

HUGHES WILL HEAD BOY SCOUTS HOLD DISARMING PARLEY ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Secretary Named by President to Lead U. S. Delegation in Conference

HARDING IN BACKGROUND "EATS" PROVE ATTRACTIVE

Washington, Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—An expectation that President Harding will himself act as a delegate to the Disarming Conference was overturned yesterday by a White House announcement that he had definitely designated Secretary Hughes, of the State Department, to head the American delegation.

It was said that other members were yet to be chosen, although the President is known to have a narrow list of those he considers available and may reach the point of other definite selections in the very near future. He is understood to have decided that at least one of the places shall go to a United States Senator, and the choice of a woman as a member of the delegation still is within the range of possibility.

The exact role to be played by the President never has been officially defined, but the general expectation is that after delivering the opening address of the conference on November 11, he will remain in the background of the negotiations, leaving direct contact with the foreign Commissioners to his accredited representatives, but at the same time keeping in close touch with them and with all the proceedings of the conference.

KATO HEADS JAPAN'S NAVAL DELEGATION

Tokio, Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—Vice Admiral Kanji Kato, director of the naval staff college, has been informally selected by the Japanese Navy to head the Japanese naval delegation to the conference on disarmament and Far Eastern questions to be held in Washington this autumn, says the newspaper Nichi Nichi. He is to be accompanied, it is said, by Captains K. Yamashiro, Y. Yevada, Nagao and six other officers.

The League of Nations Association of Japan has adopted resolutions supporting the principles actuating President Harding in calling the conference. "The practical effect of the reduction of armaments," resolutions stated, "will be extremely difficult as long as a great power like the United States remains outside of the League of Nations. The American proposal looking to an international conference is, therefore, particularly gratifying, and is undoubtedly a step forward in the right direction."

The Japanese League of Nations Association hopes various associations established in various countries to object to the League of Nations will use every means at their disposal to achieve a reduction of armaments. "This association earnestly desires the establishment of a complete understanding as possible among the powers concerned regarding the problems of the Pacific and the East which may come up for deliberation at Washington together with the question of armaments. In its opinion, the utmost care should be taken in the selection of questions to be discussed, so that no matter already disposed of by international compacts should be subjected to consideration at the conference."

Marquise Defends Foreign Interests

the exploitation of the occasional match that turns out disastrously that makes persons wonder about its success. "The world is growing more and more cosmopolitan," she added, "I think that makes a great difference." The Marquise is descended from King Charles X, and his family, socially occupies one of the highest positions in France. Her mother was Miss Annette Polk, of Tennessee, a niece of President Polk. In marrying an American girl he followed in the footsteps of his father, General Baron de Charette.

No wedding in New York ever caused more excitement. In the foreground was the romantic fact that the beautiful Suzanne Henning was marrying the man of her choice in spite of parental objections that had been raised at first. The two met at Dinard, in France, and it was love at first sight. In the background were gifts from the royalty of France and Portugal that were literally a king's ransom. The Queen of Portugal sent a rare old jewel and other royal gifts were as generous.

The marriage took place in St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the church was crowded with notables of New York and Parisian society. Archbishop Farley performed the ceremony and the Pope sent his blessing. "We divide our time between Brittany and Paris," the Marquise said, "but during the war it was Paris most of the time because of the career work I was engaged in. When the American forces came over I was transferred to that branch because it was thought my knowledge of French would be helpful. "Yes, I have been home since the war ended," she continued; "a year ago last October I made a trip, but this is little Suzanne's first trip to America. In fact I made it special that she might meet all her American relatives—we have so many of them. Mother is with us here and we are all enjoying the shore a great deal. Suzanne goes in bathing each morning, and I—well, I go fishing."

In her simple attractive attire the Marquise wore a dress of light green and health. She wore a white silk skirt, pink chamoise blouse and blue sport coat. A sport hat of rose white straw framed her dark hair prettily. Little Suzanne was dressed in blue lined, and is a very busy bit of nobility these days flitting about like a small fairy on the beach, and she just loves the Boardwalk.

The Marquise describes social life in France as gradually reviving. "The French, you know," she said, "have a bright and bold sort of people. They cannot remain unhappy long." While in America the Marquise has renewed her friendship with the Marquise de Maintenon, a French painter, and she has had her portrait done. The Marquise de Charette by birth and rearing is a Kentuckian, but the Hennings were equally well known in New York and continental society. Mother, daughter and little Suzanne will remain at the shore until the first of September.

HINT SECOND COAST MURDER
Another Body Believed Buried Near That of Dead Priest
San Francisco, Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—Belief that another body is buried in the immediate vicinity of where the remains of Father Patrick E. Healin, murdered last Wednesday night, was announced today by Constable S. A. Landini, of Colma, on his return from Salinas Beach on the Pacific Ocean South of here.
Constable Landini said that late last night he and others dug in the sand near the priest's grave, but were forced to abandon the search because of a coming fog. He said the search would be continued today.
The police said today that they had discovered new evidence connecting Hightower with the murder. It consists, they announced, of tent pegs, a pair of rubber shoes and other articles tied up in the sand around the grave of Father Healin. The tent accessories, according to the police, fit a small tent recently removed by them from the grounds of Hightower.

Souza at Willow Grove
Lieutenant Commander John Phillip Souza has received so many decorations from all parts of the world that it would require several coats of the size he wears to carry all of them. He will be given a special number, which will be written before he leaves Willow Grove Park, where his musicians are now playing.

Lewis S. Stone, who plays the leading male role in the original Gertrude Althoff photoplay, "Don't Neglect Your Wife," which will be shown at the Stanley Theatre next week, has had a varied picture career. Her invariable reply was that, as between her children and the stage, it was the former she loved best.

SOVIET CUTS LIST OF FREE SERVICES

To Charge for Postal, Rail, Wire and Trolley Privileges, Riga Learns

SWING TOWARD THE RIGHT

By the Associated Press
Riga, Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—Formal decision to revoke free postal, railway, telegraph and tramway service in Soviet Russia, together with the abandonment of the free grant of tools and household goods to workmen, and the possibility of a gradual change to the monetary system instead of the exchange of goods are announced in dispatches received here yesterday from the Rosta News Agency the official Soviet news disseminator at Moscow.

These important steps toward putting into effect Lenin's new policy, which are taken as indication that his plan is moving still further in the direction of the industrial and capitalist systems of the rest of the world than was at first believed, are announced in decrees to the people's commissars, signed by Lenin.

Detailed instructions drafted by the Council of Commissars, after a consultation with the various trade organizations, show that only the big industries will remain under national management, the others being left to the co-operatives and individuals, wages to be regulated by the trade unions.

The decision to charge for the postal, tramway and other services was made, says the Rosta Agency, "to restore the value of the currency."
By another decree the Government organizations are instructed to secure payment for everything furnished workmen, except for food rations and medicine given those having cars. This is interpreted as an increase in the installment of the free ration list through strict limitation of cards to actual workmen, who will be subjected to collective rationing, factors of which elements to receive a food supply based on their output, irrespective of the number of employees.

A message to the Riga Rundschau from Moscow states that the taxes in Russia will be payable in money.
Surplus First Time in Years Shows Business is Gaining
Reading, Pa., Aug. 13.—(By A. P.)—Reports received here today show that the Reading Coal and Iron Company is storing great quantities of coal at Abrams and at Landingville. Much of it is steam size, but the lessening demand for domestic fuel has caused the company to store surplus coal. It has been several years since the company last stored marketable coal.

In general, reports from the Reading division show that there has been a steady increase in volume of business. More crews are being taken on at intervals.
MAURA AGAIN PREMIER
Replaces Allendesalazar as Head of Spanish Government
Madrid, Aug. 13.—Former Premier Antonio Maura today assumed the premiership of the new Spanish Cabinet, which replaces that of Premier Allendesalazar, who resigned on Thursday.
Premier Maura appointed Don Manuel Gonzalez Hontela, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Senor in Clero, Minister of War. The other members of the new Cabinet have not been selected.
