PITTSBURGH

Representatives of the 175,000 Pennsylvania Railroad employees will confer with executives of the road to determine the policy of the corporation in its fight with the United States Labor Board.

Although the company has been dealing with employees in groups directly for the last few years in matters of policy which vitally concerned them, this is the first time executives have gone to the men to settle policy which affects all employees.

In a brief statement, announcing the history-making decision for the conference, officials of the road gave no intimation of how far they intended to go in dealing with employees.

It is understood that some definite course of procedure has already been mapped out and will be laid before the conference. Although no statement was made by the railroad whether or not there would be a vote, it is not likely such a meeting would be called merely to make announcements.

He Stuck to It

WILLIAM WATT Eleven-year-old boy who refused to be discouraged and won his free bicycle in the Public Ledger contest after six weeks' effort

PERSISTENCY WINS FREE BIKE FOR 11-YEAR-OLD

William Watt, eleven years old, of 5325 Webster street, is hard to discourage. He read about other boys and girls who won bicycle contests in less than a week, and decided to try to win one himself.

A week passed, a week of hard work for Bill, but he hadn't made much of a dent in the book of subscription blanks for the Evening, Morning and Sunday Public Ledger. He worked another week, and kept reading about others who had started after he did and had won their bicycles. Bill kept at it for six weeks while he got the thirty-five subscriptions, and today he was given his bicycle.

NEW EVIDENCE IN KENNEDY MURDER

Doctor Who Treated Burch Tells of Dislocation of Shoulder

ARRAIGNMENT NEXT STEP

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 12.—Arrestment of Madlynne Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch in the next event scheduled in the investigation of the slaying of J. Helton Kennedy, broker, for whose murder the two were indicted last night.

Meantime a wide search continues for the missing shotgun with which the broker was killed. A reward of $250 has been offered by a local newspaper.

Two new bits have been added to the evidence which has been made public. A doctor who gave Burch a physical examination when he was placed in jail under suspicion of murder declared late yesterday before the Grand Jury that at the time Burch's shoulder appeared to be slightly dislocated. Such a dislocation, he implied, might have resulted from the recoil of a shotgun.

It was also said that a thorn had been removed from the left knee of Burch since his incarceration. The glen in which the death of Kennedy occurred is said to be extremely brushy.

Officers of a private detective agency, working with newspapermen, declared they had discovered a new witness in person of a janitress in the building in which Kennedy had his office.

Three nights prior to the slaying, the janitress said, Kennedy left his office in response to a handkerchief wave from a woman in a hotel room across the street. This, she said, was the room which she later learned was Burch's. She said her curiosity was aroused and from the street she could see, besides a woman in the room, a man sitting on the bed, who she said resembled Burch.

Mr. Tempert announced that Lee's old headquarters for the vice squad, which served under Lee, will be transferred to the office of Mayor Moore, where they were sworn in as lieutenants.

40 YEARS' SEARCH LOCATES HEIRESS

Philadelphia Hears From Daughter He Has Not Seen Since Her Babyhood

SHARES IN $200,000 ESTATE

A forty-year search for a daughter ended last night when Horace W. Allison, 2016 Diamond street, received a telegram from East Birmingham, Ala., in which the woman sought said she was sending a letter containing fuller information.

For more than thirty years a share in a fortune now estimated at more than $200,000, has been waiting for Deville Caroline Allison. Her father has searched through the Middle-Western and Southern States and not until a few days ago did he get even one clue to her whereabouts.

Grandfather's Heir

When the grandfather, Walter Allison, a contractor and builder with a place of business in this city, died in 1888 he left a fifth share of his estate to his granddaughter, Horace Allison then started a search for his daughter, but was unable to find her.

Kept Up Hunt Forty Years

"I cannot tell the agonies I have gone through in my search for my little girl. For forty years I have looked all over the country and at last came to the conclusion that she was dead. I cannot realize that she is married and has five children. God has been good to me, and will let me see my little girl once more before I die. I had given up all hope."

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Robert H. Jones, formerly Deville Caroline Allison, of this city, admitted today her good fortune in receiving a share of her grandfather's estate.
