TITLED AMERICAN AT SHORE

American Marquise Puts O.K. on Foreign Spouses

Former Suzanne Henning Back in U. S. With Daughter for Vacation Believes International Marriages Are Generally Happy

A slim, dark-eyed young woman, holding a little girl by the hand, walked up to the desk of the Shelburne Hotel at Atlantic City to get her key. Then, ignoring the elevator, the two laughed and raced each other lightly up the stairs.

"There," said one guest quietly nudging another, "did you see her? That's the one I mean. They say she's the Marquise de Charette."

But that was an exception. Few of the guests in the hotel know that the pretty but plainly dressed little mother seen so often with the eager-faced child is the one-time Suzanne Henning, Kentucky and New York belle, whose marriage into the bluest blood of France twelve years ago filled columns of newspaper space and was the talk of two continents.

Early this summer the Marquise, whose full name is Antoinette de Charette, the Marquise and little six-year-old Suzanne came unannounced for a visit to America a week or so ago. The Marquise returned to France, it was last Monday that the rest of the distinguished little party slipped quietly

REPORT DE VALERA SEEKING AMNESTY

Lloyd George and Cabinet Discuss Irish Note—Prompt Reply Expected

6000 REPUBLICANS HELD

By the Associated Press
London, Aug. 12.—The presence at today's Cabinet meeting of General MacReddy, military commander of Ireland, and General H. M. Tudor, commander of the auxiliary police in Ireland, as well as the presence of the Government's chief negotiator, Eamon de Valera, suggests that Lloyd George raised the question of the release of at least some of the Sinn Fein prisoners.

However, just what the Irish Republican leader asked remains a secret.

The question of the release of prisoners has become a subject of discussion since Mr. de Valera's message was a rejection of the Government's terms was frankly discredited in official circles today, and the impression was given that the Government was not prepared to meet the Premier's desire to reply to Mr. de Valera before the meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament next Tuesday.

Premier Lloyd George went to the country this afternoon, and no further meeting with his colleagues, so far as Ireland is concerned, is contemplated. Mr. de Valera's message was due largely to the Premier's desire to reply to Mr. de Valera before the meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament next Tuesday.

Sensational reports, however, appeared under hold headlines in some of this morning's newspapers that these rumors were printed in newspapers which yesterday reflected the belief that Mr. de Valera's letter was favorable, and indicated his readiness to proceed to the negotiations looking to a settlement.

Giving details, these disquieting reports stated that Mr. de Valera had demanded amnesty for all Irish prisoners, including those interned, numbering about 6000, as a condition precedent to further negotiations. It was also stated he had asked monetary aid for the warlike Irish, which was estimated as amounting to some millions of pounds sterling.

Dublin, Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—Optimism pervades Sinn Fein circles today regarding the Irish peace prospects. It was re-emphasized that Premier Lloyd George's reply to the last letter of Eamon de Valera is not expected to mean a break.

A large crowd is expected to return to Dublin tonight from Munster, where he went to consult local leaders and some Irish prisoners on the possibility of their release. The Sinn Fein leaders, however, that the question of general amnesty was not regarded as an important phase of the negotiations at this stage.

WOMAN'S RESCUED FROM BLAZING BED

Lighted Cigarette Blamed for Nearly Fatal Blaze at 1600 Wallace Street

MAN AND WIFE HEROES

Prompt and heroic action on the part of Harry Beyers and his wife, Katherine, resulted in the rescue of a woman trapped in her blazing apartment, 1600 Wallace street, early today.

She is Mrs. E. I. Le Favre, forty-five years old, owner of a millinery shop at the same address. She is under the care of a physician for burns of the head, breast and arms, and from inhaling smoke.

Shortly after 2 o'clock, Beyers, who occupies the rear apartment, awoke, the smell of smoke. With his wife he saw smoke coming from under the door of Mrs. Le Favre's front apartment. They tried the door, but found it locked, and their cries received no response.

Mr. Beyers then turned in an alarm of fire, but instead of waiting for the arrival of the engines he got a ladder in the rear yard, put it up to Mrs. Le Favre's window and finally got in by breaking through the screen.

Mrs. Le Favre crawled up at the foot of the bed unconscious and the mattress under her ablaze. She had evidently tried to get to the door or window, but was unable to do so.

Mrs. Beyers had also crawled up the ladder and in the window to help her husband and the two carried the woman over to safety for the moment. Work already in progress will go on, however, and there will not be a shutdown.

BABY WASN'T "LOST"

Mother Returned to Solve Mystery for Crowd
A crowd of more than 500 persons and several reserve policemen who crowded around the corner of Eighth and Market streets to see a "deserted baby," had the laugh turned on them yesterday afternoon, when the young mother, who had been shopping, returned with her infant.

The young woman, who was about twenty-four years old, had taken her twenty-week-old baby shopping. Among the things she had bought was a basket. Her shopping finished, she left the child in the basket on the steps of a department store, while she retrieved a checked umbrella.

The young woman found the infant cooing in the basket and immediately informed the police that a baby had been deserted.

A large crowd gathered and the reserve policemen were just spurring their noses through the crowd when the young woman returned and took the child away.

NEW CASTLE PLANT SWEEPED BY FLAMES

$150,000 Fire Destroys Warehouses of American Steel Co. in Delaware Town

ONE FIREMAN INJURED

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
New Castle, Del., Aug. 13.—Patterns for castings valued at $150,000 were destroyed last night when the storage buildings of the American Manganese Steel Company here were burned.

The fire was discovered at 11:20 o'clock. It is believed it may have been caused by spontaneous combustion or by a spark from a passing locomotive, as the pattern storage house is near the railroad tracks and a train passed about the time the fire was discovered.

A fire, which began half an hour earlier, in the Quigley Garage at New Castle, had called out the town's fire-fighting apparatus. The Goodwill Fire Company of New Castle was fighting the garage fire and only one piece of apparatus could be spared for the fire in the Manganese Company's plant.

The combination engine was sent to the new fire, and a call for aid sent to Wilmington.

The Liberty Fire Company of Wilmington, sent two engines, and they worked to subdue the blaze until 4 o'clock this morning.

During the height of the fire, which swept through two big buildings, the roof and part of one of the walls fell. The firemen had warning only a moment before the heavy beams came toppling down, and dashed back to safety.

One of the firemen was caught, however, and badly hurt. He was James J. Ryan, of the New Castle Company.

Ryan was rescued by his comrades and taken to the Wilmington Homeopathic Hospital. His back was hurt and he was injured internally.

The fire will cripple the Manganese Company plant, because many valuable patterns were destroyed. It will take many months to duplicate them. Work already in progress will go on, however, and there will not be a shutdown.

WOULD LIBERATE BUSINESS

After reviewing benefits which it is claimed will flow from the repeal of the transportation taxes and substitution of manufacturers' taxes for the so-called "luxury" levies, the statement concludes:

"The whole tax reform program contemplates freeing business from what has been for years a crushing and exacting restrictions, encouraging to the utmost the resumption of enterprise and business, removing every possible incentive to evasion, fraud, and distributing the tax burden with the greatest possible equity among all classes of people, keeping in mind the purpose to impose the larger share on those best able to pay."

Having virtually completed revision of the levy sections of the 1918 law yesterday, majority members of the House Ways and Means Committee expected to finish work on the tax bill today so as to have a committee draft ready for consideration by the conference of House Republicans called for Monday.

Further Changes Made
Republicans of the Ways and Means Committee made further changes in the Revenue Bill yesterday, completing their program of revision, they announced. They expect to have the proposed changes in the form of an amendment to the present Revenue Law to present to the House tomorrow afternoon.

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican leader, called a conference of majority members for Monday afternoon in order to consider the revenue draft before it was introduced. Following the conference, according to the plan, the bill will be formally introduced.

Changes made yesterday are estimated to result in a total reduction in the tax burdens of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, committee members said. They place the estimated total of the proposed Revenue Law at approximately $2,000,000,000. The changes agreed to are as follows:

Increased the exemption in the normal income tax for married men from $2000 to $2500 for those whose incomes do not exceed $5000. The increase in the exemption in the normal income tax for married men will result in a revenue loss of $30,000,000, according to the estimate of the committee. In agreeing to this increase in the exemption for children and other dependents in the normal income tax from $200 to $400 for each dependent the committee placed the resulting loss at $20,000,000, making the total reduction in the normal income tax $50,000,000.

Reduction in the tax on candy paid by the manufacturer from 5 to 3 per cent.

Reduction in the tax on furs from 10 to 5 per cent.

Further Cut on Luxuries
Repeal of the so-called luxury taxes and substitution of a 3 per cent tax on the manufacturer, the normal tax not having been agreed to. That includes elimination of the tax on rugs, carpets, bags, umbrellas, etc.

Reduction of the tax on art from 10 to 5 per cent.

MAN JUMPS OUT WINDOW AFTER TRYING DEATH BY GAS

Double Suicide Attempt of Seydel Raser May Be Successful
Seydel Raser, sixty-two years old, retired hardware salesman, 843 North Twentieth street, made two attempts at suicide early this morning, according to the police. He was not successful, although he is now in a serious condition at the Lankenau Hospital.

Raser has a room on the third floor of the rooming house operated by Mrs. Albert Adams. Some time around 3 o'clock he tried to inhale gas, according to the police.

Apparently the operation was too slow for him. At any rate, he leaped from his window, three stories, to the brick courtyard below. The noise of his fall attracted the attention of Mrs. Adams, who phoned the police. Despite the long fall no bones were broken but the shock will probably be fatal.

There was no note left, but he has been very ill for a long time and his police believe this prompted the deed. He has six brothers living, two who reside in Reading. His wife died some time ago.

SUSPECT WORK OF ARSON IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Half-Filled Bottle of Gasoline Found After Blaze at 131 N. 15th St.
A fire, which the police believe was of incendiary origin, this slight damage to the second floor of 131 North Fifteenth street, early this morning.

The chief of an all-night restaurant on the first floor discovered the blaze and turned in an alarm. The fire was in the office of Dr. Charles Figley, and the firemen extinguished it with little difficulty.

A bottle partially filled with gasoline was found, and two pans, which had been full of gasoline, were on the floor. Paper had been placed over the glass in the door in such a way that the reflection of the flames could not be seen until the fire had gained headway. The front curtains were tightly drawn.

The police are convinced it was the work of an incendiary, giving as a theory that it was probably done by some one with a grudge against Dr. Figley, who they believe of a suspicious nature. The building is owned by John Young, 1419 Spruce street.

DOPE SHEET ON THE RACES FOUND ON THIEF SUSPECT

Paper in Employee's Pocket Leads to Confession of Betting on Horses
Possession of a "dope sheet" on the races at Saratoga led to the arrest of Joseph Kappes, thirty-seven years old, of Volges street above Girard avenue, who was held today in $1000 bail for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Carson on the charge of larceny.

Kappes was employed at a perfume distributing establishment, 1233 Arch street. The manager, W. J. Garlinger, notified a falling off in receipts. He took Kappes to Detective Bureau yesterday afternoon, where he tried to explain the shortages to Detective Isaacs.

In explaining the business methods of the firm, Kappes took several papers from his pocket. The detective noticed a race chart among the papers. He crossed-questioned Kappes and accused him of gambling on the races. Then Kappes confessed he took $175 of his employer's money and bet it on the races, but he declared he had returned the money.

Shortages in the receipts of the employer total $1800. It is alleged Kappes shipped merchandise, gave receipts for payments, but failed to enter them in the books. He is married and has three children.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BURN N. 15TH STREET BUILDING

Oil-Soaked Cotton and Evidence of Gasoline Found
Strips of oil-soaked cotton and shavings believed to have contained gasoline revealed an attempt to fire the building at 131 North Fifteenth street early today, police say.

The incendiary fire blistered the door leading to the office of Dr. J. E. Figley, a dentist, on the second floor of the three-story building. A glass partition in the door was cracked by the heat.

Flames also had seared the office door of the Patternmakers' Association, adjoining the dental office. The fire was discovered by the chief of an all-night restaurant located on the roof of the building, who summoned firemen.

District Detective Haggerty, of the Fifteenth and Vine streets station, later questioned John Watt, business manager of the Patternmakers' Association, who was at a loss to account for the incendiary attempt. Dr. Figley also was puzzled. The building is owned by John Young, 1419 Spruce street.
