U. S. AGENTS RAID U. S. EVICTS 278 CAMDEN SALOON HARRIMAN TENANTS

Still Seeking Thomaston's Rum Contends It Cannot Operate Cargo, Officials Search Place of Charles Klump

Government agents early today raided the saloon of Charles Klump, 11 South Third street, Camden, believing a hundred cases of smuggled liquor from the seized Thomaston had been found there.

Special Agent Brozos led the raiding party, accompanied by the city police. After the seizure was tabulated he said the liquor would be turned over to the New Jersey authorities in order that Klump may be prosecuted by them.

IN Trouble Before

This is not the first time Klump has been in trouble with the authorities, the raiding agents said. When District Attorney Volverson and his assistants were notified that Klump's saloon was one of the places entered.

Several prominent Camden residents are to be questioned regarding the seizure of liquor carried on by the Thomaston, and at least one well-known Philadelphia man is arrested as the head of a big liquor-smuggling ring.

The Mayor duffed his sweater and glanced through his mail for a short time before the "war board" assembled to lay before them the results of their trip to Washington yesterday, when they saw Senator Penrose.

At the conference were Purchasing Agent Arthur G. Scudder, State Director of Public Works Bureau, David T. Hart, leader of the Twenty-third ward; Frank L. Kenworthy, leader of the Twenty-first ward; Andrew Froschel, leader of the Forty-second ward; Joseph C. Trainer, leader of the Twenty-sixth ward; Harry J. Trainer, leader of the Third ward; Franklin Spencer Edwards, leader of the Twenty-seventh ward; and Councilman Patton.

Judge Brown today announced his allegiance to Senator Penrose, who in turn has promised aid to Mayor Moore in a fight on the Vere fifty-fifty ticket.

Judge Brown's statement is considered the signal for ward leaders heretofore forming the combine to rally to the colors of those opposing the Vere. In political circles it looks as if the Vere will have to go it alone unless they succeed in holding Thomas W. Cunningham in line.

Cunningham today gave the impression of a man straddling a picket fence, but still unwilling to drop down to solid ground.

"Not a word," he replied when asked about Brown's action. Asked whether he would remain with Brown and Penrose, he repeated the phrase. When pressed further he said: "As tight as a clam."

Administration friends are about equally divided in their forecasts of Mr. Cunningham's future actions. Some feel he will unite "for keeps" with the Vere, while others think this is a lay day for him to brook with Senator Penrose.

Senator Vere, in the course of a statement, declared in effect that Judge Brown's position is untenable.

SUE TO BAR GARAGE

Legan Residents Complain of Erection of Building on Myrtle Street

A suit to enjoin Rudolph Beitenmuller from operating a public garage at Myrtle street and Wagner avenue, Legan, was heard today by Judge Shoemaker in Common Pleas Court No. 7.

The complainants were Mrs. M. and Mrs. Albert C. Warner, 5317 North Twelfth street; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Popkin, 5312 North Myrtle street; Mrs. John Seemiller and Ellen Lacey.

It was alleged a public garage there would violate the terms of the deeds for land in that immediate section which, it was added, is a residential district.

ON TRIAL FOR BOY'S MURDER

One of Supposed Kidnappers of Giuseppe Varotta Arraigned

New York, Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—The first trial for the murder of five-year-old Giuseppe Varotta, who was kidnapped in the Hudson River ten days later, began today with Roberto Raffaele, of Union Hill, N. J., as defendant. With six others, two of whom have not been named, Raffaele was indicted on a charge of murder.

NEW VOTERS TURN VOTE CLASS INTO QUIZ OF MALES

Men Leaders Who Start to 'Instruct' Women Soon Are Under 'Heckling' Fire

"WHY?" IS SOMETHING ALL WANT TO BE ANSWERED

Harry Kuenzel, County Commissioner and battle-scarred Republican, met his political Waterloo at 11:45 o'clock this morning at the headquarters of the City Committee, Eleventh and Chestnut streets.

Everything was going splendidly at the convention of the Women's Republican Club of Pennsylvania, championed by powder, tooth paste and other things persuasive to the feminine heart had been distributed. The room was crowded with smartly dressed women.

Mr. Kuenzel himself was telling his audience about marking ballots, about going to the polls without not being afraid to tell their ages, about working hard to get the City Solicitor back to being reasonably to the common people.

When, suddenly—"Miss Gill 'Wants to Know'—" "I like to know that party framed the charter that made the City Solicitor responsible to the Mayor and not to Council or the people?" queried Miss E. A. Gill, of the Tenth Ward, but at that moment of the fourth row of carefully shined-up chairs.

For one brief second silence reigned in the Republican sanctuary. "I was once told I knew too much," came back the answer from Mr. Kuenzel.

"But some party must have been at the back of the change," returned the client, cold call from the fourth row.

"Well," returned Mr. Kuenzel, "the Legislature was all Republican, naturally—a hem—"

"Well, if the Republican party made the change," came the rapid-fire rejoinder, "what are they dissatisfied about now?"

There was another second of silence. Then a bright light dawned on the face of the pillars of the Philadelphia, Radnor Hunt and Raquet Clubs. Until a year ago he was connected with the banking firm of Cassatt & Co. His marriage to Miss Frances P. Drexel Bell, younger daughter of Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, was one of the events of the 1909 social season.

"Mr. Devereux has ridden in virtually every hunt meet in this section in school vacation, and I considered one of the best hunters in the country."

"That man rode for the Mayor, I take it," said Mrs. Anna Donaldson, a school visitor of the Thirty-third district.

"Split, lady?" queried Mr. Kuenzel. "You are Republicans."

"That man rode for the Mayor, I take it," said Mrs. Anna Donaldson, a school visitor of the Thirty-third district.

"Oh, I only wanted to know," came back Mrs. Donaldson. "That's what I came here for. I want to know who's my boss."

Then Mr. Kuenzel almost lost his temper. "You are a Republican," he said, in tones of no small decision. "Remember you are too young to walk before you creep. A young man of twenty-one can't expect to know as much as a man who has been in the game a long time."

When Mr. Kuenzel almost lost his temper, the convention of the club began only too successfully enough. Stagnant and blue marks brought varied gaudy and brightly lighted dresses.

As the women chatted lightly of many things, Mrs. John Mitchell, who is chairman of the convention, made her way among the chairs and distributed little vanity cases of face powder an enterprising manufacturer had sent in for the occasion. The next subject was washing powder and then came the soap flakes georgette crepe waists are washed with.

That was before things had started. One hour later the room so long sacred to Republican war lords and invaded for the first time by the convention of women of the Philadelphia suburbs, had all the noise and clamor of an outdoor give-and-take convention.

DE VALERA AGAIN DEMANDS INDEPENDENCE FOR IRELAND; BRITAIN ENDS ARMY LEAVES

BRITISH SOLDIERS ON LEAVE ORDERED BACK TO IRELAND

London, Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—All soldiers on leave from Ireland in Aldershot and Farnborough have been ordered by telegraph to return to their regiments immediately.

Belfast, Aug. 16.—(By A. P.)—It is reported here that military authorities in Ireland have cancelled all leaves of absence for both officers and men, and that all officers and men who are away on holidays have been recalled.

It is stated this step was taken merely as a precaution against surprise, and has not other significance.

Immediately on promulgation of the truce in Ireland large groups of soldiers were granted leaves of absence in England.

A Belfast dispatch of Monday quoted the Irish News, the Nationalist organ, as claiming to have unquestionable authority for stating that the British Government's preparations for a renewal of the conflict in Ireland, consequent on the possible abrogation of the truce which has existed since July 11, had been speeded up within the last three days to such an extent that they were virtually completed.

RABBI ACCUSES NATION'S TAX BILL THEN DEFENDS MAN

Rabbi Ben Zion Hoffman, after appearing against Archibald McBride, a brewer of Chemical No. 3, before the Finance Advisory Committee today defended the man and prevented his dismissal.

Evidence in the case indicated that July 28 the brewer hosted the rabbi on a Fifth street car, escorted him to a garage reflecting on both the rabbi and his race and finally arrested him and had him locked up. He also arrested a bystander who protested. The rabbi filed charges against McBride after he had been exonerated by a magistrate.

Following the hearing this morning Commissioner Woodruff told McBride the charges were sufficient to warrant his dismissal on a charge of conduct unbecoming a brewer. At this point Abraham Leventhal, counsel for Rabbi Hoffman, said the rabbi had learned that McBride had a family and that he wanted "reconciliation, not persecution."

Finally the commissioners reduced the sentence to a fine of thirty days. McBride refused to accept the fine and his rabbi, apologized, and the two shook hands warmly.

Various excuses were made by sleepy patrolmen at the hearing this morning. Despite the fact that three men under charges were original enough to claim that he had been lulled to sleep by a tumbler-shower, all were fined.

John Studley, five years old, 2948 Rutledge street, died in the Episcopal Hospital early this morning from a heart ailment after a fall from the roof of a truck on which he was stealing a ride.

Townsend Bell, colored, driver of the Frank Marks Construction Company, Twenty-first and Cambria streets, told police this morning he did not know that the child who had been killed by the truck and he was halted by the cry of a pedestrian who had picked the child up at Ormes and Cambria streets.

The boy was taken to the hospital with a fractured skull. Bell will have a hearing this morning in the Bergrade and Clearfield streets police station.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO

Mrs. Thomas J. McConville Victim of Accident at Mt. Pocono

Mrs. Thomas J. McConville, 1719 Johnson street, was killed yesterday afternoon at the foot of Mount Pocono.

The occupants of the limousine were unharmed. McConville and her son were transferred to the Scranton Hospital, where it was found she had been instantly killed. Her son is suffering from a fracture of the skull.

According to witnesses of the accident, the McConville car approached a road intersection at a high rate of speed in an effort to reach it ahead of the limousine. The cars came together with a crash which brought the guests running out of the hotel. The body will be brought to this city today.

SAVOR HELD FOR MURDER IN FRANCE

Douglas Thurber, third mate of the U. S. S. B. Caspel, was held in $8000 bail for court today by U. S. Commissioner Masley for the murder of Thomas Hogan, a member of the crew, aboard the vessel was in the harbor of Bordeaux, France. Thurber admitted that he had fought with him.

WIFE'S PLEA FAILS TO SAVE TIRE THIEF

Louis Ritchie was sentenced to from two years and nine months to three years by Judge Davis today after his conviction of attempted larceny of an automobile tire, in spite of the pleas of his wife and children and a request for mercy made by Miss Irene L. Howarth, of Lansdowne, from whose car the tire was stolen. Judge Davis said Ritchie's plea secured no two but for him to extend mercy.
